Scene 11

From the Director of the Folger Shakespeare Library

It is hard to imagine a world without Shakespeare. Since their composition four hundred years ago, Shakespeare's plays and poems have traveled the globe, inviting those who see and read his works to make them their own.

Readers of the New Folger Editions are part of this ongoing process of "taking up Shakespeare," finding our own thoughts and feelings in language that strikes us as old or unusual and, for that very reason, new. We still struggle to keep up with a writer who could think a mile a minute, whose words paint pictures that shift like clouds. These expertly edited texts are presented to the public as a resource for study, artistic adaptation, and enjoyment. By making the classic texts of the New Folger Editions available in electronic form as Folger Digital Texts, we place a trusted resource in the hands of anyone who wants them.

The New Folger Editions of Shakespeare's plays, which are the basis for the texts realized here in digital form, are special because of their origin. The Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, DC, is the single greatest documentary source of Shakespeare's works. An unparalleled collection of early modern books, manuscripts, and artwork connected to Shakespeare, the Folger's holdings have been consulted extensively in the preparation of these texts. The Editions also reflect the expertise gained through the regular performance of Shakespeare's works in the Folger's Elizabethan Theater.

I want to express my deep thanks to editors Barbara Mowat and Paul Werstine for creating these indispensable editions of Shakespeare's works, which incorporate the best of textual scholarship with a richness of commentary that is both inspired and engaging. Readers who want to know more about Shakespeare and his plays can follow the paths these distinguished scholars have tread by visiting the Folger either in-person or online, where a range of physical and digital resources exist to supplement the material in these texts. I commend to you these words, and hope that they inspire.

Textual Introduction

By Barbara Mowat and Paul Werstine

Until now, with the release of the Folger Digital Texts, readers in search of a free online text of Shakespeare's plays had to be content primarily with using the Moby™ Text, which reproduces a late-nineteenth century version of the plays. What is the difference? Many ordinary readers assume that there is a single text for the plays: what Shakespeare wrote. But Shakespeare's plays were not published the way modern novels or plays are published today: as a single, authoritative text. In some cases, the plays have come down to us in multiple published versions, represented by various Quartos (Qq) and by the great collection put together by his colleagues in 1623, called the First Folio (F). There are, for example, three very different versions of Hamlet, two of King Lear, Henry V, Romeo and Juliet, and others. Editors choose which version to use as their base text, and then amend that text with words, lines or speech prefixes from the other versions that, in their judgment, make for a better or more accurate text.

Other editorial decisions involve choices about whether an unfamiliar word could be understood in light of other writings of the period or whether it should be changed; decisions about words that made it into Shakespeare's text by accident through four hundred years of printings and misprinting; and even decisions based on cultural preference and taste. When the Moby™ Text was created, for example, it was deemed "improper" and "indecent" for Miranda to chastise Caliban for having attempted to rape her. (See The Tempest, 1.2: "Abhorred slave,/Which any print of goodness wilt not take,/Being capable of all ill! I pitied thee..."). All Shakespeare editors at the time took the speech away from her and gave it to her father, Prospero.

The editors of the Moby™ Shakespeare produced their text long before scholars fully understood the proper grounds on which to make the thousands of decisions that Shakespeare editors face. The Folger Library Shakespeare Editions, on which the Folger Digital Texts depend, make this editorial process as nearly transparent as is possible, in contrast to older texts, like the Moby™, which hide editorial interventions. The reader of the Folger Shakespeare knows where the text has been altered because editorial interventions are signaled by square brackets (for example, from Othello: "[If she in chains of magic were not bound,]"), half-square brackets (for example, from Henry V: "With [blood] and sword and fire to win your right,”), or angle brackets (for example, from Hamlet: “O farewell, honest <soldier.> Who hath relieved/you?”). At any point in the text, you can hover your cursor over a bracket for more information.

Because the Folger Digital Texts are edited in accord with twenty-first century knowledge about Shakespeare’s texts, the Folger here provides them to readers, scholars, teachers, actors, directors, and students, free of charge, confident of their quality as texts of the plays and pleased to be able to make this contribution to the study and enjoyment of Shakespeare.

Synopsis

Set during the Trojan War, Troilus and Cressida recounts the love affair of its title characters. Inside the besieged city of Troy, the Trojan prince Troilus is lovesick for Cressida. Cressida is drawn to Troilus, too, and her uncle, Pandarus, brings them together.

In the Greek camp outside, Cressida's father, Calchas, asks that Cressida be brought to him in return for the help he has given the Greeks. The morning after the lovers' night together, Cressida is exchanged for a Trojan prisoner and taken to the camp by the Greek warrior Diomedes.

The great Trojan warrior Hector, Troilus's brother, engages in single combat with the Greek Ajax, a fight that ends inconclusively. Hector and Troilus join the Greeks for a feast. Cressida, meanwhile, is seduced by Diomedes.

Distraught at Cressida's betrayal, Troilus fights Diomedes and others. Patroclus, favorite of the Greek warrior Achilles, dies in battle. Achilles fights with and loses to Hector, who is then, on Achilles's orders, dishonorably slain. Grieving, Troilus and the other Trojans return to Troy.

⟨PROLOGUE

FTLN 0001	In Troy there lies the scene. From isles of Greece
FTLN 0002	The princes orgulous, their high blood chafed,
FTLN 0003	Have to the port of Athens sent their ships
FTLN 0004	Fraught with the ministers and instruments
FTLN 0005	Of cruel war. Sixty and nine, that wore	5
FTLN 0006	Their crownets regal, from th' Athenian bay
FTLN 0007	Put forth toward Phrygia, and their vow is made
FTLN 0008	To ransack Troy, within whose strong immures
FTLN 0009	The ravished Helen, Menelaus' queen,
FTLN 0010	With wanton Paris sleeps; and that's the quarrel.	10
FTLN 0011	To Tenedos they come,
FTLN 0012	And the deep-drawing 'barks' do there disgorge
FTLN 0013	Their warlike fraughtage. Now on Dardan plains
FTLN 0014	The fresh and yet unbruised Greeks do pitch
FTLN 0015	Their brave pavilions. Priam's six-gated city—	15
FTLN 0016	Dardan and Timbria, Helias, Chetas, Troien,
FTLN 0017	And Antenorides—with massy staples
FTLN 0018	And corresponsive and fulfilling bolts,
FTLN 0019	'Spar' up the sons of Troy.
FTLN 0020	Now expectation, tickling skittish spirits	20
FTLN 0021	On one and other side, Trojan and Greek,
FTLN 0022	Sets all on hazard. And hither am I come,
FTLN 0023	A prologue armed, but not in confidence
FTLN 0024	Of author's pen or actor's voice, but suited
FTLN 0025	In like conditions as our argument,	25
FTLN 0026	To tell you, fair beholders, that our play
FTLN 0027	Leaps o'er the vaunt and firstlings of those broils,
FTLN 0028	Beginning in the middle, starting thence away
FTLN 0029	To what may be digested in a play.
FTLN 0030	Like, or find fault; do as your pleasures are.	30
FTLN 0031	Now, good or bad, 'tis but the chance of war.⟩

Prologue exits.

⟨Scene 1⟩

Enter Pandarus and Troilus.

TROILUS

FTLN 0032 Call here my varlet; I'll unarm again.
FTLN 0033 Why should I war without the walls of Troy
FTLN 0034 That find such cruel battle here within?
FTLN 0035 Each Trojan that is master of his heart,
FTLN 0036 Let him to field; Troilus, alas, hath none.

FTLN 0037 PANDARUS Will this gear ne'er be mended?

TROILUS

FTLN 0038 The Greeks are strong and skilful to their strength,
FTLN 0039 Fierce to their skill, and to their fierceness valiant;
FTLN 0040 But I am weaker than a woman's tear,
FTLN 0041 Tamer than sleep, fonder than ignorance,
FTLN 0042 Less valiant than the virgin in the night,
FTLN 0043 And skillless as unpracticed infancy.

FTLN 0044 PANDARUS Well, I have told you enough of this. For my FTLN 0045 part, I'll not meddle nor make no farther. He that will FTLN 0046 have a cake out of the wheat must tarry the grinding.

FTLN 0047 TROILUS Have I not tarried?

FTLN 0048 PANDARUS Ay, the grinding; but you must tarry the FTLN 0049 bolting.

FTLN 0050 TROILUS Have I not tarried?

FTLN 0051 PANDARUS Ay, the bolting; but you must tarry the FTLN 0052 leavening.

FTLN 0053 TROILUS Still have I tarried.

FTLN 0054 PANDARUS Ay, to the leavening; but here's yet in the word

FTLN 0055 hereafter the kneading, the making of the cake, the

FTLN 0056 heating the oven, and the baking. Nay, you must stay 25

FTLN 0057 the cooling too, or you may chance burn your lips.

TROILUS

FTLN 0058 Patience herself, what goddess e'er she be,

FTLN 0059 Doth lesser blench at suff'rance than I do.

FTLN 0060 At Priam's royal table do I sit

FTLN 0061 And when fair Cressid comes into my thoughts— 30

FTLN 0062 So, traitor! "When she comes"? When is she

FTLN 0063 thence?

FTLN 0064 PANDARUS Well, she looked yesternight fairer than ever

FTLN 0065 I saw her look, or any woman else.

TROILUS

FTLN 0066 I was about to tell thee: when my heart, 35

FTLN 0067 As wedged with a sigh, would rive in twain,

FTLN 0068 Lest Hector or my father should perceive me,

FTLN 0069 I have, as when the sun doth light a-scorn,

FTLN 0070 Buried this sigh in wrinkle of a smile;

FTLN 0071 But sorrow that is couched in seeming gladness 40

FTLN 0072 Is like that mirth fate turns to sudden sadness.

FTLN 0073 PANDARUS An her hair were not somewhat darker than

FTLN 0074 Helen's—well, go to—there were no more comparison

FTLN 0075 between the women. But, for my part, she is

FTLN 0076 my kinswoman; I would not, as they term it, praise 45

FTLN 0077 her, but I would somebody had heard her talk yesterday,

FTLN 0078 as I did. I will not dispraise your sister Cassandra's

FTLN 0079 wit, but—

TROILUS

FTLN 0080 O, Pandarus! I tell thee, Pandarus:

FTLN 0081 When I do tell thee there my hopes lie drowned, 50

FTLN 0082 Reply not in how many fathoms deep

FTLN 0083 They lie indrenched. I tell thee I am mad

FTLN 0084 In Cressid's love. Thou answer'st she is fair;

FTLN 0085 Pourest in the open ulcer of my heart

FTLN 0086	Her eyes, her hair, her cheek, her gait, her voice;	55
FTLN 0087	Handiest in thy discourse—O—that her hand,
FTLN 0088	In whose comparison all whites are ink
FTLN 0089	Writing their own reproach, to whose soft seizure
FTLN 0090	The cygnet's down is harsh, and spirit of sense
FTLN 0091	Hard as the palm of plowman. This thou tell'st me,	60
FTLN 0092	As true thou tell'st me, when I say I love her.
FTLN 0093	But, saying thus, instead of oil and balm
FTLN 0094	Thou lay'st in every gash that love hath given me
FTLN 0095	The knife that made it.
FTLN 0096	PANDARUS I speak no more than truth.	65
FTLN 0097	TROILUS Thou dost not speak so much.
FTLN 0098	PANDARUS Faith, I'll not meddle in it. Let her be as she
FTLN 0099	is. If she be fair, 'tis the better for her; an she be
FTLN 0100	not, she has the mends in her own hands.
FTLN 0101	TROILUS Good Pandarus—how now, Pandarus?	70
FTLN 0102	PANDARUS I have had my labor for my travail, ill thought
FTLN 0103	on of her, and ill thought ⟨on⟩ of you; gone between
FTLN 0104	and between, but small thanks for my labor.
FTLN 0105	TROILUS What, art thou angry, Pandarus? What, with
FTLN 0106	me?	75
FTLN 0107	PANDARUS Because she's kin to me, therefore she's not
FTLN 0108	so fair as Helen; an she were ⟨not⟩ kin to me, she
FTLN 0109	would be as fair o' Friday as Helen is on Sunday.
FTLN 0110	But what ⟨care⟩ I? I care not an she were a blackamoor;
FTLN 0111	'tis all one to me.	80
FTLN 0112	TROILUS Say I she is not fair?
FTLN 0113	PANDARUS I do not care whether you do or no. She's a
FTLN 0114	fool to stay behind her father. Let her to the Greeks,
FTLN 0115	and so I'll tell her the next time I see her. For my
FTLN 0116	part, I'll meddle nor make no more i' th' matter.	85
FTLN 0117	TROILUS Pandarus—
FTLN 0118	PANDARUS Not I.
FTLN 0119	TROILUS Sweet Pandarus—
FTLN 0120	PANDARUS Pray you speak no more to me. I will leave
FTLN 0121	all as I found it, and there an end. He exits.	90

Sound alarum.

TROILUS

FTLN 0122 Peace, you ungracious clamors! Peace, rude sounds!
 FTLN 0123 Fools on both sides! Helen must needs be fair
 FTLN 0124 When with your blood you daily paint her thus.
 FTLN 0125 I cannot fight upon this argument;
 FTLN 0126 It is too starved a subject for my sword. 95
 FTLN 0127 But Pandarus—O gods, how do you plague me!
 FTLN 0128 I cannot come to Cressid but by Pandar,
 FTLN 0129 And he's as tetchy to be wooed to woo
 FTLN 0130 As she is stubborn-chaste against all suit.
 FTLN 0131 Tell me, Apollo, for thy Daphnes love, 100
 FTLN 0132 What Cressid is, what Pandar, and what we.
 FTLN 0133 Her bed is India; there she lies, a pearl.
 FTLN 0134 Between our Ilium and where she resides,
 FTLN 0135 Let it be called the wild and wand'ring flood,
 FTLN 0136 Ourself the merchant, and this sailing Pandar 105
 FTLN 0137 Our doubtful hope, our convoy, and our bark.

Alarum. Enter Aeneas.

AENEAS

FTLN 0138 How now, Prince Troilus? Wherefore not afield?

TROILUS

FTLN 0139 Because not there. This woman's answer sorts,
 FTLN 0140 For womanish it is to be from thence.
 FTLN 0141 What news, Aeneas, from the field today? 110

AENEAS

FTLN 0142 That Paris is returnèd home, and hurt.

TROILUS

FTLN 0143 By whom, Aeneas?

FTLN 0144 AENEAS Troilus, by Menelaus.

TROILUS

FTLN 0145 Let Paris bleed. 'Tis but a scar to scorn;
 FTLN 0146 Paris is gored with Menelaus' horn. 115

Alarum.

AENEAS

FTLN 0147 Hark what good sport is out of town today!

TROILUS

FTLN 0148 Better at home, if “would I might” were “may.”

FTLN 0149 But to the sport abroad. Are you bound thither?

AENEAS

FTLN 0150 In all swift haste.

FTLN 0151 TROILUS Come, go we then together. 120

They exit.

「Scene 2」

Enter Cressida and her man 「Alexander.」

CRESSIDA

FTLN 0152 Who were those went by?

FTLN 0153 ALEXANDER Queen Hecuba and Helen.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 0154 And whither go they?

FTLN 0155 ALEXANDER Up to the eastern tower,

FTLN 0156 Whose height commands as subject all the vale, 5

FTLN 0157 To see the battle. Hector, whose patience

FTLN 0158 Is as a virtue fixed, today was moved.

FTLN 0159 He chid Andromache and struck his armorer;

FTLN 0160 And, like as there were husbandry in war,

FTLN 0161 Before the sun rose he was harnessed light, 10

FTLN 0162 And to the field goes he, where every flower

FTLN 0163 Did as a prophet weep what it foresaw

FTLN 0164 In Hector's wrath.

FTLN 0165 CRESSIDA What was his cause of anger?

ALEXANDER

FTLN 0166 The noise goes, this: there is among the Greeks 15

FTLN 0167 A lord of Trojan blood, nephew to Hector.

FTLN 0168 They call him Ajax.

FTLN 0169 CRESSIDA Good; and what of him?

ALEXANDER

FTLN 0170	They say he is a very man per se
FTLN 0171	And stands alone.	20
FTLN 0172	CRESSIDA So do all men unless ⟨they⟩ are drunk, sick,
FTLN 0173	or have no legs.
FTLN 0174	ALEXANDER This man, lady, hath robbed many beasts
FTLN 0175	of their particular additions. He is as valiant as the
FTLN 0176	lion, churlish as the bear, slow as the elephant, a	25
FTLN 0177	man into whom nature hath so crowded humors
FTLN 0178	that his valor is crushed into folly, his folly sauced
FTLN 0179	with discretion. There is no man hath a virtue that
FTLN 0180	he hath not a glimpse of, nor any man an attaint
FTLN 0181	but he carries some stain of it. He is melancholy	30
FTLN 0182	without cause and merry against the hair. He hath
FTLN 0183	the joints of everything, but everything so out of
FTLN 0184	joint that he is a gouty Briareus, many hands and
FTLN 0185	no use, or purblind Argus, all eyes and no sight.
FTLN 0186	CRESSIDA But how should this man that makes me	35
FTLN 0187	smile make Hector angry?
FTLN 0188	ALEXANDER They say he yesterday coped Hector in the
FTLN 0189	battle and struck him down, the disdain and
FTLN 0190	shame whereof hath ever since kept Hector fasting
FTLN 0191	and waking.	40

⟨Enter Pandarus.⟩

FTLN 0192	CRESSIDA Who comes here?
FTLN 0193	ALEXANDER Madam, your Uncle Pandarus.
FTLN 0194	CRESSIDA Hector's a gallant man.
FTLN 0195	ALEXANDER As may be in the world, lady.
FTLN 0196	PANDARUS What's that? What's that?	45
FTLN 0197	CRESSIDA Good morrow, Uncle Pandarus.
FTLN 0198	PANDARUS Good morrow, Cousin Cressid. What do you
FTLN 0199	talk of?— Good morrow, Alexander.—How do you,
FTLN 0200	cousin? When were you at Ilium?
FTLN 0201	CRESSIDA This morning, uncle.	50

FTLN 0202 PANDARUS What were you talking of when I came?
 FTLN 0203 Was Hector armed and gone ere you came to FTLN 0204 Ilium? Helen was not up, was she?
 FTLN 0205 CRESSIDA Hector was gone, but Helen was not up.
 FTLN 0206 PANDARUS E'en so. Hector was stirring early. 55
 FTLN 0207 CRESSIDA That were we talking of, and of his anger.
 FTLN 0208 PANDARUS Was he angry?
 FTLN 0209 CRESSIDA So he says here.
 FTLN 0210 PANDARUS True, he was so. I know the cause too. He'll FTLN 0211 lay about him today, I can tell them that; and 60
 FTLN 0212 there's Troilus will not come far behind him. Let FTLN 0213 them take heed of Troilus, I can tell them that too.
 FTLN 0214 CRESSIDA What, is he angry too?
 FTLN 0215 PANDARUS Who, Troilus? Troilus is the better man of FTLN 0216 the two. 65
 FTLN 0217 CRESSIDA O Jupiter, there's no comparison.
 FTLN 0218 PANDARUS What, not between Troilus and Hector? Do
 FTLN 0219 you know a man if you see him?
 FTLN 0220 CRESSIDA Ay, if I ever saw him before and knew him.
 FTLN 0221 PANDARUS Well, I say Troilus is Troilus. 70
 FTLN 0222 CRESSIDA Then you say as I say, for I am sure he is not FTLN 0223 Hector.
 FTLN 0224 PANDARUS No, nor Hector is not Troilus in some degrees.
 FTLN 0225 CRESSIDA 'Tis just to each of them; he is himself.
 FTLN 0226 PANDARUS Himself? Alas, poor Troilus, I would he were. 75
 FTLN 0227 CRESSIDA So he is.
 FTLN 0228 PANDARUS Condition I had gone barefoot to India.
 FTLN 0229 CRESSIDA He is not Hector.
 FTLN 0230 PANDARUS Himself? No, he's not himself. Would he FTLN 0231 were himself! Well, the gods are above. Time must 80
 FTLN 0232 friend or end. Well, Troilus, well, I would my heart
 FTLN 0233 were in her body. No, Hector is not a better man
 FTLN 0234 than Troilus.
 FTLN 0235 CRESSIDA Excuse me.
 FTLN 0236 PANDARUS He is elder. 85
 FTLN 0237 CRESSIDA Pardon me, pardon me.

FTLN 0238 PANDARUS Th' others not come to 't. You shall tell me
 FTLN 0239 another tale when th' other's come to 't. Hector
 FTLN 0240 shall not have his 'wit' this year.
 FTLN 0241 CRESSIDA He shall not need it, if he have his own. 90
 FTLN 0242 PANDARUS Nor his qualities.
 FTLN 0243 CRESSIDA No matter.
 FTLN 0244 PANDARUS Nor his beauty.
 FTLN 0245 CRESSIDA 'Twould not become him. His own 's better.
 FTLN 0246 PANDARUS You have no judgment, niece. Helen herself 95
 FTLN 0247 swore th' other day that Troilus, for a brown favor—
 FTLN 0248 for so 'tis, I must confess—not brown neither—
 FTLN 0249 CRESSIDA No, but brown.
 FTLN 0250 PANDARUS Faith, to say truth, brown and not brown.
 FTLN 0251 CRESSIDA To say the truth, true and not true. 100
 FTLN 0252 PANDARUS She praised his complexion above Paris'.
 FTLN 0253 CRESSIDA Why, Paris hath color enough.
 FTLN 0254 PANDARUS So he has.
 FTLN 0255 CRESSIDA Then Troilus should have too much. If she FTLN 0256 praised him above, his complexion is higher than 105
 FTLN 0257 his. He having color enough, and the other higher,
 FTLN 0258 is too flaming a praise for a good complexion. I
 FTLN 0259 had as lief Helen's golden tongue had commended
 FTLN 0260 Troilus for a copper nose.
 FTLN 0261 PANDARUS I swear to you, I think Helen loves him better 110
 FTLN 0262 than Paris.
 FTLN 0263 CRESSIDA Then she's a merry Greek indeed.
 FTLN 0264 PANDARUS Nay, I am sure she does. She came to him
 FTLN 0265 th' other day into the compassed window—and FTLN 0266 you know he has not past three or four hairs on his 115
 FTLN 0267 chin—
 FTLN 0268 CRESSIDA Indeed, a tapster's arithmetic may soon bring
 FTLN 0269 his particulars therein to a total.
 FTLN 0270 PANDARUS Why, he is very young, and yet will he within
 FTLN 0271 three pound <lift> as much as his brother Hector. 120
 FTLN 0272 CRESSIDA Is he so young a man and so old a lifter?

FTLN 0273 PANDARUS But to prove to you that Helen loves him: she FTLN 0274 came and puts me her white hand to his cloven
 FTLN 0275 chin—

FTLN 0276 CRESSIDA Juno have mercy! How came it cloven? 125

FTLN 0277 PANDARUS Why, you know 'tis dimpled. I think his FTLN 0278 smiling becomes him better than any man in all
 FTLN 0279 Phrygia.

FTLN 0280 CRESSIDA O, he smiles valiantly.

FTLN 0281 PANDARUS Does he not? 130

FTLN 0282 CRESSIDA O yes, an 'twere a cloud in autumn.

FTLN 0283 PANDARUS Why, go to, then. But to prove to you that FTLN 0284 Helen loves Troilus—

FTLN 0285 CRESSIDA Troilus will stand to 'the' proof if you'll
 FTLN 0286 prove it so. 135

FTLN 0287 PANDARUS Troilus? Why, he esteems her no more than FTLN 0288 I esteem an addle egg.

FTLN 0289 CRESSIDA If you love an addle egg as well as you love
 FTLN 0290 an idle head, you would eat chickens i' th' shell.

FTLN 0291 PANDARUS I cannot choose but laugh to think how she 140
 FTLN 0292 tickled his chin. Indeed, she has a marvellous
 FTLN 0293 white hand, I must needs confess—

FTLN 0294 CRESSIDA Without the rack.

FTLN 0295 PANDARUS And she takes upon her to spy a white hair
 FTLN 0296 on his chin. 145

FTLN 0297 CRESSIDA Alas, poor chin! Many a wart is richer.

FTLN 0298 PANDARUS But there was such laughing! Queen Hecuba
 FTLN 0299 laughed that her eyes ran o'er—

FTLN 0300 CRESSIDA With millstones.

FTLN 0301 PANDARUS And Cassandra laughed— 150

FTLN 0302 CRESSIDA But there was a more temperate fire under FTLN 0303 the pot of her eyes. Did her eyes run o'er too?

FTLN 0304 PANDARUS And Hector laughed.

FTLN 0305 CRESSIDA At what was all this laughing?

FTLN 0306 PANDARUS Marry, at the white hair that Helen spied on 155
 FTLN 0307 Troilus' chin.

FTLN 0308 CRESSIDA An 't had been a green hair, I should have
 FTLN 0309 laughed too.

FTLN 0310 PANDARUS They laughed not so much at the hair as at FTLN 0311 his pretty answer. 160

FTLN 0312 CRESSIDA What was his answer?

FTLN 0313 PANDARUS Quoth she "Here's but two-and-fifty hairs
 FTLN 0314 on your chin, and one of them is white."

FTLN 0315 CRESSIDA This is her question.

FTLN 0316 PANDARUS That's true, make no question of that. "Two-and-fifty 165
 FTLN 0317 hairs," quoth he, "and one white. That FTLN 0318 white hair is my father, and all the rest are his
 FTLN 0319 sons." "Jupiter!" quoth she, "which of these hairs
 FTLN 0320 is Paris, my husband?" "The forked one," quoth he.
 FTLN 0321 "Pluck 't out, and give it him." But there was such 170
 FTLN 0322 laughing, and Helen so blushed, and Paris so
 FTLN 0323 chafed, and all the rest so laughed that it passed.

FTLN 0324 CRESSIDA So let it now, for it has been a great while FTLN 0325 going by.

FTLN 0326 PANDARUS Well, cousin, I told you a thing yesterday. 175
 FTLN 0327 Think on 't.

FTLN 0328 CRESSIDA So I do.

FTLN 0329 PANDARUS I'll be sworn 'tis true. He will weep you an FTLN 0330 'twere a man born in April.

FTLN 0331 CRESSIDA And I'll spring up in his tears an'twere a nettle 180
 FTLN 0332 against May. Sound a retreat.

FTLN 0333 PANDARUS Hark, they are coming from the field. Shall FTLN 0334 we stand up here and see them as they pass toward FTLN 0335 Ilium? Good niece, do, sweet niece Cressida.

FTLN 0336 CRESSIDA At your pleasure. 185

FTLN 0337 PANDARUS Here, here, here's an excellent place. Here
 FTLN 0338 we may see most bravely. I'll tell you them all by FTLN 0339 their names as they pass by, but mark Troilus
 FTLN 0340 above the rest.

[They cross the stage; Alexander exits.]

FTLN 0341 CRESSIDA Speak not so loud. 190

Enter Aeneas 「and crosses the stage.」

FTLN 0342 PANDARUS That's Aeneas. Is not that a brave man? He's FTLN 0343 one of the flowers of Troy, I can tell you. But mark
FTLN 0344 Troilus; you shall see anon.

Enter Antenor 「and crosses the stage.」

FTLN 0345 CRESSIDA Who's that?
FTLN 0346 PANDARUS That's Antenor. He has a shrewd wit, I can 195
FTLN 0347 tell you, and he's ⟨a⟩ man good enough. He's one o'
FTLN 0348 th' soundest judgments in Troy whosoever; and a
FTLN 0349 proper man of person. When comes Troilus? I'll FTLN 0350 show you Troilus anon. If he see me, you shall see
FTLN 0351 him nod at me. 200
FTLN 0352 CRESSIDA Will he give you the nod?
FTLN 0353 PANDARUS You shall see.
FTLN 0354 CRESSIDA If he do, the rich shall have more.

Enter Hector 「and crosses the stage.」

FTLN 0355 PANDARUS That's Hector, that, that, look you, that.
FTLN 0356 There's a fellow!—Go thy way, Hector!—There's a 205
FTLN 0357 brave man, niece. O brave Hector! Look how he FTLN 0358 looks. There's a countenance! Is 't not a brave man?
FTLN 0359 CRESSIDA O, a brave man!
FTLN 0360 PANDARUS Is he not? It does a ⟨man's⟩ heart good. Look
FTLN 0361 you what hacks are on his helmet. Look you yonder, 210
FTLN 0362 do you see? Look you there. There's no jesting;
FTLN 0363 there's laying on, take 't off who will, as they say.
FTLN 0364 There be hacks.
FTLN 0365 CRESSIDA Be those with swords?
FTLN 0366 PANDARUS Swords, anything, he cares not. An the devil 215
FTLN 0367 come to him, it's all one. By God's lid, it does one's FTLN 0368 heart good.

Enter Paris 「and crosses the stage.」

FTLN 0369 Yonder comes Paris, yonder comes Paris! Look you
FTLN 0370 yonder, niece. Is 't not a gallant man too? Is 't not?

FTLN 0430	BOY	Sir, my lord would instantly speak with you.
FTLN 0431	PANDARUS	Where?	280
FTLN 0432	BOY	At your own house. There he unarms him.
FTLN 0433	PANDARUS	Good boy, tell him I come.	「 Boy exits. 」
FTLN 0434		I doubt he be hurt.—Fare you well, good niece.

FTLN 0435 CRESSIDA Adieu, uncle.
 FTLN 0436 PANDARUS I will be with you, niece, by and by. 285
 FTLN 0437 CRESSIDA To bring, uncle?
 FTLN 0438 PANDARUS Ay, a token from Troilus.
 FTLN 0439 CRESSIDA By the same token, you are a bawd.
 (Pandarus exits.)
 FTLN 0440 Words, vows, gifts, tears, and love's full sacrifice
 FTLN 0441 He offers in another's enterprise; 290
 FTLN 0442 But more in Troilus thousandfold I see
 FTLN 0443 Than in the glass of Pandar's praise may be.
 FTLN 0444 Yet hold I off. Women are angels, wooing;
 FTLN 0445 Things won are done; joy's soul lies in the doing.
 FTLN 0446 That she beloved knows naught that knows not this: 295
 FTLN 0447 Men prize the thing ungained more than it is.
 FTLN 0448 That she was never yet that ever knew
 FTLN 0449 Love got so sweet as when desire did sue.
 FTLN 0450 Therefore this maxim out of love I teach:
 FTLN 0451 Achievement is command; ungained, beseech. 300
 FTLN 0452 Then though my heart's content firm love doth bear,
 FTLN 0453 Nothing of that shall from mine eyes appear.

She exits.

「Scene 3」

《Sennet.》 Enter Agamemnon, Nestor, Ulysses, Diomedes,
 Menelaus, with others.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 0454 Princes, what grief hath set ⟨the⟩ jaundice o'er your
 FTLN 0455 cheeks?
 FTLN 0456 The ample proposition that hope makes
 FTLN 0457 In all designs begun on Earth below
 FTLN 0458 Fails in the promised largeness. Checks and disasters 5
 FTLN 0459 Grow in the veins of actions highest reared,
 FTLN 0460 As knots, by the conflux of meeting sap,
 FTLN 0461 Infects the sound pine and diverts his grain

FTLN 0462	Tortive and errant from his course of growth.
FTLN 0463	Nor, princes, is it matter new to us	10
FTLN 0464	That we come short of our suppose so far
FTLN 0465	That after seven years' siege yet Troy walls stand,
FTLN 0466	Sith ⟨every⟩ action that hath gone before,
FTLN 0467	Whereof we have record, trial did draw
FTLN 0468	Bias and thwart, not answering the aim	15
FTLN 0469	And that unbodied figure of the thought
FTLN 0470	That gave 't surmisèd shape. Why then, you princes,
FTLN 0471	Do you with cheeks abashed behold our works
FTLN 0472	And call them shames, which are indeed naught else
FTLN 0473	But the protractive trials of great Jove	20
FTLN 0474	To find persistive constancy in men?
FTLN 0475	The fineness of which metal is not found
FTLN 0476	In Fortune's love; for then the bold and coward,
FTLN 0477	The wise and fool, the artist and unread,
FTLN 0478	The hard and soft seem all affined and kin.	25
FTLN 0479	But in the wind and tempest of her frown,
FTLN 0480	Distinction, with a broad and powerful fan,
FTLN 0481	Puffing at all, winnows the light away,
FTLN 0482	And what hath mass or matter by itself
FTLN 0483	Lies rich in virtue and unmingled.	30
NESTOR
FTLN 0484	With due observance of ⟨thy⟩ godlike seat,
FTLN 0485	Great Agamemnon, Nestor shall apply
FTLN 0486	Thy latest words. In the reproof of chance
FTLN 0487	Lies the true proof of men. The sea being smooth,
FTLN 0488	How many shallow bauble boats dare sail	35
FTLN 0489	Upon her ⟨patient⟩ breast, making their way
FTLN 0490	With those of nobler bulk!
FTLN 0491	But let the ruffian Boreas once enrage
FTLN 0492	The gentle Thetis, and anon behold
FTLN 0493	The strong-ribbed bark through liquid mountains cut,	40
FTLN 0494	Bounding between the two moist elements,
FTLN 0495	Like Perseus' horse. Where's then the saucy boat
FTLN 0496	Whose weak untimbered sides but even now

FTLN 0497	Corrival'd greatness? Either to harbor fled
FTLN 0498	Or made a toast for Neptune. Even so	45
FTLN 0499	Doth valor's show and valor's worth divide
FTLN 0500	In storms of Fortune. For in her ray and brightness
FTLN 0501	The herd hath more annoyance by the breese
FTLN 0502	Than by the tiger, but when the splitting wind
FTLN 0503	Makes flexible the knees of knotted oaks,	50
FTLN 0504	And flies 'flee' under shade, why, then the thing of
FTLN 0505	courage,
FTLN 0506	As roused with rage, with rage doth sympathize,
FTLN 0507	And with an accent tuned in selfsame key
FTLN 0508	'Retorts' to chiding Fortune.	55
FTLN 0509	ULYSSES Agamemnon,
FTLN 0510	Thou great commander, nerves and bone of Greece,
FTLN 0511	Heart of our numbers, soul and only sprite,
FTLN 0512	In whom the tempers and the minds of all
FTLN 0513	Should be shut up, hear what Ulysses speaks.	60
FTLN 0514	Besides th' applause and approbation,
FTLN 0515	The which, ('to Agamemnon') most mighty for thy
FTLN 0516	place and sway,
FTLN 0517	('To Nestor') And thou most reverend for 'thy'
FTLN 0518	stretched-out life,	65
FTLN 0519	I give to both your speeches, which were such
FTLN 0520	As Agamemnon and the hand of Greece
FTLN 0521	Should hold up high in brass; and such again
FTLN 0522	As venerable Nestor, hatched in silver,
FTLN 0523	Should with a bond of air, strong as the axletree	70
FTLN 0524	On which heaven rides, knit all the Greekish ears
FTLN 0525	To his experienced tongue, yet let it please both,
FTLN 0526	Thou great, and wise, to hear Ulysses speak.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 0527	Speak, Prince of Ithaca, and be 't of less expect
FTLN 0528	That matter needless, of importless burden,	75
FTLN 0529	Divide thy lips than we are confident
FTLN 0530	When rank Thersites opes his mastic jaws
FTLN 0531	We shall hear music, wit, and oracle.)

 ULYSSES

FTLN 0532	Troy, yet upon his ⟨basis,⟩ had been down,
FTLN 0533	And the great Hector's sword had lacked a master	80
FTLN 0534	But for these instances:
FTLN 0535	The specialty of rule hath been neglected,
FTLN 0536	And look how many Grecian tents do stand
FTLN 0537	Hollow upon this plain, so many hollow factions.
FTLN 0538	When that the general is not like the hive	85
FTLN 0539	To whom the foragers shall all repair,
FTLN 0540	What honey is expected? Degree being vizarded,
FTLN 0541	Th' unworthiest shows as fairly in the mask.
FTLN 0542	The heavens themselves, the planets, and this center
FTLN 0543	Observe degree, priority, and place,	90
FTLN 0544	Insisture, course, proportion, season, form,
FTLN 0545	Office, and custom, in all line of order.
FTLN 0546	And therefore is the glorious planet Sol
FTLN 0547	In noble eminence enthroned and sphered
FTLN 0548	Amidst the other, whose med'cinable eye	95
FTLN 0549	Corrects the influence of evil planets,
FTLN 0550	And posts, like the commandment of a king,
FTLN 0551	Sans check, to good and bad. But when the planets
FTLN 0552	In evil mixture to disorder wander,
FTLN 0553	What plagues and what portents, what mutiny,	100
FTLN 0554	What raging of the sea, shaking of Earth,
FTLN 0555	Commotion in the winds, frights, changes, horrors
FTLN 0556	Divert and crack, rend and deracinate
FTLN 0557	The unity and married calm of states
FTLN 0558	Quite from their fixture! O, when degree is shaken,	105
FTLN 0559	Which is the ladder of all high designs,
FTLN 0560	The enterprise is sick. How could communities,
FTLN 0561	Degrees in schools and brotherhoods in cities,
FTLN 0562	Peaceful commerce from dividable shores,
FTLN 0563	The primogeny and due of birth,	110
FTLN 0564	Prerogative of age, crowns, scepters, laurels,
FTLN 0565	But by degree stand in authentic place?
FTLN 0566	Take but degree away, untune that string,

FTLN 0567	And hark what discord follows. Each thing meets
FTLN 0568	In mere oppugnancy. The bounded waters	115
FTLN 0569	Should lift their bosoms higher than the shores
FTLN 0570	And make a sop of all this solid globe;
FTLN 0571	Strength should be lord of imbecility,
FTLN 0572	And the rude son should strike his father dead;
FTLN 0573	Force should be right, or, rather, right and wrong,	120
FTLN 0574	Between whose endless jar justice resides,
FTLN 0575	Should lose their names, and so should justice too.
FTLN 0576	Then everything includes itself in power,
FTLN 0577	Power into will, will into appetite,
FTLN 0578	And appetite, an universal wolf,	125
FTLN 0579	So doubly seconded with will and power,
FTLN 0580	Must make perforce an universal prey
FTLN 0581	And last eat up himself. Great Agamemnon,
FTLN 0582	This chaos, when degree is suffocate,
FTLN 0583	Follows the choking.	130
FTLN 0584	And this neglection of degree it is
FTLN 0585	That by a pace goes backward, with a purpose
FTLN 0586	It hath to climb. The General's disdained
FTLN 0587	By him one step below, he by the next,
FTLN 0588	That next by him beneath; so every step,	135
FTLN 0589	Exempl'd by the first pace that is sick
FTLN 0590	Of his superior, grows to an envious fever
FTLN 0591	Of pale and bloodless emulation.
FTLN 0592	And 'tis this fever that keeps Troy on foot,
FTLN 0593	Not her own sinews. To end a tale of length,	140
FTLN 0594	Troy in our weakness stands, not in her strength.
NESTOR
FTLN 0595	Most wisely hath Ulysses here discovered
FTLN 0596	The fever whereof all our power is sick.
AGAMEMNON
FTLN 0597	The nature of the sickness found, Ulysses,
FTLN 0598	What is the remedy?	145
ULYSSES
FTLN 0599	The great Achilles, whom opinion crowns

FTLN 0600	The sinew and the forehand of our host,
FTLN 0601	Having his ear full of his airy fame,
FTLN 0602	Grows dainty of his worth and in his tent
FTLN 0603	Lies mocking our designs. With him Patroclus,	150
FTLN 0604	Upon a lazy bed, the live-long day
FTLN 0605	Breaks scurril jests,
FTLN 0606	And with ridiculous and silly action,
FTLN 0607	Which, slanderer, he imitation calls,
FTLN 0608	He pageants us. Sometime, great Agamemnon,	155
FTLN 0609	Thy topless deputation he puts on,
FTLN 0610	And, like a strutting player whose conceit
FTLN 0611	Lies in his hamstring and doth think it rich
FTLN 0612	To hear the wooden dialogue and sound
FTLN 0613	'Twixt his stretched footing and the scaffollage,	160
FTLN 0614	Such to-be-pitied and o'erwrested seeming
FTLN 0615	He acts thy greatness in; and when he speaks,
FTLN 0616	'Tis like a chime a-mending, with terms ⟨unsquared⟩
FTLN 0617	Which from the tongue of roaring Typhon dropped
FTLN 0618	Would seem hyperboles. At this fusty stuff,	165
FTLN 0619	The large Achilles, on his pressed bed lolling,
FTLN 0620	From his deep chest laughs out a loud applause,
FTLN 0621	Cries "Excellent! 'Tis Agamemnon right.
FTLN 0622	Now play me Nestor; hem and stroke thy beard,
FTLN 0623	As he being dressed to some oration."	170
FTLN 0624	That's done, as near as the extremest ends
FTLN 0625	Of parallels, as like as Vulcan and his wife;
FTLN 0626	Yet god Achilles still cries "Excellent!
FTLN 0627	'Tis Nestor right. Now play him me, Patroclus,
FTLN 0628	Arming to answer in a night alarm."	175
FTLN 0629	And then, forsooth, the faint defects of age
FTLN 0630	Must be the scene of mirth—to cough and spit,
FTLN 0631	And, with a palsy fumbling on his gorget,
FTLN 0632	Shake in and out the rivet. And at this sport
FTLN 0633	Sir Valor dies, cries "O, enough, Patroclus,	180
FTLN 0634	Or give me ribs of steel! I shall split all
FTLN 0635	In pleasure of my spleen." And in this fashion,
FTLN 0636	All our abilities, gifts, natures, shapes,

FTLN 0637 Several and generals of grace exact,
 FTLN 0638 Achievements, plots, orders, preventions, 185
 FTLN 0639 Excitements to the field, or speech for truce,
 FTLN 0640 Success or loss, what is or is not, serves
 FTLN 0641 As stuff for these two to make paradoxes.

NESTOR

FTLN 0642 And in the imitation of these twain,
 FTLN 0643 Who, as Ulysses says, opinion crowns 190
 FTLN 0644 With an imperial voice, many are infect:
 FTLN 0645 Ajax is grown self-willed and bears his head
 FTLN 0646 In such a rein, in full as proud a place
 FTLN 0647 As broad Achilles; keeps his tent like him,
 FTLN 0648 Makes factious feasts; rails on our state of war, 195
 FTLN 0649 Bold as an oracle, and sets Thersites—
 FTLN 0650 A slave whose gall coins slanders like a mint—
 FTLN 0651 To match us in comparisons with dirt,
 FTLN 0652 To weaken ⟨and⟩ discredit our exposure,
 FTLN 0653 How rank soever rounded in with danger. 200

ULYSSES

FTLN 0654 They tax our policy and call it cowardice,
 FTLN 0655 Count wisdom as no member of the war,
 FTLN 0656 Forestall prescience, and esteem no act
 FTLN 0657 But that of hand. The still and mental parts
 FTLN 0658 That do contrive how many hands shall strike 205
 FTLN 0659 When fitness calls them on and know by measure
 FTLN 0660 Of their observant toil the enemy's weight—
 FTLN 0661 Why, this hath not a fingers dignity.
 FTLN 0662 They call this bed-work, mapp'ry, closet war;
 FTLN 0663 So that the ram that batters down the wall, 210
 FTLN 0664 For the great swinge and rudeness of his poise,
 FTLN 0665 They place before his hand that made the engine
 FTLN 0666 Or those that with the fineness of their souls
 FTLN 0667 By reason guide his execution.

NESTOR

FTLN 0668 Let this be granted, and Achilles' horse 215
 FTLN 0669 Makes many Thetis' sons. ⟨Tucket.⟩

FTLN 0670 AGAMEMNON What trumpet? Look, Menelaus.

FTLN 0671 MENELAUS From Troy.

⟨Enter Aeneas, 「with a Trumpeter.」⟩

FTLN 0672 AGAMEMNON What would you 'fore our tent?

AENEAS

FTLN 0673 Is this great Agamemnon's tent, I pray you? 220

FTLN 0674 AGAMEMNON Even this.

AENEAS

FTLN 0675 May one that is a herald and a prince

FTLN 0676 Do a fair message to his kingly eyes?

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 0677 With surety stronger than Achilles' arm

FTLN 0678 'Fore all the Greekish 「host,」 which with one voice 225

FTLN 0679 Call Agamemnon head and general.

AENEAS

FTLN 0680 Fair leave and large security. How may

FTLN 0681 A stranger to those most imperial looks

FTLN 0682 Know them from eyes of other mortals?

FTLN 0683 AGAMEMNON How? 230

AENEAS

FTLN 0684 Ay. I ask that I might waken reverence

FTLN 0685 And bid the cheek be ready with a blush

FTLN 0686 Modest as morning when she coldly eyes

FTLN 0687 The youthful Phoebus.

FTLN 0688 Which is that god in office, guiding men? 235

FTLN 0689 Which is the high and mighty Agamemnon?

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 0690 This Trojan scorns us, or the men of Troy

FTLN 0691 Are ceremonious courtiers.

AENEAS

FTLN 0692 Courtiers as free, as debonair, unarmed,

FTLN 0693 As bending angels—that's their fame in peace. 240

FTLN 0694 But when they would seem soldiers, they have galls,

FTLN 0695	Good arms, strong joints, true swords, and—great
FTLN 0696	Jove's accord—
FTLN 0697	Nothing so full of heart. But peace, Aeneas.
FTLN 0698	Peace, Trojan. Lay thy finger on thy lips.	245
FTLN 0699	The worthiness of praise distains his worth
FTLN 0700	If that the praised himself bring the praise forth.
FTLN 0701	But what the repining enemy commends,
FTLN 0702	That breath fame blows; that praise, sole pure,
FTLN 0703	transcends.	250
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 0704	Sir, you of Troy, call you yourself Aeneas?
FTLN 0705	AENEAS Ay, Greek, that is my name.
FTLN 0706	AGAMEMNON What's your ⟨affair,⟩ I pray you?
	AENEAS
FTLN 0707	Sir, pardon. 'Tis for Agamemnon's ears.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 0708	He hears naught privately that comes from Troy.	255
	AENEAS
FTLN 0709	Nor I from Troy come not to whisper with him.
FTLN 0710	I bring a trumpet to awake his ear,
FTLN 0711	To set his ⟨sense⟩ on ⟨the⟩ attentive bent,
FTLN 0712	And then to speak.
FTLN 0713	AGAMEMNON Speak frankly as the wind;	260
FTLN 0714	It is not Agamemnon's sleeping hour.
FTLN 0715	That thou shalt know, Trojan, he is awake,
FTLN 0716	He tells thee so himself.
FTLN 0717	AENEAS Trumpet, blow ⟨loud⟩ !
FTLN 0718	Send thy brass voice through all these lazy tents;	265
FTLN 0719	And every Greek of mettle, let him know
FTLN 0720	What Troy means fairly shall be spoke aloud.
	Sound trumpet.
FTLN 0721	We have, great Agamemnon, here in Troy
FTLN 0722	A prince called Hector—Priam is his father—
FTLN 0723	Who in ⟨this⟩ dull and long-continued truce	270
FTLN 0724	Is resty grown. He bade me take a trumpet
FTLN 0725	And to this purpose speak: “Kings, princes, lords,

FTLN 0726	If there be one among the fair'st of Greece
FTLN 0727	That holds his honor higher than his ease,
FTLN 0728	⟨That seeks⟩ his praise more than he fears his peril,	275
FTLN 0729	That knows his valor and knows not his fear,
FTLN 0730	That loves his mistress more than in confession
FTLN 0731	With truant vows to her own lips he loves
FTLN 0732	And dare avow her beauty and her worth
FTLN 0733	In other arms than hers—to him this challenge.	280
FTLN 0734	Hector, in view of Trojans and of Greeks,
FTLN 0735	Shall make it good, or do his best to do it,
FTLN 0736	He hath a lady wiser, fairer, truer
FTLN 0737	Than ever Greek did couple in his arms
FTLN 0738	And will tomorrow with his trumpet call,	285
FTLN 0739	Midway between your tents and walls of Troy,
FTLN 0740	To rouse a Grecian that is true in love.
FTLN 0741	If any come, Hector shall honor him;
FTLN 0742	If none, he'll say in Troy when he retires
FTLN 0743	The Grecian dames are sunburnt and not worth	290
FTLN 0744	The splinter of a lance." Even so much.
AGAMEMNON
FTLN 0745	This shall be told our lovers, Lord Aeneas.
FTLN 0746	If none of them have soul in such a kind,
FTLN 0747	We left them all at home. But we are soldiers,
FTLN 0748	And may that soldier a mere recreant prove	295
FTLN 0749	That means not, hath not, or is not in love!
FTLN 0750	If then one is, or hath, ⟨or⟩ means to be,
FTLN 0751	That one meets Hector. If none else, I am he.
NESTOR, 「to Aeneas」
FTLN 0752	Tell him of Nestor, one that was a man
FTLN 0753	When Hector's grandsire sucked. He is old now,	300
FTLN 0754	But if there be not in our Grecian host
FTLN 0755	A noble man that hath ⟨one⟩ spark of fire
FTLN 0756	To answer for his love, tell him from me
FTLN 0757	I'll hide my silver beard in a gold beaver
FTLN 0758	And in my vambrace put my withered brawns	305
FTLN 0759	And, meeting him, ⟨will⟩ tell him that my lady

FTLN 0760 Was fairer than his grandam and as chaste
 FTLN 0761 As may be in the world. His youth in flood,
 FTLN 0762 I'll prove this troth with my three drops of blood.

AENEAS

FTLN 0763 Now heavens forfend such scarcity of ⟨youth!⟩ 310
 FTLN 0764 ULYSSES Amen.
 ⟨AGAMEMNON⟩

FTLN 0765 Fair Lord Aeneas, let me touch your hand.
 FTLN 0766 To our pavilion shall I lead you, sir.
 FTLN 0767 Achilles shall have word of this intent;
 FTLN 0768 So shall each lord of Greece from tent to tent. 315
 FTLN 0769 Yourself shall feast with us before you go,
 FTLN 0770 And find the welcome of a noble foe.

⟨All but Ulysses and Nestor exit.⟩

FTLN 0771 ULYSSES Nestor.
 FTLN 0772 NESTOR What says Ulysses?
 ULYSSES

FTLN 0773 I have a young conception in my brain; 320
 FTLN 0774 Be you my time to bring it to some shape.
 FTLN 0775 NESTOR What is 't?
 FTLN 0776 ULYSSES ⟨This 'tis:⟩

FTLN 0777 Blunt wedges rive hard knots; the seeded pride
 FTLN 0778 That hath to this maturity blown up 325
 FTLN 0779 In rank Achilles must or now be cropped
 FTLN 0780 Or, shedding, breed a nursery of like evil
 FTLN 0781 To overbulk us all.

FTLN 0782 NESTOR Well, and how?
 ULYSSES

FTLN 0783 This challenge that the gallant Hector sends, 330
 FTLN 0784 However it is spread in general name,
 FTLN 0785 Relates in purpose only to Achilles.

NESTOR

FTLN 0786 True. The purpose is perspicuous as substance
 FTLN 0787 Whose grossness little characters sum up;
 FTLN 0788 And, in the publication, make no strain 335
 FTLN 0789 But that Achilles, were his brain as barren

FTLN 0790 As banks of Libya—though, Apollo knows,
 FTLN 0791 'Tis dry enough—will, with great speed of judgment,
 FTLN 0792 Ay, with celerity, find Hector's purpose
 FTLN 0793 Pointing on him. 340
 FTLN 0794 ULYSSES And wake him to the answer, think you?
 NESTOR
 FTLN 0795 Why, 'tis most meet. Who may you else oppose
 FTLN 0796 That can from Hector bring ⟨his honor⟩ off
 FTLN 0797 If not Achilles? Though 't be a sportful combat,
 FTLN 0798 Yet in the trial much opinion dwells, 345
 FTLN 0799 For here the Trojans taste our dear'st repute
 FTLN 0800 With their fin'st palate. And, trust to me, Ulysses,
 FTLN 0801 Our imputation shall be oddly poised
 FTLN 0802 In this vile action. For the success,
 FTLN 0803 Although particular, shall give a scantling 350
 FTLN 0804 Of good or bad unto the general;
 FTLN 0805 And in such indexes, although small pricks
 FTLN 0806 To their subsequent volumes, there is seen
 FTLN 0807 The baby figure of the giant mass
 FTLN 0808 Of things to come at large. It is supposed 355
 FTLN 0809 He that meets Hector issues from our choice;
 FTLN 0810 And choice, being mutual act of all our souls,
 FTLN 0811 Makes merit her election and doth boil,
 FTLN 0812 As 'twere from forth us all, a man distilled
 FTLN 0813 Out of our virtues, who, miscarrying, 360
 FTLN 0814 What heart receives from hence a conquering part
 FTLN 0815 To steel a strong opinion to themselves?—
 FTLN 0816 ⟨Which entertained, limbs are his instruments,
 FTLN 0817 In no less working than are swords and bows
 FTLN 0818 Directive by the limbs.⟩ 365
 ULYSSES
 FTLN 0819 Give pardon to my speech: therefore 'tis meet
 FTLN 0820 Achilles meet not Hector. Let us like merchants
 FTLN 0821 First show foul wares and think perchance they'll sell;
 FTLN 0822 If not, the luster of the better shall exceed FTLN 0823 By showing the worse first. Do not consent 370

FTLN 0824 That ever Hector and Achilles meet,
 FTLN 0825 For both our honor and our shame in this
 FTLN 0826 Are dogged with two strange followers.

NESTOR

FTLN 0827 I see them not with my old eyes. What are they?

ULYSSES

FTLN 0828 What glory our Achilles shares from Hector, 375
 FTLN 0829 Were he not proud, we all should share with him;
 FTLN 0830 But he already is too insolent,
 FTLN 0831 And it were better parch in Afric sun
 FTLN 0832 Than in the pride and salt scorn of his eyes
 FTLN 0833 Should he scape Hector fair. If he were foiled, 380
 FTLN 0834 Why then we do our main opinion crush
 FTLN 0835 In taint of our best man. No, make a lott'ry,
 FTLN 0836 And, by device, let blockish Ajax draw
 FTLN 0837 The sort to fight with Hector. Among ourselves
 FTLN 0838 Give him allowance for the better man, 385
 FTLN 0839 For that will physic the great Myrmidon,
 FTLN 0840 Who broils in loud applause, and make him fall
 FTLN 0841 His crest that prouder than blue Iris bends.
 FTLN 0842 If the dull brainless Ajax come safe off,
 FTLN 0843 We'll dress him up in voices; if he fail, 390
 FTLN 0844 Yet go we under our opinion still FTLN 0845 That we have better men. But, hit or miss,
 FTLN 0846 Our project's life this shape of sense assumes:
 FTLN 0847 Ajax employed plucks down Achilles' plumes.

NESTOR

FTLN 0848 Now, Ulysses, I begin to relish thy advice, 395
 FTLN 0849 And I will give a taste thereof forthwith
 FTLN 0850 To Agamemnon. Go we to him straight.
 FTLN 0851 Two curs shall tame each other; pride alone
 FTLN 0852 Must tar the mastiffs on, as 'twere a bone.

They exit.

「ACT 2」

「Scene 1」

Enter Ajax and Thersites.

FTLN 0853	AJAX	Thersites!
FTLN 0854	THERSITES	Agamemnon—how if he had boils, full, all
FTLN 0855		over, generally?
FTLN 0856	AJAX	Thersites!
FTLN 0857	THERSITES	And those boils did run? Say so. Did not the	5
FTLN 0858		general run, then? Were not that a botchy core?
FTLN 0859	AJAX	Dog!
FTLN 0860	THERSITES	Then ⟨there⟩ would come some matter
FTLN 0861		from him. I see none now.
FTLN 0862	AJAX	Thou bitchwolf's son, canst thou not hear? Feel,	10
FTLN 0863		then. ⟨Strikes him.⟩
FTLN 0864	THERSITES	The plague of Greece upon thee, thou mongrel
FTLN 0865		beef-witted lord!
FTLN 0866	AJAX	Speak, then, thou unsalted leaven, speak. I will
FTLN 0867		beat thee into handsomeness.	15
FTLN 0868	THERSITES	I shall sooner rail thee into wit and holiness,
FTLN 0869		but I think thy horse will sooner con an oration
FTLN 0870		than thou learn ⟨a⟩ prayer without book. Thou canst
FTLN 0871		strike, canst thou? A red murrain o' thy jade's tricks.
FTLN 0872	AJAX	Toadstool, learn me the proclamation.	20
FTLN 0873	THERSITES	Dost thou think I have no sense, thou strikest
FTLN 0874		me thus?
FTLN 0875	AJAX	The proclamation!
FTLN 0876	THERSITES	Thou art proclaimed ⟨a⟩ fool, I think.

FTLN 0877	AJAX	Do not, porpentine, do not. My fingers itch.	25
FTLN 0878	THERSITES	I would thou didst itch from head to foot,
FTLN 0879		and I had the scratching of thee; I would make
FTLN 0880		thee the loathsomest scab in Greece. [When thou
FTLN 0881		art forth in the incursions, thou strikest as slow as
FTLN 0882		another.]	30
FTLN 0883	AJAX	I say, the proclamation!
FTLN 0884	THERSITES	Thou grumblest and railest every hour on
FTLN 0885		Achilles, and thou art as full of envy at his greatness
FTLN 0886		as Cerberus is at Proserpina's beauty, ay, that
FTLN 0887		thou bark'st at him.	35
FTLN 0888	AJAX	Mistress Thersites!
FTLN 0889	THERSITES	Thou shouldst strike him—
FTLN 0890	AJAX	Cobloaf!
FTLN 0891	⟨THERSITES⟩	He would pound thee into shivers with his
FTLN 0892		fist as a sailor breaks a biscuit.	40
FTLN 0893	⟨AJAX⟩	You whoreson cur! 「Strikes him.」
FTLN 0894	⟨THERSITES⟩	Do, do.
FTLN 0895	AJAX	Thou stool for a witch!
FTLN 0896	THERSITES	Ay, do, do, thou sodden-witted lord. Thou
FTLN 0897		hast no more brain than I have in mine elbows; an	45
FTLN 0898		asinego may tutor thee, ⟨thou⟩ scurvy-valiant ass.
FTLN 0899		Thou art here but to thrash Trojans, and thou art
FTLN 0900		bought and sold among those of any wit, like a
FTLN 0901		barbarian slave. If thou use to beat me, I will begin
FTLN 0902		at thy heel and tell what thou art by inches, thou	50
FTLN 0903		thing of no bowels, thou.
FTLN 0904	AJAX	You dog!
FTLN 0905	THERSITES	You scurvy lord!
FTLN 0906	AJAX	You cur! 「Strikes him.」
FTLN 0907	THERSITES	Mars his idiot! Do, rudeness, do, camel, do,	55
FTLN 0908		do.

⟨Enter Achilles and Patroclus.⟩

FTLN 0909	ACHILLES	Why, how now, Ajax? Wherefore do you
FTLN 0910		thus?—How now, Thersites? What's the matter,
FTLN 0911		man?

FTLN 0912	THERSITES	You see him there, do you?	60
FTLN 0913	ACHILLES	Ay, what's the matter?
FTLN 0914	THERSITES	Nay, look upon him.
FTLN 0915	ACHILLES	So I do. What's the matter?
FTLN 0916	THERSITES	Nay, but regard him well.
FTLN 0917	ACHILLES	Well, why, so I do.	65
FTLN 0918	THERSITES	But yet you look not well upon him, for
FTLN 0919		whosoever you take him to be, he is Ajax.
FTLN 0920	ACHILLES	I know that, fool.
FTLN 0921	THERSITES	Ay, but that fool knows not himself.
FTLN 0922	AJAX	Therefore I beat thee.	70
FTLN 0923	THERSITES	Lo, lo, lo, lo, what modicums of wit he utters!
FTLN 0924		His evasions have ears thus long. I have
FTLN 0925		bobbed his brain more than he has beat my bones.
FTLN 0926		⟨I⟩ will buy nine sparrows for a penny, and his pia
FTLN 0927		mater is not worth the ninth part of a sparrow.	75
FTLN 0928		This lord, Achilles—Ajax, who wears his wit in his
FTLN 0929		belly, and his guts in his head—⟨I'll⟩ tell you what I
FTLN 0930		say of him.
FTLN 0931	ACHILLES	What?
FTLN 0932	THERSITES	I say, this Ajax— 「Ajax menaces him.」	80
FTLN 0933	ACHILLES	Nay, good Ajax.
FTLN 0934	THERSITES	Has not so much wit—
FTLN 0935	ACHILLES, 「to Ajax」	Nay, I must hold you.
FTLN 0936	THERSITES	As will stop the eye of Helen's needle, for
FTLN 0937		whom he comes to fight.	85
FTLN 0938	ACHILLES	Peace, fool!
FTLN 0939	THERSITES	I would have peace and quietness, but the
FTLN 0940		fool will not—he there, that he. Look you there.
FTLN 0941	AJAX	O, thou damned cur, I shall—
FTLN 0942	ACHILLES	Will you set your wit to a fool's?	90
FTLN 0943	THERSITES	No, I warrant you. The fool's will shame it.
FTLN 0944	PATROCLUS	Good words, Thersites.
FTLN 0945	ACHILLES, 「to Ajax」	What's the quarrel?
FTLN 0946	AJAX	I bade the vile owl go learn me the tenor of the
FTLN 0947		proclamation, and he rails upon me.	95

FTLN 0948 THERSITES I serve thee not.

FTLN 0949 AJAX Well, go to, go to.

FTLN 0950 THERSITES I serve here voluntary.

FTLN 0951 ACHILLES Your last service was suff'rance; 'twas not

FTLN 0952 voluntary. No man is beaten voluntary. Ajax was 100

FTLN 0953 here the voluntary, and you as under an impress.

FTLN 0954 THERSITES E'en so. A great deal of your wit, too, lies in FTLN 0955 your sinews, or else there be liars. Hector shall

FTLN 0956 have a great catch an ⟨he⟩ knock ⟨out⟩ either of

FTLN 0957 your brains; he were as good crack a fusty nut with 105

FTLN 0958 no kernel.

FTLN 0959 ACHILLES What, with me too, Thersites?

FTLN 0960 THERSITES There's Ulysses and old Nestor—whose wit

FTLN 0961 was moldy ere 'your' grandsires had nails ⟨on

FTLN 0962 their toes⟩—yoke you like draft-oxen and make 110

FTLN 0963 you plow up the wars.

FTLN 0964 ACHILLES What? What?

FTLN 0965 THERSITES Yes, good sooth. To, Achilles! To, Ajax! To—

FTLN 0966 AJAX I shall cut out your tongue.

FTLN 0967 THERSITES 'Tis no matter. I shall speak as much as 115

FTLN 0968 thou afterwards.

FTLN 0969 PATROCLUS No more words, Thersites. Peace.

FTLN 0970 THERSITES I will hold my peace when Achilles' 'brach'

FTLN 0971 bids me, shall I?

FTLN 0972 ACHILLES There's for you, Patroclus. 120

FTLN 0973 THERSITES I will see you hanged like clodpolls ere I

FTLN 0974 come any more to your tents. I will keep where

FTLN 0975 there is wit stirring and leave the faction of fools.

He exits.

FTLN 0976 PATROCLUS A good riddance.

FTLN 0977 ACHILLES, 'to Ajax'

FTLN 0978 Marry, this, sir, is proclaimed through all our host: 125

FTLN 0979 That Hector, by the ⟨fifth⟩ hour of the sun,

FTLN 0980 Will with a trumpet 'twixt our tents and Troy

FTLN 0981 Tomorrow morning call some knight to arms

FTLN 0982 That hath a stomach, and such a one that dare

Maintain—I know not what; 'tis trash. Farewell. 130

FTLN 0983 AJAX Farewell. Who shall answer him?
 ACHILLES
 FTLN 0984 I know not. 'Tis put to lott'ry. Otherwise,
 FTLN 0985 He knew his man. 「Achilles and Patroclus exit.」
 FTLN 0986 AJAX O, meaning you? I will go learn more of it.
〈He exits.〉

「Scene 2」

Enter Priam, Hector, Troilus, Paris and Helenas.

PRIAM

FTLN 0987 After so many hours, lives, speeches spent,
 FTLN 0988 Thus once again says Nestor from the Greeks:
 FTLN 0989 “Deliver Helen, and all damage else—
 FTLN 0990 As honor, loss of time, travel, expense,
 FTLN 0991 Wounds, friends, and what else dear that is consumed 5
 FTLN 0992 In hot digestion of this cormorant war—
 FTLN 0993 Shall be struck off.”—Hector, what say you to 't?

HECTOR

FTLN 0994 Though no man lesser fears the Greeks than I
 FTLN 0995 As far as toucheth my particular,
 FTLN 0996 Yet, dread Priam, 10
 FTLN 0997 There is no lady of more softer bowels,
 FTLN 0998 More spongy to suck in the sense of fear,
 FTLN 0999 More ready to cry out “Who knows what follows?”
 FTLN 1000 Than Hector is. The wound of peace is 〈surety,
 FTLN 1001 Surety〉 secure; but modest doubt is called 15
 FTLN 1002 The beacon of the wise, the tent that searches
 FTLN 1003 To th' bottom of the worst. Let Helen go.
 FTLN 1004 Since the first sword was drawn about this question,
 FTLN 1005 Every tithe soul, 'mongst many thousand dismes,
 FTLN 1006 Hath been as dear as Helen; I mean, of ours. 20
 FTLN 1007 If we have lost so many tenths of ours
 FTLN 1008 To guard a thing not ours—nor worth to us,
 FTLN 1009 Had it our name, the value of one ten—

FTLN 1010	What merit's in that reason which denies
FTLN 1011	The yielding of her up?	25
FTLN 1012	TROILUS Fie, fie, my brother,
FTLN 1013	Weigh you the worth and honor of a king
FTLN 1014	So great as our dread father's in a scale
FTLN 1015	Of common ounces? Will you with counters sum
FTLN 1016	The past-proportion of his infinite,	30
FTLN 1017	And buckle in a waist most fathomless
FTLN 1018	With spans and inches so diminutive
FTLN 1019	As fears and reasons? Fie, for godly shame!
	HELENUS
FTLN 1020	No marvel though you bite so sharp <at> reasons,
FTLN 1021	You are so empty of them. Should not our father	35
FTLN 1022	Bear the great sway of his affairs with reason,
FTLN 1023	Because your speech hath none that tell him so?
	TROILUS
FTLN 1024	You are for dreams and slumbers, brother priest.
FTLN 1025	You fur your gloves with reason. Here are your
FTLN 1026	reasons:	40
FTLN 1027	You know an enemy intends you harm;
FTLN 1028	You know a sword employed is perilous,
FTLN 1029	And reason flies the object of all harm.
FTLN 1030	Who marvels, then, when Helenus beholds
FTLN 1031	A Grecian and his sword, if he do set	45
FTLN 1032	The very wings of reason to his heels
FTLN 1033	And fly like chidden Mercury from Jove
FTLN 1034	Or like a star disorbed? Nay, if we talk of reason,
FTLN 1035	<Let's> shut our gates and sleep. Manhood and honor
FTLN 1036	Should have hare hearts, would they but fat their	50
FTLN 1037	thoughts
FTLN 1038	With this crammed reason. Reason and respect
FTLN 1039	Make livers pale and lustihood deject.
	HECTOR
FTLN 1040	Brother, she is not worth what she doth cost
FTLN 1041	The keeping.	55
FTLN 1042	TROILUS What's aught but as 'tis valued?

HECTOR

FTLN 1043 But value dwells not in particular will;
 FTLN 1044 It holds his estimate and dignity
 FTLN 1045 As well wherein 'tis precious of itself
 FTLN 1046 As in the prizer. 'Tis mad idolatry 60
 FTLN 1047 To make the service greater than the god;
 FTLN 1048 And the will dotes that is attributive
 FTLN 1049 To what infectiously itself affects
 FTLN 1050 Without some image of th' affected merit.

TROILUS

FTLN 1051 I take today a wife, and my election 65
 FTLN 1052 Is led on in the conduct of my will—
 FTLN 1053 My will enkindled by mine eyes and ears,
 FTLN 1054 Two traded pilots 'twixt the dangerous ⟨shores⟩
 FTLN 1055 Of will and judgment. How may I avoid,
 FTLN 1056 Although my will distaste what it elected, 70
 FTLN 1057 The wife I choose? There can be no evasion
 FTLN 1058 To blench from this and to stand firm by honor.
 FTLN 1059 We turn not back the silks upon the merchant
 FTLN 1060 When we have soiled them, nor the remainder
 FTLN 1061 viands 75
 FTLN 1062 We do not throw in unrespective sieve
 FTLN 1063 Because we now are full. It was thought meet
 FTLN 1064 Paris should do some vengeance on the Greeks.
 FTLN 1065 Your breath with full consent bellied his sails;
 FTLN 1066 The seas and winds, old wranglers, took a truce 80
 FTLN 1067 And did him service. He touched the ports desired,
 FTLN 1068 And for an old aunt whom the Greeks held captive,
 FTLN 1069 He brought a Grecian queen, whose youth and FTLN 1070 freshness
 FTLN 1071 Wrinkles Apollo's and makes pale the morning. 85
 FTLN 1072 Why keep we her? The Grecians keep our aunt.
 FTLN 1073 Is she worth keeping? Why, she is a pearl
 FTLN 1074 Whose price hath launched above a thousand ships
 FTLN 1075 And turned crowned kings to merchants.
 FTLN 1076 If you'll avouch 'twas wisdom Paris went— 90

FTLN 1077 As you must needs, for you all cried “Go, go”—
 FTLN 1078 If you’ll confess he brought home worthy prize—
 FTLN 1079 As you must needs, for you all clapped your hands
 FTLN 1080 And cried “Inestimable”—why do you now
 FTLN 1081 The issue of your proper wisdoms rate 95
 FTLN 1082 And do a deed that never Fortune did,
 FTLN 1083 Beggar the estimation which you prized
 FTLN 1084 Richer than sea and land? O, theft most base,
 FTLN 1085 That we have stol’n what we do fear to keep!
 FTLN 1086 But thieves unworthy of a thing so stol’n, 100
 FTLN 1087 That in their country did them that disgrace
 FTLN 1088 We fear to warrant in our native place.
 CASSANDRA, within
 FTLN 1089 Cry, Trojans, cry!
 FTLN 1090 PRIAM What noise? What shriek is this?
 TROILUS
 FTLN 1091 ’Tis our mad sister. I do know her voice. 105
 FTLN 1092 CASSANDRA, within Cry, Trojans!
 FTLN 1093 HECTOR It is Cassandra.

Enter Cassandra raving.

CASSANDRA
 FTLN 1094 Cry, Trojans, cry! Lend me ten thousand eyes,
 FTLN 1095 And I will fill them with prophetic tears.
 FTLN 1096 HECTOR Peace, sister, peace! 110
 CASSANDRA
 FTLN 1097 Virgins and boys, mid-age and wrinkled elders,
 FTLN 1098 Soft infancy, that nothing canst but cry,
 FTLN 1099 Add to my clamors. Let us pay betimes
 FTLN 1100 A moiety of that mass of moan to come.
 FTLN 1101 Cry, Trojans, cry! Practice your eyes with tears. 115
 FTLN 1102 Troy must not be, nor goodly Ilium stand.
 FTLN 1103 Our firebrand brother Paris burns us all.
 FTLN 1104 Cry, Trojans, cry! A Helen and a woe!
 FTLN 1105 Cry, cry! Troy burns, or else let Helen go. She exits.

HECTOR

FTLN 1106 Now, youthful Troilus, do not these high strains 120
 FTLN 1107 Of divination in our sister work
 FTLN 1108 Some touches of remorse? Or is your blood
 FTLN 1109 So madly hot that no discourse of reason
 FTLN 1110 Nor fear of bad success in a bad cause
 FTLN 1111 Can qualify the same? 125

FTLN 1112 TROILUS Why, brother Hector,
 FTLN 1113 We may not think the justness of each act
 FTLN 1114 Such and no other than event doth form it,
 FTLN 1115 Nor once deject the courage of our minds
 FTLN 1116 Because Cassandra's mad. Her brainsick raptures 130
 FTLN 1117 Cannot distaste the goodness of a quarrel
 FTLN 1118 Which hath our several honors all engaged
 FTLN 1119 To make it gracious. For my private part,
 FTLN 1120 I am no more touched than all Priam's sons;
 FTLN 1121 And Jove forbid there should be done amongst us 135
 FTLN 1122 Such things as might offend the weakest spleen
 FTLN 1123 To fight for and maintain!

PARIS

FTLN 1124 Else might the world convince of levity
 FTLN 1125 As well my undertakings as your counsels.
 FTLN 1126 But I attest the gods, your full consent 140
 FTLN 1127 Gave wings to my propension and cut off
 FTLN 1128 All fears attending on so dire a project.
 FTLN 1129 For what, alas, can these my single arms?
 FTLN 1130 What propugnation is in one man's valor
 FTLN 1131 To stand the push and enmity of those 145
 FTLN 1132 This quarrel would excite? Yet, I protest,
 FTLN 1133 Were I alone to pass the difficulties
 FTLN 1134 And had as ample power as I have will,
 FTLN 1135 Paris should ne'er retract what he hath done
 FTLN 1136 Nor faint in the pursuit. 150

FTLN 1137 PRIAM Paris, you speak
 FTLN 1138 Like one besotted on your sweet delights.
 FTLN 1139 You have the honey still, but these the gall.
 FTLN 1140 So to be valiant is no praise at all.

PARIS

FTLN 1141	Sir, I propose not merely to myself	155
FTLN 1142	The pleasures such a beauty brings with it,
FTLN 1143	But I would have the soil of her fair rape
FTLN 1144	Wiped off in honorable keeping her.
FTLN 1145	What treason were it to the ransacked queen,
FTLN 1146	Disgrace to your great worths, and shame to me,	160
FTLN 1147	Now to deliver her possession up
FTLN 1148	On terms of base compulsion? Can it be
FTLN 1149	That so degenerate a strain as this
FTLN 1150	Should once set footing in your generous bosoms?
FTLN 1151	There's not the meanest spirit on our party	165
FTLN 1152	Without a heart to dare or sword to draw
FTLN 1153	When Helen is defended, nor none so noble
FTLN 1154	Whose life were ill bestowed or death unfamed
FTLN 1155	Where Helen is the subject. Then I say,
FTLN 1156	Well may we fight for her whom, we know well,	170
FTLN 1157	The world's large spaces cannot parallel.

HECTOR

FTLN 1158	Paris and Troilus, you have both said well,
FTLN 1159	And on the cause and question now in hand
FTLN 1160	Have glozed—but superficially, not much
FTLN 1161	Unlike young men, whom Aristotle thought	175
FTLN 1162	Unfit to hear moral philosophy.
FTLN 1163	The reasons you allege do more conduce
FTLN 1164	To the hot passion of distempered blood
FTLN 1165	Than to make up a free determination
FTLN 1166	'Twixt right and wrong, for pleasure and revenge	180
FTLN 1167	Have ears more deaf than adders to the voice
FTLN 1168	Of any true decision. Nature craves
FTLN 1169	All dues be rendered to their owners. Now,
FTLN 1170	What nearer debt in all humanity
FTLN 1171	Than wife is to the husband? If this law	185
FTLN 1172	Of nature be corrupted through affection,
FTLN 1173	And that great minds, of partial indulgence
FTLN 1174	To their benumbèd wills, resist the same,

They exit.

[Scene 3]

Enter Thersites, alone.

FTLN 1210	[THERSITES] How now, Thersites? What, lost in the
FTLN 1211	labyrinth of thy fury? Shall the elephant Ajax carry
FTLN 1212	it thus? He beats me, and I rail at him. O, worthy
FTLN 1213	satisfaction! Would it were otherwise, that I could
FTLN 1214	beat him whilst he railed at me. 'Sfoot, I'll learn to	5
FTLN 1215	conjure and raise devils but I'll see some issue of
FTLN 1216	my spiteful execrations. Then there's Achilles, a
FTLN 1217	rare engineer! If Troy be not taken till these two undermine
FTLN 1218	it, the walls will stand till they fall of
FTLN 1219	themselves. O thou great thunder-darter of Olympus,	10
FTLN 1220	forget that thou art Jove, the king of gods;
FTLN 1221	and, Mercury, lose all the serpentine craft of thy
FTLN 1222	caduceus, if you take not that little, little, less than
FTLN 1223	little wit from them that they have, which short-armed
FTLN 1224	ignorance itself knows is so abundant	15
FTLN 1225	scarce it will not in circumvention deliver a fly
FTLN 1226	from a spider without drawing their massy irons
FTLN 1227	and cutting the web. After this, the vengeance on
FTLN 1228	the whole camp! Or rather, the Neapolitan bone-ache!
FTLN 1229	For that, methinks, is the curse depending	20
FTLN 1230	on those that war for a placket. I have said my
FTLN 1231	prayers, and devil Envy say "Amen."—What ho,
FTLN 1232	my lord Achilles!
FTLN 1233	PATROCLUS, [within] Who's there? Thersites? Good
FTLN 1234	Thersites, come in and rail.	25
FTLN 1235	THERSITES If I could 'a remembered a gilt counterfeit,
FTLN 1236	thou couldst not have slipped out of my contemplation.
FTLN 1237	But it is no matter. Thyself upon thyself! The
FTLN 1238	common curse of mankind, folly and ignorance,
FTLN 1239	be thine in great revenue! Heaven bless thee from	30
FTLN 1240	a tutor, and discipline come not near thee! Let thy
FTLN 1241	blood be thy direction till thy death; then if she
FTLN 1242	that lays thee out says thou art a fair corse, I'll be

FTLN 1243 sworn and sworn upon 't she never shrouded any FTLN 1244 but lazars. Amen. 35

⟨Enter Patroclus.⟩

FTLN 1245 Where's Achilles?
FTLN 1246 PATROCLUS What, art thou devout? Wast thou in FTLN 1247 prayer?
FTLN 1248 THERSITES Ay. The heavens hear me!
FTLN 1249 [PATROCLUS Amen.] 40
FTLN 1250 ACHILLES, 「within」 Who's there?
FTLN 1251 PATROCLUS Thersites, my lord.
FTLN 1252 ACHILLES, 「within」 Where? Where? O, where?

Enter Achilles.

FTLN 1253 「To Thersites.」 Art thou come? Why, my cheese, my
FTLN 1254 digestion, why hast thou not served thyself in to my 45
FTLN 1255 table so many meals? Come, what's Agamemnon?
FTLN 1256 THERSITES Thy commander, Achilles.—Then, tell me,
FTLN 1257 Patroclus, what's Achilles?
FTLN 1258 PATROCLUS Thy lord, Thersites. Then, tell me, I pray
FTLN 1259 thee, what's Thersites? 50
FTLN 1260 THERSITES Thy knower, Patroclus. Then, tell me, Patroclus, FTLN 1261 what art thou?
FTLN 1262 PATROCLUS Thou must tell that knowest.
FTLN 1263 ACHILLES O tell, tell.
FTLN 1264 THERSITES I'll decline the whole question. Agamemnon 55
FTLN 1265 commands Achilles, Achilles is my lord, I am
FTLN 1266 Patroclus' knower, and Patroclus is a fool.
FTLN 1267 ⟨PATROCLUS You rascal!
FTLN 1268 THERSITES Peace, fool. I have not done.
FTLN 1269 ACHILLES, 「to Patroclus」 He is a privileged man.—Proceed, 60
FTLN 1270 Thersites.
FTLN 1271 THERSITES Agamemnon is a fool, Achilles is a fool,
FTLN 1272 Thersites is a fool, and, as aforesaid, Patroclus is a
FTLN 1273 fool.⟩
FTLN 1274 ACHILLES Derive this. Come. 65

FTLN 1275 THERSITES Agamemnon is a fool to offer to command
 FTLN 1276 Achilles, Achilles is a fool to be commanded ⟨of FTLN 1277 Agamemnon,⟩ Thersites is a fool to serve such a fool,
 FTLN 1278 and this Patroclus is a fool positive.
 FTLN 1279 PATROCLUS Why am I a fool? 70
 FTLN 1280 THERSITES Make that demand of the ⟨creator.⟩ It suffices
 FTLN 1281 me thou art.

Enter [at a distance] Agamemnon, Ulysses, Nestor, Diomedes, Ajax, and Calchas.

FTLN 1282 Look you, who comes here?
 FTLN 1283 ACHILLES Patroclus, I'll speak with nobody.—Come in FTLN 1284 with me, Thersites. ⟨He exits.⟩ 75
 FTLN 1285 THERSITES Here is such patchery, such juggling, and FTLN 1286 such knavery. All the argument is a whore and a
 FTLN 1287 cuckold, a good quarrel to draw emulous factions
 FTLN 1288 and bleed to death upon. ⟨Now the dry serpigo on FTLN 1289 the subject, and war and lechery confound all!⟩ 80
He exits.

FTLN 1290 AGAMEMNON, [to Patroclus] Where is Achilles?
 PATROCLUS

FTLN 1291 Within his tent, but ill-disposed, my lord.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 1292 Let it be known to him that we are here.
 FTLN 1293 He [shent] our messengers, and we lay by
 FTLN 1294 Our ⟨appertainments,⟩ visiting of him. 85
 FTLN 1295 Let him be told so, lest perchance he think
 FTLN 1296 We dare not move the question of our place
 FTLN 1297 Or know not what we are.

FTLN 1298 PATROCLUS I shall say so to him. He exits.

ULYSSES

FTLN 1299 We saw him at the opening of his tent. 90
 FTLN 1300 He is not sick.

FTLN 1301 AJAX Yes, lion-sick, sick of proud heart. You may call
 FTLN 1302 it melancholy if you will favor the man, but, by my

FTLN 1303 head, 'tis pride. But, why, why? Let him show us a
 FTLN 1304 cause.—〈A word, my lord.〉 95
 〔He and Agamemnon walk aside.〕

FTLN 1305 NESTOR What moves Ajax thus to bay at him?
 FTLN 1306 ULYSSES Achilles hath inveigled his fool from him.
 FTLN 1307 NESTOR Who, Thersites?
 FTLN 1308 ULYSSES He.
 FTLN 1309 NESTOR Then will Ajax lack matter, if he have lost his 100
 FTLN 1310 argument.
 FTLN 1311 ULYSSES No. You see, he is his argument that has his FTLN 1312 argument: Achilles.
 FTLN 1313 NESTOR All the better. Their fraction is more our wish
 FTLN 1314 than their faction. But it was a strong composure a 105
 FTLN 1315 fool could disunite.
 FTLN 1316 ULYSSES The amity that wisdom knits not, folly may
 FTLN 1317 easily untie.

〈Enter Patroclus.〉

FTLN 1318 Here comes Patroclus.
 FTLN 1319 NESTOR No Achilles with him. 110
 FTLN 1320 ULYSSES The elephant hath joints, but none for courtesy;
 FTLN 1321 his legs are legs for necessity, not for flexure.
 PATROCLUS, 〔to Agamemnon〕

FTLN 1322 Achilles bids me say he is much sorry
 FTLN 1323 If anything more than your sport and pleasure
 FTLN 1324 Did move your greatness and this noble state 115
 FTLN 1325 To call upon him. He hopes it is no other
 FTLN 1326 But for your health and your digestion sake,
 FTLN 1327 An after-dinner's breath.

FTLN 1328 AGAMEMNON Hear you, Patroclus:
 FTLN 1329 We are too well acquainted with these answers, 120
 FTLN 1330 But his evasion, winged thus swift with scorn,
 FTLN 1331 Cannot outfly our apprehensions.
 FTLN 1332 Much attribute he hath, and much the reason
 FTLN 1333 Why we ascribe it to him. Yet all his virtues,
 FTLN 1334 Not virtuously on his own part beheld, 125

FTLN 1335	Do in our eyes begin to lose their gloss,
FTLN 1336	Yea, ⟨and⟩ like fair fruit in an unwholesome dish,
FTLN 1337	Are like to rot untasted. Go and tell him
FTLN 1338	We come to speak with him; and you shall not sin
FTLN 1339	If you do say we think him overproud	130
FTLN 1340	And underhonest, in self-assumption greater
FTLN 1341	Than in the note of judgment; and worthier than
FTLN 1342	himself
FTLN 1343	Here tend the savage strangeness he puts on,
FTLN 1344	Disguise the holy strength of their command,	135
FTLN 1345	And underwrite in an observing kind
FTLN 1346	His humorous predominance—yea, watch
FTLN 1347	His course and time, his ebbs and flows, ⟨as⟩ if
FTLN 1348	The passage and whole ⟨carriage of this action⟩
FTLN 1349	Rode on his tide. Go tell him this, and add	140
FTLN 1350	That, if he overhold his price so much,
FTLN 1351	We'll none of him. But let him, like an engine
FTLN 1352	Not portable, lie under this report:
FTLN 1353	“Bring action hither; this cannot go to war.”
FTLN 1354	A stirring dwarf we do allowance give	145
FTLN 1355	Before a sleeping giant. Tell him so.
	PATROCLUS
FTLN 1356	I shall, and bring his answer presently.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 1357	In second voice we'll not be satisfied;
FTLN 1358	We come to speak with him.—Ulysses, ⟨enter you.⟩
	⟨ Ulysses exits, 「with Patroclus.」 ⟩
FTLN 1359	AJAX What is he more than another?	150
FTLN 1360	AGAMEMNON No more than what he thinks he is.
FTLN 1361	AJAX Is he so much? Do you not think he thinks himself
FTLN 1362	a better man than I am?
FTLN 1363	AGAMEMNON No question.
FTLN 1364	AJAX Will you subscribe his thought and say he is?	155
FTLN 1365	AGAMEMNON No, noble Ajax. You are as strong, as
FTLN 1366	valiant, as wise, no less noble, much more gentle,
FTLN 1367	and altogether more tractable.

FTLN 1368 AJAX Why should a man be proud? How doth pride
 FTLN 1369 grow? I know not what pride is. 160
 FTLN 1370 AGAMEMNON Your mind is the clearer, (Ajax,) and your FTLN 1371 virtues the fairer. He that is proud eats up himself.
 FTLN 1372 Pride is his own glass, his own trumpet, his own
 FTLN 1373 chronicle; and whatever praises itself but in the FTLN 1374 deed devours the deed in the praise. 165
 FTLN 1375 AJAX I do hate a proud man as I hate the engendering
 FTLN 1376 of toads.
 FTLN 1377 NESTOR, (aside)
 And yet he loves himself. Is 't not strange?

Enter Ulysses.

FTLN 1378 ULYSSES
 Achilles will not to the field tomorrow.
 FTLN 1379 AGAMEMNON
 What's his excuse? 170
 FTLN 1380 ULYSSES He doth rely on none,
 FTLN 1381 But carries on the stream of his dispose,
 FTLN 1382 Without observance or respect of any,
 FTLN 1383 In will peculiar and in self-admission.
 FTLN 1384 AGAMEMNON
 Why, will he not, upon our fair request, 175
 FTLN 1385 Untent his person and share th' air with us?
 FTLN 1386 ULYSSES
 Things small as nothing, for request's sake only,
 FTLN 1387 He makes important. Possessed he is with greatness
 FTLN 1388 And speaks not to himself but with a pride
 FTLN 1389 That quarrels at self-breath. Imagined worth 180
 FTLN 1390 Holds in his blood such swoll'n and hot discourse
 FTLN 1391 That 'twixt his mental and his active parts
 FTLN 1392 Kingdomed Achilles in commotion rages
 FTLN 1393 And batters down himself. What should I say?
 FTLN 1394 He is so plaguy proud that the death-tokens of it 185
 FTLN 1395 Cry "No recovery."
 FTLN 1396 AGAMEMNON Let Ajax go to him.—

FTLN 1397	Dear lord, go you and greet him in his tent.
FTLN 1398	'Tis said he holds you well and will be led
FTLN 1399	At your request a little from himself.	190
ULYSSES
FTLN 1400	O Agamemnon, let it not be so!
FTLN 1401	We'll consecrate the steps that Ajax makes
FTLN 1402	When they go from Achilles. Shall the proud lord
FTLN 1403	That bastes his arrogance with his own seam
FTLN 1404	And never suffers matter of the world	195
FTLN 1405	Enter his thoughts, save such as doth revolve
FTLN 1406	And ruminate himself—shall he be worshipped
FTLN 1407	Of that we hold an idol more than he?
FTLN 1408	No. This thrice-worthy and right valiant lord
FTLN 1409	Shall not so stale his palm, nobly acquired,	200
FTLN 1410	Nor, by my will, assubjugate his merit,
FTLN 1411	As amply ⟨titled⟩ as Achilles is,
FTLN 1412	By going to Achilles.
FTLN 1413	That were to enlard his fat-already pride
FTLN 1414	And add more coals to Cancer when he burns	205
FTLN 1415	With entertaining great Hyperion.
FTLN 1416	This lord go to him? Jupiter forbid
FTLN 1417	And say in thunder “Achilles, go to him.”
NESTOR, [aside to Diomedes]
FTLN 1418	O, this is well; he rubs the vein of him.
DIOMEDES, [aside to Nestor]
FTLN 1419	And how his silence drinks up ⟨this⟩ applause!	210
AJAX
FTLN 1420	If I go to him, with my armèd fist
FTLN 1421	I'll ⟨pash⟩ him o'er the face.
FTLN 1422	AGAMEMNON O, no, you shall not go.
AJAX
FTLN 1423	An he be proud with me, I'll feeze his pride.
FTLN 1424	Let me go to him.	215
ULYSSES
FTLN 1425	Not for the worth that hangs upon our quarrel.
FTLN 1426	AJAX A paltry, insolent fellow.

FTLN 1427 NESTOR, aside How he describes himself!

FTLN 1428 AJAX Can he not be sociable?

FTLN 1429 ULYSSES, aside The raven chides blackness. 220

FTLN 1430 AJAX I'll let his humorous blood.

FTLN 1431 AGAMEMNON, aside He will be the physician that

FTLN 1432 should be the patient.

FTLN 1433 AJAX An all men were of my mind—

FTLN 1434 ULYSSES, aside Wit would be out of fashion. 225

FTLN 1435 AJAX —he should not bear it so; he should eat swords

FTLN 1436 first. Shall pride carry it?

FTLN 1437 NESTOR, aside An 'twould, you'd carry half.

FTLN 1438 ULYSSES, aside He would have ten shares.

FTLN 1439 AJAX I will knead him; I'll make him supple. 230

FTLN 1440 NESTOR, aside He's not yet through warm. Force him

FTLN 1441 with praises. Pour in, pour in; his ambition is dry.

FTLN 1442 ULYSSES, to Agamemnon

My lord, you feed too much on this dislike.

FTLN 1443 NESTOR, to Agamemnon

Our noble general, do not do so.

FTLN 1444 DIOMEDES, to Agamemnon

You must prepare to fight without Achilles. 235

FTLN 1445 ULYSSES

Why, 'tis this naming of him does him harm.

FTLN 1446 Here is a man—but 'tis before his face;

FTLN 1447 I will be silent.

FTLN 1448 NESTOR Wherefore should you so?

FTLN 1449 He is not emulous, as Achilles is. 240

FTLN 1450 ULYSSES

Know the whole world, he is as valiant—

FTLN 1451 AJAX A whoreson dog, that shall palter with us thus!

FTLN 1452 Would he were a Trojan!

FTLN 1453 NESTOR What a vice were it in Ajax now—

FTLN 1454 ULYSSES If he were proud— 245

FTLN 1455 DIOMEDES Or covetous of praise—

FTLN 1456 ULYSSES Ay, or surly borne—

FTLN 1457 DIOMEDES Or strange, or self-affected—

ULYSSES, ['to Ajax']

FTLN 1458 Thank the heavens, lord, thou art of sweet
FTLN 1459 composure. 250

FTLN 1460 Praise him that gat thee, she that gave thee suck;
FTLN 1461 Famed be thy tutor, and thy parts of nature
FTLN 1462 Thrice famed beyond, ⟨beyond⟩ thy erudition;
FTLN 1463 But he that disciplined thine arms to fight,
FTLN 1464 Let Mars divide eternity in twain 255

FTLN 1465 And give him half; and for thy vigor,
FTLN 1466 Bull-bearing Milo his addition yield
FTLN 1467 To sinewy Ajax. I will not praise thy wisdom,
FTLN 1468 Which like a ⟨bourn,⟩ a pale, a shore confines
FTLN 1469 ⟨Thy⟩ spacious and dilated parts. Here's Nestor, 260

FTLN 1470 Instructed by the antiquary times;
FTLN 1471 He must, he is, he cannot but be wise.—
FTLN 1472 But pardon, father Nestor, were your days
FTLN 1473 As green as Ajax' and your brain so tempered,
FTLN 1474 You should not have the eminence of him, 265
FTLN 1475 But be as Ajax.

FTLN 1476 AJAX Shall I call you father?

NESTOR

FTLN 1477 Ay, my good son.

FTLN 1478 DIOMEDES Be ruled by him, Lord Ajax.

ULYSSES

FTLN 1479 There is no tarrying here; the hart Achilles 270
FTLN 1480 Keeps thicket. Please it our great general
FTLN 1481 To call together all his state of war.
FTLN 1482 Fresh kings are come to Troy. Tomorrow
FTLN 1483 We must with all our main of power stand fast.
FTLN 1484 And here's a lord—come knights from east to west 275
FTLN 1485 And ⟨cull⟩ their flower, Ajax shall cope the best.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 1486 Go we to council. Let Achilles sleep.

FTLN 1487 Light boats sail swift, though greater hulks draw deep.

They exit.

「ACT 3」

「Scene 1」

《Music sounds within.》 Enter Pandarus 「and Paris's
Servingman.」

FTLN 1488	PANDARUS	Friend, you, pray you, a word. Do you not
FTLN 1489		follow the young Lord Paris?
FTLN 1490	MAN	Ay, sir, when he goes before me.
FTLN 1491	PANDARUS	You depend upon him, I mean.
FTLN 1492	MAN	Sir, I do depend upon the Lord.	5
FTLN 1493	PANDARUS	You depend upon a notable gentleman. I
FTLN 1494		must needs praise him.
FTLN 1495	MAN	The Lord be praised!
FTLN 1496	PANDARUS	You know me, do you not?
FTLN 1497	MAN	Faith, sir, superficially.	10
FTLN 1498	PANDARUS	Friend, know me better. I am the Lord
FTLN 1499		Pandarus.
FTLN 1500	MAN	I hope I shall know your Honor better.
FTLN 1501	PANDARUS	I do desire it.
FTLN 1502	MAN	You are in the state of grace?	15
FTLN 1503	PANDARUS	Grace? Not so, friend. “Honor” and “Lordship”
FTLN 1504		are my titles. What music is this?
FTLN 1505	MAN	I do but partly know, sir. It is music in parts.
FTLN 1506	PANDARUS	Know you the musicians?
FTLN 1507	MAN	Wholly, sir.	20
FTLN 1508	PANDARUS	Who play they to?
FTLN 1509	MAN	To the hearers, sir.
FTLN 1510	PANDARUS	At whose pleasure, friend?

FTLN 1511 MAN At mine, sir, and theirs that love music.
 FTLN 1512 PANDARUS Command, I mean, ⟨friend.⟩ 25
 FTLN 1513 MAN Who shall I command, sir?
 FTLN 1514 PANDARUS Friend, we understand not one another. I
 FTLN 1515 am too courtly and thou ⟨art⟩ too cunning. At whose FTLN 1516 request do these men play?
 FTLN 1517 MAN That's to 't indeed, sir. Marry, sir, at the request of 30
 FTLN 1518 Paris my lord, who is there in person; with him the FTLN 1519 mortal Venus, the heart blood of beauty, love's 「visible」
 FTLN 1520 soul.
 FTLN 1521 PANDARUS Who, my cousin Cressida?
 FTLN 1522 MAN No, sir, Helen. Could not you find out that by her 35
 FTLN 1523 attributes?
 FTLN 1524 PANDARUS It should seem, fellow, ⟨that⟩ thou hast not
 FTLN 1525 seen the Lady Cressid. I come to speak with Paris
 FTLN 1526 from the Prince Troilus. I will make a complimentary
 FTLN 1527 assault upon him, for my business seethes. 40
 FTLN 1528 MAN Sodden business! There's a stewed phrase indeed.

Enter Paris and Helen 「with Attendants.」

FTLN 1529 PANDARUS Fair be to you, my lord, and to all this fair
 FTLN 1530 company! Fair desires in all fair measure fairly
 FTLN 1531 guide them!—Especially to you, fair queen, fair
 FTLN 1532 thoughts be your fair pillow! 45
 FTLN 1533 HELEN Dear lord, you are full of fair words.
 FTLN 1534 PANDARUS You speak your fair pleasure, sweet
 FTLN 1535 queen.—Fair prince, here is good broken music.
 FTLN 1536 PARIS You have broke it, cousin, and, by my life, you
 FTLN 1537 shall make it whole again; you shall piece it out 50
 FTLN 1538 with a piece of your performance.
 FTLN 1539 HELEN He is full of harmony.
 FTLN 1540 PANDARUS Truly, lady, no.
 FTLN 1541 HELEN O, sir—
 FTLN 1542 PANDARUS Rude, in sooth; in good sooth, very rude. 55
 FTLN 1543 PARIS Well said, my lord; well, you say so in fits.

FTLN 1544 PANDARUS I have business to my lord, dear queen.—
 FTLN 1545 My lord, will you vouchsafe me a word?
 FTLN 1546 HELEN Nay, this shall not hedge us out. We'll hear you
 FTLN 1547 sing, certainly. 60
 FTLN 1548 PANDARUS Well, sweet queen, you are pleasant with FTLN 1549 me.—But, marry, thus, my lord: my dear lord and
 FTLN 1550 most esteemed friend, your brother Troilus—
 FTLN 1551 HELEN My Lord Pandarus, honey-sweet lord—
 FTLN 1552 PANDARUS Go to, sweet queen, go to—commends himself 65
 FTLN 1553 most affectionately to you—
 FTLN 1554 HELEN You shall not bob us out of our melody. If you
 FTLN 1555 do, our melancholy upon your head!
 FTLN 1556 PANDARUS Sweet queen, sweet queen, that's a sweet
 FTLN 1557 queen, i' faith— 70
 FTLN 1558 HELEN And to make a sweet lady sad is a sour offence.
 FTLN 1559 PANDARUS Nay, that shall not serve your turn, that FTLN 1560 shall it not, in truth, la. Nay, I care not for such FTLN 1561 words, no, no.—And, my lord, he desires you that
 FTLN 1562 if the King call for him at supper, you will make his 75
 FTLN 1563 excuse.
 FTLN 1564 HELEN My Lord Pandarus—
 FTLN 1565 PANDARUS What says my sweet queen, my very, very FTLN 1566 sweet queen?
 FTLN 1567 PARIS What exploit's in hand? Where sups he tonight? 80
 FTLN 1568 HELEN Nay, but, my lord—
 FTLN 1569 PANDARUS What says my sweet queen? My cousin will FTLN 1570 fall out with you.
 FTLN 1571 HELEN, ['to Paris'] You must not know where he sups.
 FTLN 1572 PARIS I'll lay my life, with my disposer Cressida. 85
 FTLN 1573 PANDARUS No, no, no such matter; you are wide.
 FTLN 1574 Come, your disposer is sick.
 FTLN 1575 PARIS Well, I'll make 's excuse.
 FTLN 1576 PANDARUS Ay, good my lord. Why should you say Cressida?
 FTLN 1577 No, your poor disposer's sick. 90
 FTLN 1578 PARIS I spy.

FTLN 1579	PANDARUS	You spy? What do you spy?—Come, give me
FTLN 1580		an instrument. 「An Attendant gives him an instrument.」
FTLN 1581		Now, sweet queen.
FTLN 1582	HELEN	Why, this is kindly done.	95
FTLN 1583	PANDARUS	My niece is horribly in love with a thing you
FTLN 1584		have, sweet queen.
FTLN 1585	HELEN	She shall have it, my lord, if it be not my Lord
FTLN 1586		Paris.
FTLN 1587	PANDARUS	He? No, she'll none of him. They two are	100
FTLN 1588		twain.
FTLN 1589	HELEN	Falling in after falling out may make them
FTLN 1590		three.
FTLN 1591	PANDARUS	Come, come, I'll hear no more of this. I'll
FTLN 1592		sing you a song now.	105
FTLN 1593	HELEN	Ay, ay, prithee. Now, by my troth, sweet ⟨lord,⟩
FTLN 1594		thou hast a fine forehead.
FTLN 1595	PANDARUS	Ay, you may, you may.
FTLN 1596	HELEN	Let thy song be love. "This love will undo us all."
FTLN 1597		O Cupid, Cupid, Cupid!	110
FTLN 1598	PANDARUS	Love? Ay, that it shall, i' faith.
FTLN 1599	PARIS	Ay, good now, "Love, love, nothing but love."
FTLN 1600	PANDARUS	⟨In good troth, it begins so.⟩
FTLN 1601		Love, love, nothing but love, still love, still more!
FTLN 1602		For, O, love's bow	115
FTLN 1603		Shoots buck and doe.
FTLN 1604		The ⟨shaft confounds⟩
FTLN 1605		Not that it wounds
FTLN 1606		But tickles still the sore.
FTLN 1607		These lovers cry "O ho!" they die,	120
FTLN 1608		Yet that which seems the wound to kill
FTLN 1609		Doth turn "O ho!" to "Ha ha he!"
FTLN 1610		So dying love lives still.
FTLN 1611		"O ho!" awhile, but "Ha ha ha!"
FTLN 1612		"O ho!" groans out for "ha ha ha!"—Hey ho!	125

FTLN 1613 HELEN In love, i' faith, to the very tip of the nose.

FTLN 1614 PARIS He eats nothing but doves, love, and that breeds

FTLN 1615 hot blood, and hot blood begets hot thoughts, and

FTLN 1616 hot thoughts beget hot deeds, and hot deeds is love.

FTLN 1617 PANDARUS Is this the generation of love? Hot blood, 130

FTLN 1618 hot thoughts, and hot deeds? Why, they are vipers.

FTLN 1619 Is love a generation of vipers? Sweet lord, who's FTLN 1620 afield today?

FTLN 1621 PARIS Hector, Deiphobus, Helenus, Antenor, and all the

FTLN 1622 gallantry of Troy. I would fain have armed today, 135

FTLN 1623 but my Nell would not have it so. How chance my FTLN 1624 brother Troilus went not?

FTLN 1625 HELEN He hangs the lip at something.—You know all,

FTLN 1626 Lord Pandarus.

FTLN 1627 PANDARUS Not I, honey sweet queen. I long to hear how 140

FTLN 1628 they sped today.—You'll remember your brother's

FTLN 1629 excuse?

FTLN 1630 PARIS To a hair.

FTLN 1631 PANDARUS Farewell, sweet queen.

FTLN 1632 HELEN Commend me to your niece. 145

FTLN 1633 PANDARUS I will, sweet queen. 「He exits.」
Sound a retreat.

PARIS

FTLN 1634 «They're» come from the field. Let us to Priam's hall

FTLN 1635 To greet the warriors. Sweet Helen, I must woo you

FTLN 1636 To help unarm our Hector. His stubborn buckles,

FTLN 1637 With «these» your white enchanting fingers touched, 150

FTLN 1638 Shall more obey than to the edge of steel

FTLN 1639 Or force of Greekish sinews. You shall do more

FTLN 1640 Than all the island kings: disarm great Hector.

HELEN

FTLN 1641 'Twill make us proud to be his servant, Paris.

FTLN 1642 Yea, what he shall receive of us in duty 155

FTLN 1643 Gives us more palm in beauty than we have,

FTLN 1644 Yea, overshines ourself.

FTLN 1645 PARIS Sweet, above thought I love «thee.»
They exit.

「Scene 2」

Enter Pandarus & Troilus's Man, 「meeting.」

FTLN 1646 PANDARUS How now? Where's thy master? At my FTLN 1647 cousin Cressida's?
FTLN 1648 MAN No, sir, <he> stays for you to conduct him thither.

<Enter Troilus.>

FTLN 1649 PANDARUS O, here he comes.—How now, how now?
FTLN 1650 TROILUS, 「to his Man」 Sirrah, walk off. 「Man exits.」 5
FTLN 1651 PANDARUS Have you seen my cousin?
TROILUS
FTLN 1652 No, Pandarus. I stalk about her door
FTLN 1653 Like a strange soul upon the Stygian banks
FTLN 1654 Staying for waftage. O, be thou my Charon,
FTLN 1655 And give me swift transportance to <those> fields 10
FTLN 1656 Where I may wallow in the lily beds
FTLN 1657 Proposed for the deserver! O, gentle Pandar,
FTLN 1658 From Cupid's shoulder pluck his painted wings
FTLN 1659 And fly with me to Cressid!
FTLN 1660 PANDARUS Walk here i' th' orchard. I'll bring her 15
FTLN 1661 straight.

<Pandarus exits.>

TROILUS
FTLN 1662 I am giddy; expectation whirls me round.
FTLN 1663 Th' imaginary relish is so sweet
FTLN 1664 That it enchants my sense. What will it be
FTLN 1665 When that the wat'ry 「palate」 taste indeed 20
FTLN 1666 Love's thrice-repurèd nectar? Death, I fear me,
FTLN 1667 Swooning destruction, or some joy too fine,
FTLN 1668 Too subtle-potent, tuned too sharp in sweetness
FTLN 1669 For the capacity of my ruder powers.
FTLN 1670 I fear it much; and I do fear besides 25
FTLN 1671 That I shall lose distinction in my joys,
FTLN 1672 As doth a battle when they charge on heaps
FTLN 1673 The enemy flying.

⟨Enter Pandarus.⟩

FTLN 1674 PANDARUS She's making her ready; she'll come straight.
 FTLN 1675 You must be witty now. She does so blush and 30
 FTLN 1676 fetches her wind so short as if she were frayed with FTLN 1677 a spirit. I'll fetch her. It is the prettiest villain. She FTLN 1678 fetches her breath as short as a new-ta'en sparrow.

⟨Pandarus exits.⟩

TROILUS

FTLN 1679 Even such a passion doth embrace my bosom.
 FTLN 1680 My heart beats thicker than a feverous pulse, 35
 FTLN 1681 And all my powers do their bestowing lose,
 FTLN 1682 Like vassalage at ⟨unawares⟩ encount'ring
 FTLN 1683 The eye of majesty.

Enter Pandarus, and Cressida 「veiled.」

FTLN 1684 PANDARUS, 「to Cressida」 Come, come, what need you
 FTLN 1685 blush? Shame's a baby.—Here she is now. Swear 40
 FTLN 1686 the oaths now to her that you have sworn to me.
 FTLN 1687 「Cressida offers to leave.」 What, are you gone again?
 FTLN 1688 You must be watched ere you be made tame, must FTLN 1689 you? Come your ways; come your ways. An you
 FTLN 1690 draw backward, we'll put you i' th' 「thills.」—Why 45
 FTLN 1691 do you not speak to her?—Come, draw this curtain
 FTLN 1692 and let's see your picture. 「He draws back her veil.」
 FTLN 1693 Alas the day, how loath you are to offend daylight!
 FTLN 1694 An 'twere dark, you'd close sooner.—So, so, rub on,
 FTLN 1695 and kiss the mistress. (「They kiss.」) How now? A 50
 FTLN 1696 kiss in fee-farm? Build there, carpenter; the air is FTLN 1697 sweet. Nay, you shall fight your hearts out ere I
 FTLN 1698 part you. The falcon as the tercel, for all the ducks
 FTLN 1699 i' th' river. Go to, go to.

FTLN 1700 TROILUS You have bereft me of all words, lady. 55

FTLN 1701 PANDARUS Words pay no debts; give her deeds. But FTLN 1702 she'll bereave you o' th' deeds too, if she call your
 FTLN 1703 activity in question. (「They kiss.」) What, billing

FTLN 1704 again? Here's "In witness whereof the parties
 FTLN 1705 interchangeably—" Come in, come in. I'll go get a fire. 60
「Pandarus exits.」

FTLN 1706 CRESSIDA Will you walk in, my lord?
 FTLN 1707 TROILUS O Cressid, how often have I wished me thus!
 FTLN 1708 CRESSIDA "Wished," my lord? The gods grant—O, my FTLN 1709 lord!
 FTLN 1710 TROILUS What should they grant? What makes this 65
 FTLN 1711 pretty abruption? What too-curious dreg espies
 FTLN 1712 my sweet lady in the fountain of our love?
 FTLN 1713 CRESSIDA More dregs than water, if my 「fears」 have eyes.
 FTLN 1714 TROILUS Fears make devils of cherubins; they never
 FTLN 1715 see truly. 70
 FTLN 1716 CRESSIDA Blind fear, that seeing reason leads, finds
 FTLN 1717 safer footing than blind reason, stumbling without FTLN 1718 fear. To fear the worst oft cures the worse.
 FTLN 1719 TROILUS O, let my lady apprehend no fear. In all
 FTLN 1720 Cupid's pageant there is presented no monster. 75
 FTLN 1721 CRESSIDA Nor nothing monstrous neither?
 FTLN 1722 TROILUS Nothing but our undertakings, when we vow
 FTLN 1723 to weep seas, live in fire, eat rocks, tame tigers,
 FTLN 1724 thinking it harder for our mistress to devise imposition
 FTLN 1725 enough than for us to undergo any difficulty 80
 FTLN 1726 imposed. This ⟨is⟩ the monstrosity in love, lady, that FTLN 1727 the will is infinite and the execution confined, that FTLN 1728 the desire is boundless and the act a slave to limit.
 FTLN 1729 CRESSIDA They say all lovers swear more performance
 FTLN 1730 than they are able and yet reserve an ability that 85
 FTLN 1731 they never perform, vowing more than the perfection
 FTLN 1732 of ten and discharging less than the tenth part FTLN 1733 of one. They that have the voice of lions and the FTLN 1734 act of hares, are they not monsters?
 FTLN 1735 TROILUS Are there such? Such are not we. Praise us as 90
 FTLN 1736 we are tasted, allow us as we prove; our head shall FTLN 1737 go bare till merit ⟨crown it. No perfection⟩ in reversion
 FTLN 1738 shall have a praise in present. We will not

FTLN 1739 name desert before his birth, and, being born, his FTLN 1740 addition shall be humble. Few words to fair faith. 95
 FTLN 1741 Troilus shall be such to Cressid as what envy can FTLN 1742 say worst shall be a mock for his truth, and what
 FTLN 1743 truth can speak truest not truer than Troilus.
 FTLN 1744 CRESSIDA Will you walk in, my lord?

⟨Enter Pandarus.⟩

FTLN 1745 PANDARUS What, blushing still? Have you not done 100
 FTLN 1746 talking yet?
 FTLN 1747 CRESSIDA Well, uncle, what folly I commit I dedicate
 FTLN 1748 to you.
 FTLN 1749 PANDARUS I thank you for that. If my lord get a boy of FTLN 1750 you, you'll give him me. Be true to my lord. If he 105
 FTLN 1751 flinch, chide me for it.
 FTLN 1752 TROILUS, [to Cressida] You know now your hostages:
 FTLN 1753 your uncle's word and my firm faith.
 FTLN 1754 PANDARUS Nay, I'll give my word for her too. Our kindred,
 FTLN 1755 though they be long ere they be wooed, they 110
 FTLN 1756 are constant being won. They are burrs, I can tell
 FTLN 1757 you; they'll stick where they are thrown.
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 1758 Boldness comes to me now and brings me heart.
 FTLN 1759 Prince Troilus, I have loved you night and day
 FTLN 1760 For many weary months. 115
 TROILUS
 FTLN 1761 Why was my Cressid then so hard to win?
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 1762 Hard to seem won; but I was won, my lord,
 FTLN 1763 With the first glance that ever—pardon me;
 FTLN 1764 If I confess much, you will play the tyrant.
 FTLN 1765 I love you now, but till now not so much 120
 FTLN 1766 But I might master it. In faith, I lie;
 FTLN 1767 My thoughts were like unbridled children grown
 FTLN 1768 Too headstrong for their mother. See, we fools!
 FTLN 1769 Why have I blabbed? Who shall be true to us

FTLN 1770	When we are so unsecret to ourselves?	125
FTLN 1771	But though I loved you well, I wooed you not;
FTLN 1772	And yet, good faith, I wished myself a man;
FTLN 1773	Or that we women had men's privilege
FTLN 1774	Of speaking first. Sweet, bid me hold my tongue,
FTLN 1775	For in this rapture I shall surely speak	130
FTLN 1776	The thing I shall repent. See, see, your silence,
FTLN 1777	‘Cunning’ in dumbness, from my weakness draws
FTLN 1778	My very soul of counsel! Stop my mouth.
	TROILUS
FTLN 1779	And shall, albeit sweet music issues thence.
	‘They kiss.’
FTLN 1780	PANDARUS Pretty, i’ faith!	135
	CRESSIDA, ‘to Troilus’
FTLN 1781	My lord, I do beseech you pardon me.
FTLN 1782	’Twas not my purpose thus to beg a kiss.
FTLN 1783	I am ashamed. O heavens, what have I done!
FTLN 1784	For this time will I take my leave, my lord.
FTLN 1785	TROILUS Your leave, sweet Cressid?	140
FTLN 1786	PANDARUS Leave? An you take leave till tomorrow
FTLN 1787	morning—
FTLN 1788	CRESSIDA Pray you, content you.
FTLN 1789	TROILUS What offends you, lady?
FTLN 1790	CRESSIDA Sir, mine own company.	145
FTLN 1791	TROILUS You cannot shun yourself.
FTLN 1792	CRESSIDA Let me go and try.
FTLN 1793	I have a kind of self resides with you,
FTLN 1794	But an unkind self that itself will leave
FTLN 1795	To be another’s fool. I would be gone.	150
FTLN 1796	Where is my wit? I know not what I speak.
	TROILUS
FTLN 1797	Well know they what they speak that speak so wisely.
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 1798	Perchance, my lord, I show more craft than love
FTLN 1799	And fell so roundly to a large confession
FTLN 1800	To angle for your thoughts. But you are wise,	155

FTLN 1801 Or else you love not; for to be wise and love
 FTLN 1802 Exceeds man's might. That dwells with gods above.

TROILUS

FTLN 1803 O, that I thought it could be in a woman—
 FTLN 1804 As, if it can, I will presume in you—
 FTLN 1805 To feed for ⟨aye⟩ her lamp and flames of love, 160
 FTLN 1806 To keep her constancy in plight and youth,
 FTLN 1807 Outliving beauty's outward, with a mind
 FTLN 1808 That doth renew swifter than blood decays!
 FTLN 1809 Or that persuasion could but thus convince me
 FTLN 1810 That my integrity and truth to you 165
 FTLN 1811 Might be affronted with the match and weight
 FTLN 1812 Of such a winnowed purity in love;
 FTLN 1813 How were I then uplifted! But, alas,
 FTLN 1814 I am as true as truth's simplicity
 FTLN 1815 And simpler than the infancy of truth. 170

CRESSIDA

FTLN 1816 In that I'll war with you.

FTLN 1817 TROILUS O virtuous fight,
 FTLN 1818 When right with right wars who shall be most right!
 FTLN 1819 True swains in love shall in the world to come
 FTLN 1820 Approve their truth by Troilus. When their rhymes, 175
 FTLN 1821 Full of protest, of oath and big compare,
 FTLN 1822 Wants similes, truth tired with iteration—
 FTLN 1823 “As true as steel, as plantage to the moon,
 FTLN 1824 As sun to day, as turtle to her mate,
 FTLN 1825 As iron to adamant, as Earth to th' center”— 180
 FTLN 1826 ⟨Yet,⟩ after all comparisons of truth,
 FTLN 1827 As truth's authentic author to be cited,
 FTLN 1828 “As true as Troilus” shall crown up the verse
 FTLN 1829 And sanctify the numbers.

FTLN 1830 CRESSIDA Prophet may you be! 185
 FTLN 1831 If I be false or swerve a hair from truth,
 FTLN 1832 When time is old ⟨and⟩ hath forgot itself,
 FTLN 1833 When water drops have worn the stones of Troy
 FTLN 1834 And blind oblivion swallowed cities up,

FTLN 1835 And mighty states characterless are grated 190
 FTLN 1836 To dusty nothing, yet let memory,
 FTLN 1837 From false to false, among false maids in love,
 FTLN 1838 Upbraid my falsehood! When they've said "as false
 FTLN 1839 As air, as water, wind or sandy earth,
 FTLN 1840 As fox to lamb, or wolf to heifer's calf, 195
 FTLN 1841 Pard to the hind, or stepdame to her son,"
 FTLN 1842 Yea, let them say, to stick the heart of falsehood,
 FTLN 1843 "As false as Cressid."
 FTLN 1844 PANDARUS Go to, a bargain made. Seal it, seal it. I'll be FTLN 1845 the witness. Here I hold your hand, here my 200
 FTLN 1846 cousin's. If ever you prove false one to another, since
 FTLN 1847 I have taken such ⟨pains⟩ to bring you together, let FTLN 1848 all pitiful goers-between be called to the world's FTLN 1849 end after my name: call them all panders. Let all
 FTLN 1850 constant men be Troiluses, all false women Cressids, 205
 FTLN 1851 and all brokers-between panders. Say "Amen."
 FTLN 1852 TROILUS Amen.
 FTLN 1853 CRESSIDA Amen.
 FTLN 1854 PANDARUS Amen. Whereupon I will show you a chamber
 FTLN 1855 「with a bed,」 which bed, because it shall not 210
 FTLN 1856 speak of your pretty encounters, press it to death.
 FTLN 1857 Away. 「Troilus and Cressida」 exit.
 FTLN 1858 And Cupid grant all tongue-tied maidens here
 FTLN 1859 Bed, chamber, pander to provide this gear.

He exits.

「Scene 3」

⟨Flourish.⟩ Enter Ulysses, Diomedes, Nestor, Agamemnon, Calchas, ⟨Menelaus,⟩ 「and Ajax.」

CALCHAS

FTLN 1860 Now, princes, for the service I have done ⟨you,⟩
 FTLN 1861 Th' advantage of the time prompts me aloud
 FTLN 1862 To call for recompense. Appear it to ⟨your⟩ mind

FTLN 1863	That, through the sight I bear in things to 'come,
FTLN 1864	I have abandoned Troy, left my 'possessions,	5
FTLN 1865	Incurred a traitor's name, exposed myself,
FTLN 1866	From certain and possessed conveniences,
FTLN 1867	To doubtful fortunes, sequest'ring from me all
FTLN 1868	That time, acquaintance, custom, and condition
FTLN 1869	Made tame and most familiar to my nature,	10
FTLN 1870	And here, to do you service, am become
FTLN 1871	As new into the world, strange, unacquainted.
FTLN 1872	I do beseech you, as in way of taste,
FTLN 1873	To give me now a little benefit
FTLN 1874	Out of those many regist'ed in promise,	15
FTLN 1875	Which you say live to come in my behalf.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 1876	What wouldst thou of us, Trojan, make demand?
	CALCHAS
FTLN 1877	You have a Trojan prisoner called Antenor
FTLN 1878	Yesterday took. Troy holds him very dear.
FTLN 1879	Oft have you—often have you thanks therefor—	20
FTLN 1880	Desired my Cressid in right great exchange,
FTLN 1881	Whom Troy hath still denied; but this Antenor,
FTLN 1882	I know, is such a wrest in their affairs
FTLN 1883	That their negotiations all must slack,
FTLN 1884	Wanting his manage; and they will almost	25
FTLN 1885	Give us a prince of blood, a son of Priam,
FTLN 1886	In change of him. Let him be sent, great princes,
FTLN 1887	And he shall buy my daughter; and her presence
FTLN 1888	Shall quite strike off all service I have done
FTLN 1889	In most accepted pain.	30
FTLN 1890	AGAMEMNON	Let Diomedes bear him,
FTLN 1891	And bring us Cressid hither. Calchas shall have
FTLN 1892	What he requests of us. Good Diomed,
FTLN 1893	Furnish you fairly for this interchange.
FTLN 1894	Withal, bring word if Hector will tomorrow	35
FTLN 1895	Be answered in his challenge. Ajax is ready.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 1896 This shall I undertake, and 'tis a burden
 FTLN 1897 Which I am proud to bear. He exits 「with Calchas.」

Achilles and Patroclus stand in their tent.

ULYSSES

FTLN 1898 Achilles stands i' th' entrance of his tent.
 FTLN 1899 Please it our General pass strangely by him 40
 FTLN 1900 As if he were forgot, and, princes all,
 FTLN 1901 Lay negligent and loose regard upon him.
 FTLN 1902 I will come last. 'Tis like he'll question me
 FTLN 1903 Why such unplausible eyes are bent, why turned on FTLN 1904 him. 45
 FTLN 1905 If so, I have derision medicinable
 FTLN 1906 To use between your strangeness and his pride,
 FTLN 1907 Which his own will shall have desire to drink.
 FTLN 1908 It may do good; pride hath no other glass
 FTLN 1909 To show itself but pride, for supple knees 50
 FTLN 1910 Feed arrogance and are the proud man's fees.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 1911 We'll execute your purpose and put on FTLN 1912 A form of strangeness as we pass along;
 FTLN 1913 So do each lord, and either greet him not
 FTLN 1914 Or else disdainfully, which shall shake him more 55
 FTLN 1915 Than if not looked on. I will lead the way.

「They pass before Achilles and Patroclus. Ulysses remains in place, reading.」

ACHILLES

FTLN 1916 What, comes the General to speak with me?
 FTLN 1917 You know my mind: I'll fight no more 'gainst Troy.

AGAMEMNON, 「to Nestor」

FTLN 1918 What says Achilles? Would he aught with us?

NESTOR, 「to Achilles」

FTLN 1919 Would you, my lord, aught with the General? 60

FTLN 1920 ACHILLES No.

FTLN 1921	NESTOR	Nothing, my lord.
FTLN 1922	AGAMEMNON	The better. 「Agamemnon and Nestor exit.」
FTLN 1923	ACHILLES, 「to Menelaus」	Good day, good day.
FTLN 1924	MENELAUS	How do you? How do you? 「He exits.」	65
FTLN 1925	ACHILLES	What, does the cuckold scorn me?
FTLN 1926	AJAX	How now, Patroclus?
FTLN 1927	ACHILLES	Good morrow, Ajax.
FTLN 1928	AJAX	Ha?
FTLN 1929	ACHILLES	Good morrow.	70
FTLN 1930	AJAX	Ay, and good next day too. 「He exits.」
	ACHILLES
FTLN 1931		What mean these fellows? Know they not Achilles?
	PATROCLUS
FTLN 1932		They pass by strangely. They were used to bend,
FTLN 1933		To send their smiles before them to Achilles,
FTLN 1934		To come as humbly as they 「use」 to creep	75
FTLN 1935		To holy altars.
FTLN 1936	ACHILLES	What, am I poor of late?
FTLN 1937		'Tis certain, greatness, once fall'n out with Fortune,
FTLN 1938		Must fall out with men too. What the declined is
FTLN 1939		He shall as soon read in the eyes of others	80
FTLN 1940		As feel in his own fall, for men, like butterflies,
FTLN 1941		Show not their mealy wings but to the summer,
FTLN 1942		And not a man, for being simply man,
FTLN 1943		Hath any honor, but honor for those honors
FTLN 1944		That are without him—as place, riches, and favor,	85
FTLN 1945		Prizes of accident as oft as merit,
FTLN 1946		Which, when they fall, as being slippery slanders,
FTLN 1947		The love that leaned on them, as slippery too,
FTLN 1948		Doth one pluck down another and together
FTLN 1949		Die in the fall. But 'tis not so with me.	90
FTLN 1950		Fortune and I are friends. I do enjoy,
FTLN 1951		At ample point, all that I did possess,
FTLN 1952		Save these men's looks, who do, methinks, find out
FTLN 1953		Something not worth in me such rich beholding

FTLN 1954	As they have often given. Here is Ulysses.	95
FTLN 1955	I'll interrupt his reading.—How now, Ulysses?
FTLN 1956	ULYSSES Now, great Thetis' son—
FTLN 1957	ACHILLES What are you reading?
FTLN 1958	ULYSSES A strange fellow here
FTLN 1959	Writes me that man, how dearly ever parted,	100
FTLN 1960	How much in having, or without or in,
FTLN 1961	Cannot make boast to have that which he hath,
FTLN 1962	Nor feels not what he owes, but by reflection;
FTLN 1963	As when his virtues, ⟨shining⟩ upon others,
FTLN 1964	Heat them, and they retort that heat again	105
FTLN 1965	To the first ⟨giver.⟩
FTLN 1966	ACHILLES This is not strange, Ulysses.
FTLN 1967	The beauty that is borne here in the face
FTLN 1968	The bearer knows not, but commends itself
FTLN 1969	[To others' eyes; nor doth the eye itself,	110
FTLN 1970	That most pure spirit of sense, behold itself,]
FTLN 1971	Not going from itself, but eye to eye opposed
FTLN 1972	Salutes each other with each other's form.
FTLN 1973	For speculation turns not to itself
FTLN 1974	Till it hath traveled and is 「mirrored」 there	115
FTLN 1975	Where it may see itself. This is not strange at all.
	ULYSSES
FTLN 1976	I do not strain at the position—
FTLN 1977	It is familiar—but at the author's drift,
FTLN 1978	Who in his circumstance expressly proves
FTLN 1979	That no man is the lord of anything—	120
FTLN 1980	Though in and of him there be much consisting—
FTLN 1981	Till he communicate his parts to others;
FTLN 1982	Nor doth he of himself know them for aught
FTLN 1983	Till he behold them formed in the applause
FTLN 1984	Where they're extended; who, like an arch, reverb'rate	125
FTLN 1985	The voice again or, like a gate of steel
FTLN 1986	Fronting the sun, receives and renders back
FTLN 1987	His figure and his heat. I was much rapt in this
FTLN 1988	And apprehended here immediately

FTLN 1989	Th' unknown Ajax. Heavens, what a man is there!	130
FTLN 1990	A very horse, that has he knows not what!
FTLN 1991	Nature, what things there are
FTLN 1992	Most ⟨abject⟩ in regard, and dear in use,
FTLN 1993	What things again most dear in the esteem
FTLN 1994	And poor in worth! Now shall we see tomorrow—	135
FTLN 1995	An act that very chance doth throw upon him—
FTLN 1996	Ajax renowned. O, heavens, what some men do
FTLN 1997	While some men leave to do!
FTLN 1998	How some men creep in skittish Fortune's hall,
FTLN 1999	Whiles others play the idiots in her eyes!	140
FTLN 2000	How one man eats into another's pride,
FTLN 2001	While pride is fasting in his wantonness!
FTLN 2002	To see these Grecian lords—why, even already
FTLN 2003	They clap the lubber Ajax on the shoulder
FTLN 2004	As if his foot were on brave Hector's breast	145
FTLN 2005	And great Troy shrieking.
ACHILLES
FTLN 2006	I do believe it, for they passed by me
FTLN 2007	As misers do by beggars, neither gave to me
FTLN 2008	Good word nor look. What, are my deeds forgot?
ULYSSES
FTLN 2009	Time hath, my lord, a wallet at his back	150
FTLN 2010	Wherein he puts alms for oblivion,
FTLN 2011	A great-sized monster of ingritudes.
FTLN 2012	Those scraps are good deeds past, which are devoured
FTLN 2013	As fast as they are made, forgot as soon
FTLN 2014	As done. Perseverance, dear my lord,	155
FTLN 2015	Keeps honor bright. To have done is to hang
FTLN 2016	Quite out of fashion like a rusty 'mail'
FTLN 2017	In monumental mock'ry. Take the instant way,
FTLN 2018	For honor travels in a strait so narrow
FTLN 2019	Where one but goes abreast. Keep, then, the path,	160
FTLN 2020	For Emulation hath a thousand sons
FTLN 2021	That one by one pursue. If you give way
FTLN 2022	Or turn aside from the direct forthright,

FTLN 2023	Like to an entered tide they all rush by
FTLN 2024	And leave you ⟨hindmost;⟩	165
FTLN 2025	Or, like a gallant horse fall'n in first rank,
FTLN 2026	Lie there for pavement to the abject 「rear,」
FTLN 2027	O'errun and trampled on.⟩ Then what they do in
FTLN 2028	present,
FTLN 2029	Though less than yours in ⟨past,⟩ must o'ertop yours;	170
FTLN 2030	For Time is like a fashionable host
FTLN 2031	That slightly shakes his parting guest by th' hand
FTLN 2032	And, with his arms outstretched as he would fly,
FTLN 2033	Grasps in the comer. Welcome ever smiles,
FTLN 2034	And Farewell goes out sighing. Let not virtue seek	175
FTLN 2035	Remuneration for the thing it was,
FTLN 2036	For beauty, wit,
FTLN 2037	High birth, vigor of bone, desert in service,
FTLN 2038	Love, friendship, charity are subjects all
FTLN 2039	To envious and calumniating Time.	180
FTLN 2040	One touch of nature makes the whole world kin,
FTLN 2041	That all, with one consent, praise newborn gauds,
FTLN 2042	Though they are made and molded of things past,
FTLN 2043	And 「give」 to dust that is a little guilt
FTLN 2044	More laud than guilt o'erduced.	185
FTLN 2045	The present eye praises the present object.
FTLN 2046	Then marvel not, thou great and complete man,
FTLN 2047	That all the Greeks begin to worship Ajax,
FTLN 2048	Since things in motion sooner catch the eye
FTLN 2049	⟨Than⟩ what stirs not. The cry went once on thee,	190
FTLN 2050	And still it might, and yet it may again,
FTLN 2051	If thou wouldst not entomb thyself alive
FTLN 2052	And case thy reputation in thy tent,
FTLN 2053	Whose glorious deeds but in these fields of late
FTLN 2054	Made emulous missions 'mongst the gods themselves	195
FTLN 2055	And drave great Mars to faction.
FTLN 2056	ACHILLES	Of this my privacy,
FTLN 2057	I have strong reasons.
FTLN 2058	ULYSSES	But 'gainst your privacy

FTLN 2091 Shall from your neck unloose his amorous fold

FTLN 2092 And, like ⟨a⟩ dewdrop from the lion's mane,
 FTLN 2093 Be shook to air.

FTLN 2094 ACHILLES Shall Ajax fight with Hector? 235
 PATROCLUS

FTLN 2095 Ay, and perhaps receive much honor by him.
 ACHILLES

FTLN 2096 I see my reputation is at stake;
 FTLN 2097 My fame is shrewdly gored.

FTLN 2098 PATROCLUS O, then, beware!
 FTLN 2099 Those wounds heal ill that men do give themselves. 240
 FTLN 2100 Omission to do what is necessary
 FTLN 2101 Seals a commission to a blank of danger,
 FTLN 2102 And danger, like an ague, subtly taints
 FTLN 2103 Even then when they sit idly in the sun.

ACHILLES

FTLN 2104 Go call Thersites hither, sweet Patroclus. 245
 FTLN 2105 I'll send the fool to Ajax and desire him
 FTLN 2106 T' invite the Trojan lords after the combat
 FTLN 2107 To see us here unarmed. I have a woman's longing,
 FTLN 2108 An appetite that I am sick withal,
 FTLN 2109 To see great Hector in his weeds of peace, 250
 FTLN 2110 To talk with him, and to behold his visage,
 FTLN 2111 Even to my full of view.

Enter Thersites.

FTLN 2112 A labor saved.

FTLN 2113 THERSITES A wonder!
 FTLN 2114 ACHILLES What? 255
 FTLN 2115 THERSITES Ajax goes up and down the field, asking for FTLN 2116 himself.

FTLN 2117 ACHILLES How so?

FTLN 2118 THERSITES He must fight singly tomorrow with Hector
 FTLN 2119 and is so prophetically proud of an heroical cudgeling 260
 FTLN 2120 that he raves in saying nothing.

FTLN 2121 ACHILLES How can that be?

FTLN 2122 THERSITES Why, he stalks up and down like a peacock—
 FTLN 2123 a stride and a stand; ruminates like an hostess
 FTLN 2124 that hath no arithmetic but her brain to set 265
 FTLN 2125 down her reckoning; bites his lip with a politic regard,
 FTLN 2126 as who should say “There were wit in this FTLN 2127 head an ’twould out”—and so there is, but it lies
 FTLN 2128 as coldly in him as fire in a flint, which will not FTLN 2129 show without knocking. The man’s undone forever, 270
 FTLN 2130 for if Hector break not his neck i’ th’ combat,
 FTLN 2131 he’ll break ’t himself in vainglory. He knows not
 FTLN 2132 me. I said “Good morrow, Ajax,” and he replies
 FTLN 2133 “Thanks, Agamemnon.” What think you of this FTLN 2134 man that takes me for the General? He’s grown a 275
 FTLN 2135 very land-fish, languageless, a monster. A plague of FTLN 2136 opinion! A man may wear it on both sides, like a
 FTLN 2137 leather jerkin.

FTLN 2138 ACHILLES Thou must be my ambassador ⟨to him,⟩
 FTLN 2139 Thersites. 280

FTLN 2140 THERSITES Who, I? Why, he’ll answer nobody. He professes
 FTLN 2141 not answering; speaking is for beggars; he FTLN 2142 wears his tongue in ’s arms. I will put on his presence.
 FTLN 2143 Let Patroclus make ⟨his⟩ demands to me. You
 FTLN 2144 shall see the pageant of Ajax. 285

FTLN 2145 ACHILLES To him, Patroclus. Tell him I humbly desire
 FTLN 2146 the valiant Ajax to invite the ⟨most⟩ valorous Hector
 FTLN 2147 to come unarmed to my tent, and to procure safe-conduct
 FTLN 2148 for his person of the magnanimous and
 FTLN 2149 most illustrious, six-or-seven-times-honored captain 290
 FTLN 2150 general of the ⟨Grecian⟩ army, Agamemnon,
 FTLN 2151 ⟨et cetera.⟩ Do this.

FTLN 2152 PATROCLUS, [to Thersites, who is playing Ajax] Jove
 FTLN 2153 bless great Ajax.

FTLN 2154 THERSITES Hum! 295

FTLN 2155 PATROCLUS I come from the worthy Achilles—
 FTLN 2156 THERSITES Ha?

FTLN 2157	PATROCLUS	Who most humbly desires you to invite
FTLN 2158		Hector to his tent—
FTLN 2159	THERSITES	Hum!	300
FTLN 2160	PATROCLUS	And to procure safe-conduct from
FTLN 2161		Agamemnon.
FTLN 2162	THERSITES	Agamemnon?
FTLN 2163	PATROCLUS	Ay, my lord.
FTLN 2164	THERSITES	Ha!	305
FTLN 2165	PATROCLUS	What say you to 't?
FTLN 2166	THERSITES	God b' wi' you, with all my heart.
FTLN 2167	PATROCLUS	Your answer, sir.
FTLN 2168	THERSITES	If tomorrow be a fair day, by eleven of the
FTLN 2169		clock it will go one way or other. Howsoever, he	310
FTLN 2170		shall pay for me ere he has me.
FTLN 2171	PATROCLUS	Your answer, sir.
FTLN 2172	THERSITES	Fare you well with all my heart.
		「He pretends to exit.」
FTLN 2173	ACHILLES	Why, but he is not in this tune, is he?
FTLN 2174	THERSITES	No, but ⟨he's⟩ out of tune thus. What music	315
FTLN 2175		will be in him when Hector has knocked out his
FTLN 2176		brains I know not. But I am sure none, unless the
FTLN 2177		fiddler Apollo get his sinews to make catlings on.
FTLN 2178	ACHILLES	Come, thou shalt bear a letter to him
FTLN 2179		straight.	320
FTLN 2180	THERSITES	Let me bear another to his horse, for that's
FTLN 2181		the more capable creature.
	ACHILLES
FTLN 2182		My mind is troubled, like a fountain stirred,
FTLN 2183		And I myself see not the bottom of it.
		「Achilles and Patroclus exit.」
FTLN 2184	THERSITES	Would the fountain of your mind were clear	325
FTLN 2185		again, that I might water an ass at it. I had rather
FTLN 2186		be a tick in a sheep than such a valiant ignorance.
		「He exits.」

「ACT 4」

「Scene 1」

Enter at one door Aeneas 「with a Torchbearer,」 at another Paris, Deiphobus, Antenor, Diomedes 「and Grecians」 with torches.

FTLN 2187 PARIS See, ho! Who is that there?
FTLN 2188 DEIPHOBUS It is the Lord Aeneas.
FTLN 2189 AENEAS Is the Prince there in person?—
FTLN 2190 Had I so good occasion to lie long
FTLN 2191 As 〈you,〉 Prince Paris, nothing but heavenly business 5
FTLN 2192 Should rob my bedmate of my company.
DIOMEDES
FTLN 2193 That's my mind too.—Good morrow, Lord Aeneas.
PARIS
FTLN 2194 A valiant Greek, Aeneas; take his hand.
FTLN 2195 Witness the process of your speech, wherein
FTLN 2196 You told how Diomed a whole week by days 10
FTLN 2197 Did haunt you in the field.
FTLN 2198 AENEAS Health to you, valiant sir,
FTLN 2199 During all question of the gentle truce;
FTLN 2200 But when I meet you armed, as black defiance
FTLN 2201 As heart can think or courage execute. 15
DIOMEDES
FTLN 2202 The one and other Diomed embraces.
FTLN 2203 Our bloods are now in calm, and, so long, health;
FTLN 2204 〈But〉 when contention and occasion meet,

FTLN 2205	By Jove, I'll play the hunter for thy life
FTLN 2206	With all my force, pursuit, and policy.	20
	AENEAS
FTLN 2207	And thou shalt hunt a lion that will fly
FTLN 2208	With his face backward. In human gentleness,
FTLN 2209	Welcome to Troy. Now, by Anchises' life,
FTLN 2210	Welcome indeed. By Venus' hand I swear
FTLN 2211	No man alive can love in such a sort	25
FTLN 2212	The thing he means to kill more excellently.
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 2213	We sympathize. Jove, let Aeneas live,
FTLN 2214	If to my sword his fate be not the glory,
FTLN 2215	A thousand complete courses of the sun!
FTLN 2216	But in mine emulous honor let him die	30
FTLN 2217	With every joint a wound and that tomorrow.
FTLN 2218	AENEAS We know each other well.
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 2219	We do, and long to know each other worse.
	PARIS
FTLN 2220	This is the most spiteful gentle greeting,
FTLN 2221	The noblest hateful love, that e'er I heard of.	35
FTLN 2222	「 To Aeneas. 」 What business, lord, so early?
	AENEAS
FTLN 2223	I was sent for to the King, but why I know not.
	PARIS
FTLN 2224	His purpose meets you. 'Twas to bring this Greek
FTLN 2225	To Calchas' house, and there to render him,
FTLN 2226	For the enfried Antenor, the fair Cressid.	40
FTLN 2227	Let's have your company, or, if you please,
FTLN 2228	Haste there before us. (「 Aside to Aeneas. 」) I constantly
FTLN 2229	believe—
FTLN 2230	Or, rather, call my thought a certain knowledge—
FTLN 2231	My brother Troilus lodges there tonight.	45
FTLN 2232	Rouse him, and give him note of our approach,
FTLN 2233	With the whole quality ⟨whereof.⟩ I fear
FTLN 2234	We shall be much unwelcome.

FTLN 2235	AENEAS, 「aside to Paris」	That I assure you.
FTLN 2236		Troilus had rather Troy were borne to Greece	50
FTLN 2237		Than Cressid borne from Troy.
FTLN 2238	PARIS, 「aside to Aeneas」	There is no help.
FTLN 2239		The bitter disposition of the time
FTLN 2240		Will have it so.—On, lord, we'll follow you.
FTLN 2241	AENEAS	Good morrow, all.	55
		⟨Aeneas exits 「with the Torchbearer.」⟩
	PARIS
FTLN 2242		And tell me, noble Diomed, faith, tell me true,
FTLN 2243		Even in ⟨the⟩ soul of sound good-fellowship,
FTLN 2244		Who, in your thoughts, deserves fair Helen best,
FTLN 2245		Myself or Menelaus?
FTLN 2246	DIOMEDES	Both alike.	60
FTLN 2247		He merits well to have her that doth seek her,
FTLN 2248		Not making any scruple of her ⟨soilure,⟩
FTLN 2249		With such a hell of pain and world of charge;
FTLN 2250		And you as well to keep her that defend her,
FTLN 2251		Not palating the taste of her dishonor,	65
FTLN 2252		With such a costly loss of wealth and friends.
FTLN 2253		He, like a puling cuckold, would drink up
FTLN 2254		The lees and dregs of a flat tamèd piece;
FTLN 2255		You, like a lecher, out of whorish loins
FTLN 2256		Are pleased to breed out your inheritors.	70
FTLN 2257		Both merits poised, each weighs nor less nor more;
FTLN 2258		But he as he, the heavier for a whore.
	PARIS
FTLN 2259		You are too bitter to your countrywoman.
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 2260		She's bitter to her country. Hear me, Paris:
FTLN 2261		For every false drop in her bawdy veins	75
FTLN 2262		A Grecian's life hath sunk; for every scruple
FTLN 2263		Of her contaminated carrion weight
FTLN 2264		A Trojan hath been slain. Since she could speak,
FTLN 2265		She hath not given so many good words breath
FTLN 2266		As for her Greeks and Trojans suffered death.	80

PARIS

FTLN 2267 Fair Diomed, you do as chapmen do,
 FTLN 2268 Dispraise the thing that they desire to buy.
 FTLN 2269 But we in silence hold this virtue well:
 FTLN 2270 We'll not commend *¶*that not[¶] intend to sell.
 FTLN 2271 Here lies our way.

*They exit.¶*Scene 2[¶]Enter Troilus and Cressida.

TROILUS

FTLN 2272 Dear, trouble not yourself. The morn is cold.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2273 Then, sweet my lord, I'll call mine uncle down.
 FTLN 2274 He shall unbolt the gates.

TROILUS

Trouble him not.

FTLN 2276 To bed, to bed! Sleep kill those pretty eyes
 FTLN 2277 And give as soft attachment to thy senses
 FTLN 2278 As infants' empty of all thought!

5

FTLN 2279 Good morrow, then.

TROILUS

I prithee now, to bed.

FTLN 2281 CRESSIDA Are you aweary of me?

10

TROILUS

FTLN 2282 O Cressida! But that the busy day,
 FTLN 2283 Waked by the lark, hath roused the ribald crows,
 FTLN 2284 And dreaming night will hide our joys no longer,
 FTLN 2285 I would not from thee.

CRESSIDA

Night hath been too brief.

15

TROILUS

FTLN 2287 Beshrew the witch! With venomous wights she stays
 FTLN 2288 As tediously as hell, but flies the grasps of love
 FTLN 2289 With wings more momentary-swift than thought.
 FTLN 2290 You will catch cold and curse me.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2291 Prithee, tarry. You men will never tarry. 20
 FTLN 2292 O foolish Cressid! I might have still held off,
 FTLN 2293 And then you would have tarried. Hark, there's one up.
 FTLN 2294 PANDARUS, ⟨within⟩ What's all the doors open here?
 FTLN 2295 TROILUS It is your uncle.
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 2296 A pestilence on him! Now will he be mocking. 25
 FTLN 2297 I shall have such a life!

⟨Enter Pandarus.⟩

FTLN 2298 PANDARUS How now, how now? How go maidenheads?
 FTLN 2299 Here, you maid! Where's my Cousin Cressid?
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 2300 Go hang yourself, you naughty mocking uncle.
 FTLN 2301 You bring me to do—and then you flout me too. 30
 FTLN 2302 PANDARUS To do what, to do what?—Let her say
 FTLN 2303 what.—What have I brought you to do?
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 2304 Come, come, beshrew your heart! You'll ne'er be good
 FTLN 2305 Nor suffer others.
 FTLN 2306 PANDARUS Ha, ha! Alas, poor wretch! Ah, poor capocchia! 35
 FTLN 2307 Has 't not slept tonight? Would he not—a
 FTLN 2308 naughty man—let it sleep? A bugbear take him!
 CRESSIDA, ['to Troilus']
 FTLN 2309 Did not I tell you? Would he were knocked i' th' head!
One knocks.
 FTLN 2310 Who's that at door?—Good uncle, go and see.—
 FTLN 2311 My lord, come you again into my chamber. 40
 FTLN 2312 You smile and mock me, as if I meant naughtily.
 FTLN 2313 TROILUS Ha, ha!
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 2314 Come, you are deceived. I think of no such thing.
Knock.
 FTLN 2315 How earnestly they knock! Pray you, come in.
 FTLN 2316 I would not for half Troy have you seen here. 45
['Troilus and Cressida'] exit.

FTLN 2317 PANDARUS Who's there? What's the matter? Will you
FTLN 2318 beat down the door?

「Enter Aeneas.」

FTLN 2319 How now? What's the matter?
FTLN 2320 AENEAS Good morrow, lord, good morrow.
FTLN 2321 PANDARUS Who's there? My Lord Aeneas? By my troth, 50
FTLN 2322 I knew you not. What news with you so early?
FTLN 2323 AENEAS Is not Prince Troilus here?
FTLN 2324 PANDARUS Here? What should he do here?
AENEAS
FTLN 2325 Come, he is here, my lord. Do not deny him.
FTLN 2326 It doth import him much to speak with me. 55
FTLN 2327 PANDARUS Is he here, say you? It's more than I know,
FTLN 2328 I'll be sworn. For my own part, I came in late.
FTLN 2329 What should he do here?
FTLN 2330 AENEAS 「Ho,」 nay, then! Come, come, you'll do him
FTLN 2331 wrong ere you are ware. You'll be so true to him to 60
FTLN 2332 be false to him. Do not you know of him, but yet go
FTLN 2333 fetch him hither. Go.

〈Enter Troilus.〉

FTLN 2334 TROILUS How now? What's the matter?
AENEAS
FTLN 2335 My lord, I scarce have leisure to salute you,
FTLN 2336 My matter is so rash. There is at hand 65
FTLN 2337 Paris your brother and Deiphobus,
FTLN 2338 The Grecian Diomed, and our Antenor
FTLN 2339 Delivered to 〈us;〉 and 〈for him〉 forthwith,
FTLN 2340 Ere the first sacrifice, within this hour,
FTLN 2341 We must give up to Diomedes' hand 70
FTLN 2342 The Lady Cressida.
FTLN 2343 TROILUS Is it so concluded?
AENEAS
FTLN 2344 By Priam and the general state of Troy.
FTLN 2345 They are at hand and ready to effect it.

FTLN 2346 TROILUS How my achievements mock me! 75
 FTLN 2347 I will go meet them. And, my Lord Aeneas,
 FTLN 2348 We met by chance; you did not find me here.

AENEAS

FTLN 2349 Good, good, my lord; the secrets of ⟨nature⟩
 FTLN 2350 Have not more gift in taciturnity.
 「Troilus and Aeneas」 exit.

FTLN 2351 PANDARUS Is 't possible? No sooner got but lost? The 80
 FTLN 2352 devil take Antenor! The young prince will go mad.
 FTLN 2353 A plague upon Antenor! I would they had broke 's
 FTLN 2354 neck!

Enter Cressida.

⟨CRESSIDA⟩

FTLN 2355 How now? What's the matter? Who was here?

FTLN 2356 PANDARUS Ah, ah! 85

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2357 Why sigh you so profoundly? Where's my lord?

FTLN 2358 Gone? Tell me, sweet uncle, what's the matter?

FTLN 2359 PANDARUS Would I were as deep under the earth as I
 FTLN 2360 am above!

FTLN 2361 CRESSIDA O the gods! What's the matter? 90

FTLN 2362 PANDARUS Pray thee, get thee in. Would thou hadst
 FTLN 2363 ne'er been born! I knew thou wouldst be his death.

FTLN 2364 O, poor gentleman! A plague upon Antenor!

FTLN 2365 CRESSIDA Good uncle, I beseech you, on my knees ⟨I
 FTLN 2366 beseech you,⟩ what's the matter? 95

FTLN 2367 PANDARUS Thou must be gone, wench; thou must be FTLN 2368 gone. Thou art changed for Antenor. Thou must to FTLN 2369 thy father and be gone from Troilus. 'Twill be his FTLN 2370 death; 'twill be his bane. He cannot bear it.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2371 O you immortal gods! I will not go. 100

FTLN 2372 PANDARUS Thou must.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2373 I will not, uncle. I have forgot my father.

FTLN 2374 I know no touch of consanguinity,
 FTLN 2375 No kin, no love, no blood, no soul so near me
 FTLN 2376 As the sweet Troilus. O you gods divine, 105
 FTLN 2377 Make Cressid's name the very crown of falsehood
 FTLN 2378 If ever she leave Troilus! Time, force, and death
 FTLN 2379 Do to this body what extremes you can,
 FTLN 2380 But the strong base and building of my love
 FTLN 2381 Is as the very center of the Earth, 110
 FTLN 2382 Drawing all things to it. I'll go in and weep—
 FTLN 2383 PANDARUS Do, do.
 CRESSIDA
 FTLN 2384 Tear my bright hair, and scratch my praised cheeks,
 FTLN 2385 Crack my clear voice with sobs, and break my heart
 FTLN 2386 With sounding "Troilus." I will not go from Troy. 115
⟨They exit.⟩

「Scene 3」

Enter Paris, Troilus, Aeneas, Deiphobus, Antenor, ⟨and⟩ Diomedes.

PARIS

FTLN 2387 It is great morning, and the hour prefixed
 FTLN 2388 For her delivery to this valiant Greek
 FTLN 2389 Comes fast upon. Good my brother Troilus,
 FTLN 2390 Tell you the lady what she is to do
 FTLN 2391 And haste her to the purpose. 5
 FTLN 2392 TROILUS Walk into her house.
 FTLN 2393 I'll bring her to the Grecian presently;
 FTLN 2394 And to his hand when I deliver her,
 FTLN 2395 Think it an altar and thy brother Troilus
 FTLN 2396 A priest there off'ring to it his own heart. 「He exits.」 10
 FTLN 2397 PARIS I know what 'tis to love,
 FTLN 2398 And would, as I shall pity, I could help.—
 FTLN 2399 Please you walk in, my lords?

They exit.

「Scene 4」

Enter Pandarus and Cressida, 「weeping.」

FTLN 2400	PANDARUS	Be moderate, be moderate.
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 2401		Why tell you me of moderation?
FTLN 2402		The grief is fine, full, perfect that I taste,
FTLN 2403		And violenteth in a sense as strong
FTLN 2404		As that which causeth it. How can I moderate it?	5
FTLN 2405		If I could temporize with my 〈affection〉
FTLN 2406		Or brew it to a weak and colder palate,
FTLN 2407		The like allayment could I give my grief.
FTLN 2408		My love admits no qualifying dross;
FTLN 2409		No more my grief in such a precious loss.	10

Enter Troilus.

FTLN 2410	PANDARUS	Here, here, here he comes. 「Ah,」 sweet
FTLN 2411		ducks!
FTLN 2412	CRESSIDA, 「embracing Troilus」	O Troilus, Troilus!
FTLN 2413	PANDARUS	What a pair of spectacles is here! Let me
FTLN 2414		embrace too. “O heart,” as the goodly saying is,	15
FTLN 2415		O heart, heavy heart,
FTLN 2416		Why sigh'st thou without breaking?
FTLN 2417		where he answers again,
FTLN 2418		Because thou canst not ease thy smart
FTLN 2419		By friendship nor by speaking.	20
FTLN 2420		There was never a truer rhyme. Let us cast away
FTLN 2421		nothing, for we may live to have need of such a
FTLN 2422		verse. We see it, we see it. How now, lambs?
	TROILUS
FTLN 2423		Cressid, I love thee in so strained a purity
FTLN 2424		That the blest gods, as angry with my fancy—	25
FTLN 2425		More bright in zeal than the devotion which
FTLN 2426		Cold lips blow to their deities—take thee from me.
FTLN 2427	CRESSIDA	Have the gods envy?
FTLN 2428	PANDARUS	Ay, ay, ay, ay, 'tis too plain a case.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2429 And is it true that I must go from Troy? 30

TROILUS

FTLN 2430 A hateful truth.

FTLN 2431 CRESSIDA What, and from Troilus too?

FTLN 2432 TROILUS From Troy and Troilus.

FTLN 2433 CRESSIDA Is 't possible?

TROILUS

FTLN 2434 And suddenly, where injury of chance 35

FTLN 2435 Puts back leave-taking, jostles roughly by

FTLN 2436 All time of pause, rudely beguiles our lips

FTLN 2437 Of all rejoindure, forcibly prevents

FTLN 2438 Our locked embrasures, strangles our dear vows

FTLN 2439 Even in the birth of our own laboring breath. 40

FTLN 2440 We two, that with so many thousand sighs

FTLN 2441 Did buy each other, must poorly sell ourselves

FTLN 2442 With the rude brevity and discharge of one.

FTLN 2443 Injurious Time now with a robber's haste

FTLN 2444 Crams his rich thiev'ry up, he knows not how. 45

FTLN 2445 As many farewells as be stars in heaven,

FTLN 2446 With distinct breath and consigned kisses to them,

FTLN 2447 He fumbles up into a loose adieu

FTLN 2448 And scants us with a single famished kiss,

FTLN 2449 Distasted with the salt of broken tears. 50

FTLN 2450 AENEAS, within My lord, is the lady ready?

TROILUS

FTLN 2451 Hark, you are called. Some say the genius

FTLN 2452 Cries so to him that instantly must die.—

FTLN 2453 Bid them have patience. She shall come anon.

FTLN 2454 PANDARUS Where are my tears? Rain, to lay this wind, 55

FTLN 2455 or my heart will be blown up by <the root.>

「He exits.」

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2456 I must, then, to the Grecians?

FTLN 2457 TROILUS No remedy.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2458 A woeful Cressid 'mongst the merry Greeks.

FTLN 2459 When shall we see again?

60

TROILUS

FTLN 2460 Hear me, ⟨my⟩ love. Be thou but true of heart—

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2461 I true? How now, what wicked deem is this?

TROILUS

FTLN 2462 Nay, we must use expostulation kindly,

FTLN 2463 For it is parting from us.

FTLN 2464 I speak not “Be thou true” as fearing thee,

65

FTLN 2465 For I will throw my glove to Death himself

FTLN 2466 That there is no maculation in thy heart;

FTLN 2467 But “Be thou true,” say I, to fashion in

FTLN 2468 My sequent protestation: “Be thou true,

FTLN 2469 And I will see thee.”

70

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2470 O, you shall be exposed, my lord, to dangers

FTLN 2471 As infinite as imminent! But I'll be true.

TROILUS

FTLN 2472 And I'll grow friend with danger. Wear this sleeve.

FTLN 2473 CRESSIDA And you this glove. When shall I see you?

「They exchange love-tokens.」

TROILUS

FTLN 2474 I will corrupt the Grecian sentinels,

75

FTLN 2475 To give thee nightly visitation.

FTLN 2476 But yet, be true.

FTLN 2477 CRESSIDA O heavens! “Be true” again?

FTLN 2478 TROILUS Hear why I speak it, love.

FTLN 2479 The Grecian youths are full of quality,

80

FTLN 2480 ⟨Their loving well composed, with gift of nature

FTLN 2481 「flowing,」⟩

FTLN 2482 And swelling o'er with arts and exercise.

FTLN 2483 How novelty may move, and parts with ⟨person,⟩

FTLN 2484 Alas, a kind of godly jealousy—

85

FTLN 2485 Which I beseech you call a virtuous sin—

FTLN 2486 Makes me afeard.

FTLN 2487	CRESSIDA	O heavens, you love me not!
FTLN 2488	TROILUS	Die I a villain then!
FTLN 2489		In this I do not call your faith in question	90
FTLN 2490		So mainly as my merit. I cannot sing,
FTLN 2491		Nor heel the high lavolt, nor sweeten talk,
FTLN 2492		Nor play at subtle games—fair virtues all,
FTLN 2493		To which the Grecians are most prompt and pregnant.
FTLN 2494		But I can tell that in each grace of these	95
FTLN 2495		There lurks a still and dumb-discursive devil
FTLN 2496		That tempts most cunningly. But be not tempted.
FTLN 2497	CRESSIDA	Do you think I will?
FTLN 2498	TROILUS	No.
FTLN 2499		But something may be done that we will not,	100
FTLN 2500		And sometimes we are devils to ourselves
FTLN 2501		When we will tempt the frailty of our powers,
FTLN 2502		Presuming on their changeful potency.
	AENEAS, within
FTLN 2503		Nay, good my lord—
FTLN 2504	TROILUS	Come, kiss, and let us part.	105
		They kiss.
	PARIS, within
FTLN 2505		Brother Troilus!
FTLN 2506	TROILUS, calling	Good brother, come you hither,
FTLN 2507		And bring Aeneas and the Grecian with you.
FTLN 2508	CRESSIDA	My lord, will you be true?
	TROILUS
FTLN 2509		Who, I? Alas, it is my vice, my fault.	110
FTLN 2510		Whiles others fish with craft for great opinion,
FTLN 2511		I with great truth catch mere simplicity.
FTLN 2512		Whilst some with cunning gild their copper crowns,
FTLN 2513		With truth and plainness I do wear mine bare.
FTLN 2514		Fear not my truth. The moral of my wit	115
FTLN 2515		Is “plain and true”; there’s all the reach of it.

⟨Enter Aeneas, Paris, Antenor, Deiphobus, and Diomedes.⟩

FTLN 2516	Welcome, Sir Diomed. Here is the lady
FTLN 2517	Which for Antenor we deliver you.
FTLN 2518	At the port, lord, I'll give her to thy hand
FTLN 2519	And by the way possess thee what she is.	120
FTLN 2520	Entreat her fair and, by my soul, fair Greek,
FTLN 2521	If e'er thou stand at mercy of my sword,
FTLN 2522	Name Cressid, and thy life shall be as safe
FTLN 2523	As Priam is in Ilium.
FTLN 2524	DIOMEDES Fair Lady Cressid,	125
FTLN 2525	So please you, save the thanks this prince expects.
FTLN 2526	The luster in your eye, heaven in your cheek,
FTLN 2527	Pleads your fair usage, and to Diomed
FTLN 2528	You shall be mistress and command him wholly.
	TROILUS
FTLN 2529	Grecian, thou dost not use me courteously,	130
FTLN 2530	To shame the "zeal" of my petition to thee
FTLN 2531	In praising her. I tell thee, lord of Greece,
FTLN 2532	She is as far high-soaring o'er thy praises
FTLN 2533	As thou unworthy to be called her servant.
FTLN 2534	I charge thee use her well, even for my charge,	135
FTLN 2535	For, by the dreadful Pluto, if thou dost not,
FTLN 2536	Though the great bulk Achilles be thy guard,
FTLN 2537	I'll cut thy throat.
FTLN 2538	DIOMEDES O, be not moved, Prince Troilus.
FTLN 2539	Let me be privileged by my place and message	140
FTLN 2540	To be a speaker free. When I am hence,
FTLN 2541	I'll answer to my lust, and know you, lord,
FTLN 2542	I'll nothing do on charge. To her own worth
FTLN 2543	She shall be prized; but that you say "Be 't so,"
FTLN 2544	I speak it in my spirit and honor: "no."	145
	TROILUS
FTLN 2545	Come, to the port. I'll tell thee, Diomed,
FTLN 2546	This brave shall oft make thee to hide thy head.—
FTLN 2547	Lady, give me your hand, and, as we walk,
FTLN 2548	To our own selves bend we our needful talk.
	"Cressida, Diomedes, and Troilus exit."

⟨Sound trumpet 「within.」⟩

PARIS

FTLN 2549 Hark, Hector's trumpet. 150

FTLN 2550 AENEAS How have we spent this
FTLN 2551 morning!

FTLN 2552 The Prince must think me tardy and remiss
FTLN 2553 That swore to ride before him to the field.

PARIS

FTLN 2554 'Tis Troilus' fault. Come, come to field with him. 155

FTLN 2555 ⟨DEIPHOBUS Let us make ready straight.

AENEAS

FTLN 2556 Yea, with a bridegroom's fresh alacrity
FTLN 2557 Let us address to tend on Hector's heels.
FTLN 2558 The glory of our Troy doth this day lie
FTLN 2559 On his fair worth and single chivalry.⟩ 160

They exit.

「Scene 5」

Enter Ajax, armed, Achilles, Patroclus, Agamemnon, Menelaus, Ulysses, Nestor, etc. 「and Trumpeter.」

AGAMEMNON, 「to Ajax」

FTLN 2560 Here art thou in appointment fresh and fair,
FTLN 2561 Anticipating time with starting courage.
FTLN 2562 Give with thy trumpet a loud note to Troy,
FTLN 2563 Thou dreadful Ajax, that the appallèd air
FTLN 2564 May pierce the head of the great combatant 5
FTLN 2565 And hale him hither.

FTLN 2566 AJAX Thou, trumpet, there's my purse.

「He gives money to Trumpeter.」

FTLN 2567 Now crack thy lungs and split thy brazen pipe.
FTLN 2568 Blow, villain, till thy spherèd bias cheek
FTLN 2569 Outswell the colic of puffed Aquilon. 10
FTLN 2570 Come, stretch thy chest, and let thy eyes spout blood.
FTLN 2571 Thou blowest for Hector. 「Sound trumpet.」

ULYSSES

FTLN 2572 No trumpet answers.

FTLN 2573 ACHILLES 'Tis but early days.

Enter Cressida and Diomedes.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2574 Is not yond Diomed with Calchas' daughter? 15

ULYSSES

FTLN 2575 'Tis he. I ken the manner of his gait.

FTLN 2576 He rises on the toe; that spirit of his

FTLN 2577 In aspiration lifts him from the earth.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2578 Is this the Lady Cressid?

FTLN 2579 DIOMEDES Even she. 20

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2580 Most dearly welcome to the Greeks, sweet lady.

He kisses her.

NESTOR

FTLN 2581 Our general doth salute you with a kiss.

ULYSSES

FTLN 2582 Yet is the kindness but particular.

FTLN 2583 'Twere better she were kissed in general.

NESTOR

FTLN 2584 And very courtly counsel. I'll begin. He kisses her. 25

FTLN 2585 So much for Nestor.

ACHILLES

FTLN 2586 I'll take that winter from your lips, fair lady.

FTLN 2587 Achilles bids you welcome. He kisses her.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2588 I had good argument for kissing once.

PATROCLUS, stepping between Menelaus and Cressida

FTLN 2589 But that's no argument for kissing now, 30

FTLN 2590 For thus popped Paris in his hardiment

FTLN 2591 [And parted thus you and your argument.]

He kisses her.

ULYSSES

FTLN 2592 O deadly gall and theme of all our scorns,
FTLN 2593 For which we lose our heads to gild his horns!

PATROCLUS

FTLN 2594 The first was Menelaus' kiss; this mine. 35
FTLN 2595 Patroclus kisses you. 「He kisses her again.」

FTLN 2596 MENELAUS O, this is trim!

PATROCLUS

FTLN 2597 Paris and I kiss evermore for him.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2598 I'll have my kiss, sir.—Lady, by your leave.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2599 In kissing, do you render or receive? 40

「MENELAUS」

FTLN 2600 Both take and give.

FTLN 2601 CRESSIDA I'll make my match to live,

FTLN 2602 The kiss you take is better than you give.

FTLN 2603 Therefore no kiss.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2604 I'll give you boot: I'll give you three for one. 45

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2605 You are an odd man. Give even, or give none.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2606 An odd man, lady? Every man is odd.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2607 No, Paris is <not,> for you know 'tis true

FTLN 2608 That you are odd, and he is even with you.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2609 You fillip me o' th' head. 50

FTLN 2610 CRESSIDA No, I'll be sworn.

ULYSSES

FTLN 2611 It were no match, your nail against his horn.

FTLN 2612 May I, sweet lady, beg a kiss of you?

CRESSIDA

FTLN 2613 You may.

FTLN 2614 ULYSSES I do desire it. 55

FTLN 2615	CRESSIDA	Why, beg 'two.'
	ULYSSES
FTLN 2616		Why, then, for Venus' sake, give me a kiss
FTLN 2617		When Helen is a maid again and his.
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 2618		I am your debtor; claim it when 'tis due.
	ULYSSES
FTLN 2619		Never's my day, and then a kiss of you.	60
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 2620		Lady, a word. I'll bring you to your father.
		«Diomedes and Cressida talk aside.»
	NESTOR
FTLN 2621		A woman of quick sense.
FTLN 2622	ULYSSES	Fie, fie upon her!
FTLN 2623		There's language in her eye, her cheek, her lip;
FTLN 2624		Nay, her foot speaks. Her wanton spirits look out	65
FTLN 2625		At every joint and motive of her body.
FTLN 2626		O, these encounterers, so glib of tongue,
FTLN 2627		That give 'accosting' welcome ere it comes
FTLN 2628		And wide unclasp the tables of their thoughts
FTLN 2629		To every 'tickling' reader! Set them down	70
FTLN 2630		For sluttish spoils of opportunity
FTLN 2631		And daughters of the game.
		««Diomedes and Cressida» exit.»
		Flourish.
	ALL
FTLN 2632		The Trojan's trumpet.
		Enter all of Troy: «Hector, 'armed,' Paris, Aeneas, Helenus, 'Troilus,' and Attendants.»
FTLN 2633	AGAMEMNON	Yonder comes the troop.
	AENEAS
FTLN 2634		Hail, all the state of Greece! What shall be done	75
FTLN 2635		To him that victory commands? Or do you purpose
FTLN 2636		A victor shall be known? Will you the knights
FTLN 2637		Shall to the edge of all extremity

FTLN 2638	Pursue each other, or shall they be divided
FTLN 2639	By any voice or order of the field?	80
FTLN 2640	Hector bade ask.
FTLN 2641	AGAMEMNON Which way would Hector have it?
	AENEAS
FTLN 2642	He cares not; he'll obey conditions.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 2643	'Tis done like Hector.
FTLN 2644	「ACHILLES」 But securely done,	85
FTLN 2645	A little proudly, and great deal misprizing
FTLN 2646	The knight opposed.
FTLN 2647	AENEAS If not Achilles, sir,
FTLN 2648	What is your name?
FTLN 2649	ACHILLES If not Achilles, nothing.	90
	AENEAS
FTLN 2650	Therefore Achilles. But whate'er, know this:
FTLN 2651	In the extremity of great and little,
FTLN 2652	Valor and pride excel themselves in Hector,
FTLN 2653	The one almost as infinite as all,
FTLN 2654	The other blank as nothing. Weigh him well,	95
FTLN 2655	And that which looks like pride is courtesy.
FTLN 2656	This Ajax is half made of Hector's blood,
FTLN 2657	In love whereof half Hector stays at home;
FTLN 2658	Half heart, half hand, half Hector comes to seek
FTLN 2659	This blended knight, half Trojan and half Greek.	100
	ACHILLES
FTLN 2660	A maiden battle, then? O, I perceive you.
	「Enter Diomedes.」
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 2661	Here is Sir Diomed.—Go, gentle knight;
FTLN 2662	Stand by our Ajax. As you and Lord Aeneas
FTLN 2663	Consent upon the order of their fight,
FTLN 2664	So be it, either to the uttermost	105
FTLN 2665	Or else a breath. The combatants being kin
FTLN 2666	Half stints their strife before their strokes begin.

「Hector and Ajax enter the lists.」

FTLN 2667

〈ULYSSES They are opposed already.〉

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2668

What Trojan is that same that looks so heavy?

ULYSSES

FTLN 2669

The youngest son of Priam, a true knight, 110

FTLN 2670

Not yet mature, yet matchless firm of word,

FTLN 2671

Speaking 〈in〉 deeds, and deedless in his tongue,

FTLN 2672

Not soon provoked, nor being provoked soon calmed,

FTLN 2673

His heart and hand both open and both free.

FTLN 2674

For what he has, he gives; what thinks, he shows; 115

FTLN 2675

Yet gives he not till judgment guide his bounty,

FTLN 2676

Nor dignifies an impair thought with breath;

FTLN 2677

Manly as Hector, but more dangerous,

FTLN 2678

For Hector in his blaze of wrath subscribes

FTLN 2679

To tender objects, but he in heat of action 120

FTLN 2680

Is more vindicative than jealous love.

FTLN 2681

They call him Troilus, and on him erect

FTLN 2682

A second hope, as fairly built as Hector.

FTLN 2683

Thus says Aeneas, one that knows the youth

FTLN 2684

Even to his inches, and with private soul 125

FTLN 2685

Did in great Ilium thus translate him to me.

Alarum. 「The fight begins.」

FTLN 2686

AGAMEMNON They are in action.

FTLN 2687

NESTOR Now, Ajax, hold thine own!

FTLN 2688

TROILUS Hector, thou sleep'st. Awake thee!

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2689

His blows are well disposed.—There, Ajax! 130

Trumpets cease.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 2690

You must no more.

FTLN 2691

AENEAS Princes, enough, so please you.

AJAX

FTLN 2692

I am not warm yet. Let us fight again.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 2693

As Hector pleases.

FTLN 2694	HECTOR	Why, then, will I no more.—	135
FTLN 2695		Thou art, great lord, my father's sister's son,
FTLN 2696		A cousin-german to great Priam's seed.
FTLN 2697		The obligation of our blood forbids
FTLN 2698		A gory emulation 'twixt us twain.
FTLN 2699		Were thy commixtion Greek and Trojan so	140
FTLN 2700		That thou couldst say "This hand is Grecian all,
FTLN 2701		And this is Trojan; the sinews of this leg
FTLN 2702		All Greek, and this all Troy; my mother's blood
FTLN 2703		Runs on the dexter cheek, and this sinister
FTLN 2704		Bounds in my father's," by Jove multipotent,	145
FTLN 2705		Thou shouldst not bear from me a Greekish member
FTLN 2706		Wherein my sword had not impressure made
FTLN 2707		⟨Of our rank feud.⟩ But the just gods gainsay
FTLN 2708		That any ⟨drop⟩ thou borrowd'st from thy mother,
FTLN 2709		My sacred aunt, should by my mortal sword	150
FTLN 2710		Be drained. Let me embrace thee, Ajax.
FTLN 2711		By him that thunders, thou hast lusty arms!
FTLN 2712		Hector would have them fall upon him thus.
FTLN 2713		Cousin, all honor to thee! 「They embrace.」
FTLN 2714	AJAX	I thank thee, Hector.	155
FTLN 2715		Thou art too gentle and too free a man.
FTLN 2716		I came to kill thee, cousin, and bear hence
FTLN 2717		A great addition earnèd in thy death.
	HECTOR
FTLN 2718		Not Neoptolemus so mirable—
FTLN 2719		On whose bright crest Fame with her loud'st "Oyez"	160
FTLN 2720		Cries "This is he"—could promise to himself
FTLN 2721		A thought of added honor torn from Hector.
	AENEAS
FTLN 2722		There is expectance here from both the sides
FTLN 2723		What further you will do.
FTLN 2724	HECTOR	We'll answer it;	165
FTLN 2725		The issue is embracement.—Ajax, farewell.
		「They embrace again.」

AJAX

FTLN 2726 If I might in entreaties find success,
 FTLN 2727 As seld I have the chance, I would desire
 FTLN 2728 My famous cousin to our Grecian tents.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 2729 'Tis Agamemnon's wish; and great Achilles 170
 FTLN 2730 Doth long to see unarmed the valiant Hector.

HECTOR

FTLN 2731 Aeneas, call my brother Troilus to me,
 FTLN 2732 And signify this loving interview
 FTLN 2733 To the expecters of our Trojan part;
 FTLN 2734 Desire them home. 175

['Aeneas speaks to Trojans, who exit; he then returns with Troilus.']

FTLN 2735 ['To Ajax.'] Give me thy hand, my cousin.

FTLN 2736 I will go eat with thee and see your knights.

⟨Agamemnon and the rest ['come forward.']>⟩

AJAX

FTLN 2737 Great Agamemnon comes to meet us here.

HECTOR, ['to Aeneas']

FTLN 2738 The worthiest of them tell me name by name;
 FTLN 2739 But for Achilles, my own searching eyes 180
 FTLN 2740 Shall find him by his large and portly size.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 2741 Worthy all arms! As welcome as to one
 FTLN 2742 That would be rid of such an enemy—
 FTLN 2743 ⟨But that's no welcome. Understand more clear:
 FTLN 2744 What's past and what's to come is strewed with husks 185
 FTLN 2745 And formless ruin of oblivion;
 FTLN 2746 But in this extant moment, faith and troth,
 FTLN 2747 Strained purely from all hollow bias-drawing,
 FTLN 2748 Bids thee, with most divine integrity,⟩
 FTLN 2749 From heart of very heart, great Hector, welcome. 190

HECTOR

FTLN 2750 I thank thee, most imperious Agamemnon.

AGAMEMNON, ['to Troilus']

FTLN 2751 My well-famed lord of Troy, no less to you.

MENELAUS

FTLN 2752 Let me confirm my princely brother's greeting:

FTLN 2753 You brace of warlike brothers, welcome hither.

HECTOR, ['to Aeneas']

FTLN 2754 Who must we answer? 195

FTLN 2755 AENEAS The noble Menelaus.

HECTOR

FTLN 2756 O, you, my lord? By Mars his gauntlet, thanks!

FTLN 2757 Mock not ⟨that I⟩ affect th' untraded ⟨oath;⟩

FTLN 2758 Your quondam wife swears still by Venus' glove.

FTLN 2759 She's well, but bade me not commend her to you. 200

MENELAUS

FTLN 2760 Name her not now, sir; she's a deadly theme.

FTLN 2761 HECTOR O, pardon! I offend.

NESTOR

FTLN 2762 I have, thou gallant Trojan, seen thee oft,

FTLN 2763 Laboring for destiny, make cruel way

FTLN 2764 Through ranks of Greekish youth; and I have seen 205

FTLN 2765 thee,

FTLN 2766 As hot as Perseus, spur thy Phrygian steed,

FTLN 2767 Despising many forfeits and subduments,

FTLN 2768 When thou hast hung ⟨thy⟩ advanced sword i' th' air,

FTLN 2769 Not letting it decline on the declined, 210

FTLN 2770 That I have said to some my standers-by

FTLN 2771 "Lo, Jupiter is yonder, dealing life!"

FTLN 2772 And I have seen thee pause and take thy breath

FTLN 2773 When that a ring of Greeks have ⟨hemmed⟩ thee in,

FTLN 2774 Like an Olympian wrestling. This have I seen. 215

FTLN 2775 But this thy countenance, still locked in steel,

FTLN 2776 I never saw till now. I knew thy grandsire

FTLN 2777 And once fought with him; he was a soldier good,

FTLN 2778 But, by great Mars, the captain of us all,

FTLN 2779 Never like thee! O, let an old man embrace thee; 220

FTLN 2780 And, worthy warrior, welcome to our tents.

FTLN 2781	AENEAS, ['to Hector'] 'Tis the old Nestor.
	HECTOR
FTLN 2782	Let me embrace thee, good old chronicle
FTLN 2783	That hast so long walked hand in hand with time.
FTLN 2784	Most reverend Nestor, I am glad to clasp thee.	225
	['They embrace.']
	NESTOR
FTLN 2785	I would my arms could match thee in contention
FTLN 2786	⟨As they contend with thee in courtesy.⟩
FTLN 2787	HECTOR I would they could.
	NESTOR
FTLN 2788	Ha! By this white beard, I'd fight with thee tomorrow.
FTLN 2789	Well, welcome, welcome. I have seen the time!	230
	ULYSSES
FTLN 2790	I wonder now how yonder city stands
FTLN 2791	When we have here her base and pillar by us.
	HECTOR
FTLN 2792	I know your favor, Lord Ulysses, well.
FTLN 2793	Ah, sir, there's many a Greek and Trojan dead
FTLN 2794	Since first I saw yourself and Diomed	235
FTLN 2795	In Ilium, on your Greekish embassy.
	ULYSSES
FTLN 2796	Sir, I foretold you then what would ensue.
FTLN 2797	My prophecy is but half his journey yet,
FTLN 2798	For yonder walls, that pertly front your town,
FTLN 2799	Yon towers, whose wanton tops do buss the clouds,	240
FTLN 2800	Must kiss their own feet.
FTLN 2801	HECTOR I must not believe you.
FTLN 2802	There they stand yet, and modestly I think
FTLN 2803	The fall of every Phrygian stone will cost
FTLN 2804	A drop of Grecian blood. The end crowns all,	245
FTLN 2805	And that old common arbitrator, Time,
FTLN 2806	Will one day end it.
FTLN 2807	ULYSSES So to him we leave it.
FTLN 2808	Most gentle and most valiant Hector, welcome.
FTLN 2809	After the General, I beseech you next	250
FTLN 2810	To feast with me and see me at my tent.

ACHILLES

FTLN 2811 I shall forestall thee, Lord Ulysses, thou!—
 FTLN 2812 Now, Hector, I have fed mine eyes on thee;
 FTLN 2813 I have with exact view perused thee, Hector, FTLN 2814 And quoted joint by joint.

255

FTLN 2815 HECTOR Is this Achilles?

FTLN 2816 ACHILLES I am Achilles.

HECTOR

FTLN 2817 Stand fair, I pray thee. Let me look on thee.

ACHILLES

FTLN 2818 Behold thy fill.

FTLN 2819 HECTOR Nay, I have done already.

260

ACHILLES

FTLN 2820 Thou art too brief. I will the second time,
 FTLN 2821 As I would buy thee, view thee limb by limb.

HECTOR

FTLN 2822 O, like a book of sport thou'lt read me o'er;
 FTLN 2823 But there's more in me than thou understand'st.
 FTLN 2824 Why dost thou so oppress me with thine eye?

ACHILLES

FTLN 2825 Tell me, you heavens, in which part of his body
 FTLN 2826 Shall I destroy him—whether there, or there, or FTLN 2827 there—

FTLN 2828 That I may give the local wound a name
 FTLN 2829 And make distinct the very breach whereout
 FTLN 2830 Hector's great spirit flew. Answer me, heavens!

270

HECTOR

FTLN 2831 It would discredit the blest gods, proud man,
 FTLN 2832 To answer such a question. Stand again.
 FTLN 2833 Think'st thou to catch my life so pleasantly
 FTLN 2834 As to prenominate in nice conjecture
 FTLN 2835 Where thou wilt hit me dead?

275

FTLN 2836 ACHILLES I tell thee, yea.

HECTOR

FTLN 2837 Wert thou an oracle to tell me so,
 FTLN 2838 I'd not believe thee. Henceforth guard thee well,

FTLN 2839	For I'll not kill thee there, nor there, nor there,	280
FTLN 2840	But, by the forge that stithied Mars his helm,
FTLN 2841	I'll kill thee everywhere, yea, o'er and o'er.—
FTLN 2842	You wisest Grecians, pardon me this brag;
FTLN 2843	His insolence draws folly from my lips.
FTLN 2844	But I'll endeavor deeds to match these words,	285
FTLN 2845	Or may I never—
FTLN 2846	AJAX Do not chafe thee, cousin.—
FTLN 2847	And you, Achilles, let these threats alone
FTLN 2848	Till accident or purpose bring you to 't.
FTLN 2849	You may have every day enough of Hector	290
FTLN 2850	If you have stomach. The general state, I fear,
FTLN 2851	Can scarce entreat you to be odd with him.
	HECTOR, ['to Achilles']
FTLN 2852	I pray you, let us see you in the field.
FTLN 2853	We have had pelting wars since you refused
FTLN 2854	The Grecians' cause.	295
FTLN 2855	ACHILLES Dost thou entreat me, Hector?
FTLN 2856	Tomorrow do I meet thee, fell as death;
FTLN 2857	Tonight all friends.
FTLN 2858	HECTOR Thy hand upon that match.
	AGAMEMNON
FTLN 2859	First, all you peers of Greece, go to my tent;	300
FTLN 2860	There in the full convive we. Afterwards,
FTLN 2861	As Hector's leisure and your bounties shall
FTLN 2862	Concur together, severally entreat him.
FTLN 2863	⟨Beat loud the taborins;⟩ let the trumpets blow,
FTLN 2864	That this great soldier may his welcome know.	305
	['Flourish.']
	['All but Troilus and Ulysses'] exit.
	TROILUS
FTLN 2865	My Lord Ulysses, tell me, I beseech you,
FTLN 2866	In what place of the field doth Calchas keep?
	ULYSSES
FTLN 2867	At Menelaus' tent, most princely Troilus.
FTLN 2868	There Diomed doth feast with him tonight,

FTLN 2869 Who neither looks upon the heaven nor Earth, 310
FTLN 2870 But gives all gaze and bent of amorous view
FTLN 2871 On the fair Cressid.

TROILUS

FTLN 2872 Shall I, sweet lord, be bound to you so much,
FTLN 2873 After we part from Agamemnon's tent,
FTLN 2874 To bring me thither? 315

FTLN 2875 ULYSSES You shall command me, sir.

FTLN 2876 〈As〉 gentle tell me, of what honor was FTLN 2877 This Cressida in Troy? Had she no lover there
FTLN 2878 That wails her absence?

TROILUS

FTLN 2879 O sir, to such as boasting show their scars 320
FTLN 2880 A mock is due. Will you walk on, my lord?
FTLN 2881 She was beloved, 〈she loved;〉 she is, and doth;
FTLN 2882 But still sweet love is food for Fortune's tooth.

They exit.

「ACT 5」

「Scene 1」

Enter Achilles and Patroclus.

ACHILLES

FTLN 2883 I'll heat his blood with Greekish wine tonight,
FTLN 2884 Which with my scimitar I'll cool tomorrow.
FTLN 2885 Patroclus, let us feast him to the height.

PATROCLUS

FTLN 2886 Here comes Thersites.

Enter Thersites.

FTLN 2887 ACHILLES How now, thou ⟨core⟩ of envy? 5

FTLN 2888 Thou crusty 「botch」 of nature, what's the news?

FTLN 2889 THERSITES Why, thou picture of what thou seemest and FTLN 2890 idol of idiot-worshippers, here's a letter for thee.

FTLN 2891 ACHILLES From whence, fragment?

FTLN 2892 THERSITES Why, thou full dish of fool, from Troy. 10

「Achilles takes the letter and moves aside to read it.」

FTLN 2893 PATROCLUS Who keeps the tent now?

FTLN 2894 THERSITES The surgeon's box or the patient's wound.

FTLN 2895 PATROCLUS Well said, adversity. And what ⟨need these⟩
FTLN 2896 tricks?

FTLN 2897 THERSITES Prithee, be silent, ⟨boy.⟩ I profit not by thy 15
FTLN 2898 talk. Thou art said to be Achilles' male varlet.

FTLN 2899 PATROCLUS “Male varlet,” you rogue! What's that?

FTLN 2900 THERSITES Why, his masculine whore. Now the rotten
FTLN 2901 diseases of the south, the guts-griping, ruptures,

FTLN 2902	⟨catarrhs,⟩ loads o' gravel in the back, lethargies,	20
FTLN 2903	cold palsies, [raw eyes, dirt-rotten livers, whissing
FTLN 2904	lungs, bladders full of impostume, sciaticas,
FTLN 2905	limekilns i' th' palm, incurable bone-ache, and the
FTLN 2906	rivelled fee-simple of the tetter,] take and take
FTLN 2907	again such preposterous discoveries.	25
FTLN 2908	PATROCLUS Why, thou damnable box of envy, thou,
FTLN 2909	what means thou to curse thus?
FTLN 2910	THERSITES Do I curse thee?
FTLN 2911	PATROCLUS Why, no, you ruinous butt, you whoreson
FTLN 2912	indistinguishable cur, no.	30
FTLN 2913	THERSITES No? Why art thou then exasperate, thou idle
FTLN 2914	immaterial skein of sleeve-silk, thou green sarsenet
FTLN 2915	flap for a sore eye, thou tassel of a prodigal's purse,
FTLN 2916	thou? Ah, how the poor world is pestered with such
FTLN 2917	waterflies, diminutives of nature!	35
FTLN 2918	PATROCLUS Out, gall!
FTLN 2919	THERSITES Finch egg!
	ACHILLES, [coming forward]
FTLN 2920	My sweet Patroclus, I am thwarted quite
FTLN 2921	From my great purpose in tomorrow's battle.
FTLN 2922	Here is a letter from Queen Hecuba,	40
FTLN 2923	A token from her daughter, my fair love,
FTLN 2924	Both taxing me and gaging me to keep
FTLN 2925	An oath that I have sworn. I will not break it.
FTLN 2926	Fall, Greeks; fail, fame; honor, or go or stay;
FTLN 2927	My major vow lies here; this I'll obey.	45
FTLN 2928	Come, come, Thersites, help to trim my tent.
FTLN 2929	This night in banqueting must all be spent.
FTLN 2930	Away, Patroclus. ⟨He exits [with Patroclus.]⟩
FTLN 2931	THERSITES With too much blood and too little brain,
FTLN 2932	these two may run mad; but if with too much brain	50
FTLN 2933	and too little blood they do, I'll be a curer of madmen.
FTLN 2934	Here's Agamemnon, an honest fellow enough
FTLN 2935	and one that loves quails, but he has not so much
FTLN 2936	brain as earwax. And the goodly transformation

FTLN 2937 of Jupiter there, his ⟨brother,⟩ the bull—the primitive 55
 FTLN 2938 statue and oblique memorial of cuckolds, a
 FTLN 2939 thrifty shoeing-horn in a chain, ⟨hanging⟩ at his FTLN 2940 ⟨brother's⟩ leg—to what form but that he is should FTLN 2941 wit larded with malice and malice ⟨forced⟩ with FTLN 2942 wit turn him to? To an ass were nothing; he is both 60
 FTLN 2943 ass and ox. To an ox were nothing; ⟨he is⟩ both ox
 FTLN 2944 and ass. To be a ⟨dog,⟩ a ⟨mule,⟩ a cat, a fitchew, a
 FTLN 2945 toad, a lizard, an owl, a puttock, or a herring without FTLN 2946 a roe, I would not care; but to be Menelaus! I
 FTLN 2947 would conspire against destiny. Ask me ⟨not⟩ what I 65
 FTLN 2948 would be, if I were not Thersites, for I care not to be FTLN 2949 the louse of a lazar so I were not Menelaus.

Enter ⟨Hector,⟩ 「Troilus,」 ⟨Ajax,⟩ Agamemnon, Ulysses, Nestor, 「Menelaus,」 and Diomedes, with lights.

FTLN 2950 Heyday! Sprites and fires!
 FTLN 2951 AGAMEMNON We go wrong, we go wrong.
 AJAX
 FTLN 2952 No, yonder—'tis there, where we see the lights. 70
 FTLN 2953 HECTOR I trouble you.
 FTLN 2954 AJAX No, not a whit.

⟨Enter Achilles.⟩

FTLN 2955 ULYSSES, 「to Hector」 Here comes himself to guide you.
 ACHILLES
 FTLN 2956 Welcome, brave Hector. Welcome, princes all.
 AGAMEMNON, 「to Hector」
 FTLN 2957 So now, fair prince of Troy, I bid good night. 75
 FTLN 2958 Ajax commands the guard to tend on you.
 HECTOR
 FTLN 2959 Thanks, and good night to the Greeks' general.
 MENELAUS
 FTLN 2960 Good night, my lord.
 FTLN 2961 HECTOR Good night, sweet lord
 FTLN 2962 Menelaus. 80

FTLN 2963	THERSITES, aside Sweet draught. "Sweet," quoth he?
FTLN 2964	Sweet sink, sweet sewer.
	ACHILLES
FTLN 2965	Good night and welcome, both at once , to those
FTLN 2966	That go or tarry.
FTLN 2967	AGAMEMNON Good night.	85
	Agamemnon and Menelaus exit.
	ACHILLES
FTLN 2968	Old Nestor tarries, and you too, Diomed.
FTLN 2969	Keep Hector company an hour or two.
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 2970	I cannot, lord. I have important business,
FTLN 2971	The tide whereof is now.—Good night, great Hector.
FTLN 2972	HECTOR Give me your hand.	90
	ULYSSES, aside to Troilus
FTLN 2973	Follow his torch; he goes to Calchas' tent.
FTLN 2974	I'll keep you company.
FTLN 2975	TROILUS Sweet sir, you honor me.
	HECTOR
FTLN 2976	And so, good night.
	Diomedes exits, followed by Troilus and Ulysses.
FTLN 2977	ACHILLES Come, come, enter my tent.	95
	Achilles, Ajax, Nestor, and Hector exit.
FTLN 2978	THERSITES That same Diomed's a false-hearted rogue,
FTLN 2979	a most unjust knave. I will no more trust him when
FTLN 2980	he leers than I will a serpent when he hisses. He
FTLN 2981	will spend his mouth and promise like Brabblers
FTLN 2982	the hound, but when he performs, astronomers	100
FTLN 2983	foretell it; it is prodigious, there will come some
FTLN 2984	change. The sun borrows of the moon when
FTLN 2985	Diomed keeps his word. I will rather leave to see
FTLN 2986	Hector than not to dog him. They say he keeps a
FTLN 2987	Trojan drab and uses the traitor Calchas his tent.	105
FTLN 2988	I'll after. Nothing but lechery! All incontinent varlets!
	He exits.

「Scene 2」

Enter Diomedes.

FTLN 2989	DIOMEDES	What, are you up here, ho? Speak.
FTLN 2990	CALCHAS, 「within」	Who calls?
FTLN 2991	DIOMEDES	Diomed. Calchas, I think? Where's your
FTLN 2992		daughter?
FTLN 2993	CALCHAS, 「within」	She comes to you.	5
〈Enter Troilus and Ulysses,〉 「at a distance, and then, apart from them, Thersites.」
ULYSSES, 「aside to Troilus」 Stand where the torch may not discover us.
Enter Cressida.
TROILUS, 「aside to Ulysses」 Cressid comes forth to him.
FTLN 2995
FTLN 2996	DIOMEDES	How now, my charge?
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 2997		Now, my sweet guardian. Hark, a word with you.
		「She whispers to him.」
FTLN 2998	TROILUS, 「aside」	Yea, so familiar?	10
FTLN 2999	ULYSSES, 「aside to Troilus」	She will sing any man at
FTLN 3000		first sight.
FTLN 3001	THERSITES, 「aside」	And any man may sing her, if he
FTLN 3002		can take her clef. She's noted.
FTLN 3003	DIOMEDES	Will you remember?	15
FTLN 3004	「CRESSIDA」	Remember? Yes.
FTLN 3005	DIOMEDES	Nay, but do, then, and let your mind be
FTLN 3006		coupled with your words.
FTLN 3007	TROILUS, 「aside」	What 〈should〉 she remember?
FTLN 3008	ULYSSES, 「aside to Troilus」	List!	20
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3009		Sweet honey Greek, tempt me no more to folly.
FTLN 3010	THERSITES, 「aside」	Roguery!
FTLN 3011	DIOMEDES	Nay, then—

FTLN 3012	CRESSIDA I'll tell you what—
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 3013	Foh, foh, come, tell a pin! You are forsworn.	25
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3014	In faith, I cannot. What would you have me do?
FTLN 3015	THERSITES, aside A juggling trick: to be secretly open!
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 3016	What did you swear you would bestow on me?
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3017	I prithee, do not hold me to mine oath.
FTLN 3018	Bid me do anything but that, sweet Greek.	30
FTLN 3019	DIOMEDES Good night.
FTLN 3020	TROILUS, aside Hold, patience!
FTLN 3021	ULYSSES, aside to Troilus How now, Trojan?
FTLN 3022	CRESSIDA Diomed—
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 3023	No, no, good night. I'll be your fool no more.	35
FTLN 3024	TROILUS, aside Thy better must.
FTLN 3025	CRESSIDA Hark, a word in your ear.
	She whispers to him.
FTLN 3026	TROILUS, aside O plague and madness!
	ULYSSES, aside to Troilus
FTLN 3027	You are moved, prince. Let us depart, I pray you,
FTLN 3028	Lest your displeasure should enlarge itself	40
FTLN 3029	To wrathful terms. This place is dangerous;
FTLN 3030	The time right deadly. I beseech you, go.
	TROILUS, aside to Ulysses
FTLN 3031	Behold, I pray you.
FTLN 3032	ULYSSES, aside to Troilus Nay, good my lord, go off.
FTLN 3033	You flow to great distractiō. Come, my lord.	45
	TROILUS, aside to Ulysses
FTLN 3034	I prithee, stay.
FTLN 3035	ULYSSES, aside to Troilus You have not patience. Come.
	TROILUS, aside to Ulysses
FTLN 3036	I pray you, stay. By hell and all hell's torments,
FTLN 3037	I will not speak a word.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3038 And so good night. He starts to leave. 50

FTLN 3039 CRESSIDA Nay, but you part in anger.

FTLN 3040 TROILUS, aside Doth that grieve thee? O withered
FTLN 3041 truth!

ULYSSES, aside to Troilus

FTLN 3042 How now, my lord?

FTLN 3043 TROILUS, aside to Ulysses By Jove, I will be patient. 55

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3044 Guardian! Why, Greek!

FTLN 3045 DIOMEDES Foh foh! Adieu. You palter.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3046 In faith, I do not. Come hither once again.

ULYSSES, aside to Troilus

FTLN 3047 You shake, my lord, at something. Will you go?

FTLN 3048 You will break out. 60

FTLN 3049 TROILUS, aside She strokes his cheek!

FTLN 3050 ULYSSES, aside to Troilus Come, come.

TROILUS, aside to Ulysses

FTLN 3051 Nay, stay. By Jove, I will not speak a word.

FTLN 3052 There is between my will and all offenses

FTLN 3053 A guard of patience. Stay a little while. 65

FTLN 3054 THERSITES, aside How the devil Luxury, with his fat
FTLN 3055 rump and potato finger, tickles these together.

FTLN 3056 Fry, lechery, fry!

FTLN 3057 DIOMEDES But will you, then?

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3058 In faith, I will, la. Never trust me else. 70

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3059 Give me some token for the surety of it.

FTLN 3060 CRESSIDA I'll fetch you one. She exits.

ULYSSES, aside to Troilus

FTLN 3061 You have sworn patience.

FTLN 3062 TROILUS, aside to Ulysses Fear me not, my lord.

FTLN 3063 I will not be myself nor have cognition 75

FTLN 3064 Of what I feel. I am all patience.

Enter Cressida 「with Troilus's sleeve.」

FTLN 3065	THERSITES, 「 aside 」	Now the pledge, now, now, now!
FTLN 3066	CRESSIDA, 「 giving the sleeve 」	Here, Diomed. Keep this
FTLN 3067		sleeve.
FTLN 3068	TROILUS, 「 aside 」	O beauty, where is thy faith?	80
FTLN 3069	ULYSSES, 「 aside to Troilus 」	My lord—
	TROILUS, 「 aside to Ulysses 」
FTLN 3070		〈I will be patient; outwardly I will.
	CRESSIDA〉
FTLN 3071		You look upon that sleeve? Behold it well.
FTLN 3072		He loved me—O false wench!—Give 't me again.
		「 She snatches the sleeve from Diomedes. 」
FTLN 3073	DIOMEDES	Whose was 't?	85
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3074		It is no matter, now I ha 't again.
FTLN 3075		I will not meet with you tomorrow night.
FTLN 3076		I prithee, Diomed, visit me no more.
FTLN 3077	THERSITES, 「 aside 」	Now she sharpens. Well said,
FTLN 3078		whetstone.	90
FTLN 3079	DIOMEDES	I shall have it.
FTLN 3080	CRESSIDA	What, this?
FTLN 3081	DIOMEDES	Ay, that.
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3082		O all you gods!—O pretty, pretty pledge!
FTLN 3083		Thy master now lies thinking on his bed	95
FTLN 3084		Of thee and me, and sighs, and takes my glove,
FTLN 3085		And gives memorial dainty kisses to it
FTLN 3086		As I kiss thee.
		「 He grabs the sleeve, and she tries to retrieve it. 」
FTLN 3087	DIOMEDES	Nay, do not snatch it from me.
	CRESSIDA
FTLN 3088		He that takes that doth take my heart withal.	100
	DIOMEDES
FTLN 3089		I had your heart before. This follows it.
FTLN 3090	TROILUS, 「 aside 」	I did swear patience.

⟨CRESSIDA⟩

FTLN 3091 You shall not have it, Diomed, faith, you shall not.

FTLN 3092 I'll give you something else.

FTLN 3093 DIOMEDES I will have this. Whose was it? 105

FTLN 3094 CRESSIDA It is no matter.

FTLN 3095 DIOMEDES Come, tell me whose it was.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3096 'Twas one's that loved me better than you will.

FTLN 3097 But now you have it, take it.

FTLN 3098 DIOMEDES Whose was it? 110

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3099 By all Diana's waiting-women yond,

FTLN 3100 And by herself, I will not tell you whose.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3101 Tomorrow will I wear it on my helm

FTLN 3102 And grieve his spirit that dares not challenge it.

TROILUS, aside

FTLN 3103 Wert thou the devil and wor'st it on thy horn, 115

FTLN 3104 It should be challenged.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3105 Well, well, 'tis done, 'tis past. And yet it is not.

FTLN 3106 I will not keep my word.

FTLN 3107 DIOMEDES Why, then, farewell.

FTLN 3108 Thou never shalt mock Diomed again. 120

He starts to leave.

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3109 You shall not go. One cannot speak a word

FTLN 3110 But it straight starts you.

FTLN 3111 DIOMEDES I do not like this fooling.

⟨TROILUS, aside⟩

FTLN 3112 Nor I, by Pluto! But that that likes not you

FTLN 3113 Pleases me best. 125

FTLN 3114 DIOMEDES What, shall I come? The hour?

CRESSIDA

FTLN 3115 Ay, come.—O Jove!—Do, come.—I shall be plagued.

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3116 Farewell, till then.

FTLN 3117 CRESSIDA Good night. I prithee, come.—

⟨He exits.⟩

FTLN 3118 Troilus, farewell. One eye yet looks on thee, 130

FTLN 3119 But with my heart the other eye doth see.

FTLN 3120 Ah, poor our sex! This fault in us I find:

FTLN 3121 The error of our eye directs our mind.

FTLN 3122 What error leads must err. O, then conclude:

FTLN 3123 Minds swayed by eyes are full of turpitude. She exits. 135

THERSITES, [aside]

FTLN 3124 A proof of strength she could not publish more,

FTLN 3125 Unless she said “My mind is now turned whore.”

ULYSSES

FTLN 3126 All’s done, my lord.

FTLN 3127 TROILUS It is.

FTLN 3128 ULYSSES Why stay we then? 140

TROILUS

FTLN 3129 To make a recordation to my soul

FTLN 3130 Of every syllable that here was spoke.

FTLN 3131 But if I tell how these two did ⟨co-act,⟩

FTLN 3132 Shall I not lie in publishing a truth?

FTLN 3133 Sith yet there is a credence in my heart, 145

FTLN 3134 An esperance so obstinately strong.

FTLN 3135 That doth invert th’ attest of eyes and ears,

FTLN 3136 As if those organs ⟨had deceptious⟩ functions,

FTLN 3137 Created only to calumniate.

FTLN 3138 Was Cressid here? 150

FTLN 3139 ULYSSES I cannot conjure, Trojan.

FTLN 3140 TROILUS She was not, sure.

FTLN 3141 ULYSSES Most sure she was.

TROILUS

FTLN 3142 Why, my negation hath no taste of madness.

ULYSSES

FTLN 3143 Nor mine, my lord. Cressid was here but now. 155

TROILUS

FTLN 3144 Let it not be believed for womanhood!
 FTLN 3145 Think, we had mothers. Do not give advantage
 FTLN 3146 To stubborn critics, apt, without a theme
 FTLN 3147 For depravation, to square the general sex
 FTLN 3148 By Cressid's rule. Rather, think this not Cressid. 160

ULYSSES

FTLN 3149 What hath she done, prince, that can ⟨soil⟩ our
 FTLN 3150 mothers?

TROILUS

FTLN 3151 Nothing at all, unless that this were she.
 FTLN 3152 THERSITES, 「aside」 Will he swagger himself out on 's
 FTLN 3153 own eyes? 165

TROILUS

FTLN 3154 This she? No, this is Diomed's Cressida.
 FTLN 3155 If beauty have a soul, this is not she;
 FTLN 3156 If souls guide vows, if vows be sanctimonies,
 FTLN 3157 If sanctimony be the gods' delight,
 FTLN 3158 If there be rule in unity itself, 170
 FTLN 3159 This ⟨is⟩ not she. O madness of discourse,
 FTLN 3160 That cause sets up with and against itself!
 FTLN 3161 Bifold authority, where reason can revolt
 FTLN 3162 Without perdition, and loss assume all reason
 FTLN 3163 Without revolt. This is and is not Cressid. 175
 FTLN 3164 Within my soul there doth conduce a fight
 FTLN 3165 Of this strange nature, that a thing inseparate
 FTLN 3166 Divides more wider than the sky and Earth,
 FTLN 3167 And yet the spacious breadth of this division
 FTLN 3168 Admits no orifex for a point as subtle 180
 FTLN 3169 As Ariachne's broken woof to enter.
 FTLN 3170 Instance, O instance, strong as Pluto's gates,
 FTLN 3171 Cressid is mine, tied with the bonds of heaven;
 FTLN 3172 Instance, O instance, strong as heaven itself,
 FTLN 3173 The bonds of heaven are slipped, dissolved, and 185
 FTLN 3174 loosed,
 FTLN 3175 And with another knot, ⟨five-finger-tied,⟩

FTLN 3176 The fractions of her faith, orts of her love,
 FTLN 3177 The fragments, scraps, the bits and greasy relics
 FTLN 3178 Of her o'er-eaten faith are given to Diomed. 190

ULYSSES

FTLN 3179 May worthy Troilus be half attached
 FTLN 3180 With that which here his passion doth express?

TROILUS

FTLN 3181 Ay, Greek, and that shall be divulgèd well
 FTLN 3182 In characters as red as Mars his heart
 FTLN 3183 Inflamed with Venus. Never did young man fancy 195
 FTLN 3184 With so eternal and so fixed a soul.

FTLN 3185 Hark, Greek: as much 'as' I do Cressid love,
 FTLN 3186 So much by weight hate I her Diomed.
 FTLN 3187 That sleeve is mine that he'll bear on his helm.
 FTLN 3188 Were it a casque composed by Vulcan's skill, 200
 FTLN 3189 My sword should bite it. Not the dreadful spout

FTLN 3190 Which shipmen do the hurricano call,
 FTLN 3191 Constringed in mass by the almighty sun,
 FTLN 3192 Shall dizzy with more clamor Neptune's ear
 FTLN 3193 In his descent than shall my prompted sword 205
 FTLN 3194 Falling on Diomed.

FTLN 3195 THERSITES, 'aside' He'll tickle it for his concupy.

TROILUS

FTLN 3196 O Cressid! O false Cressid! False, false, false!
 FTLN 3197 Let all untruths stand by thy stained name,
 FTLN 3198 And they'll seem glorious. 210

FTLN 3199 ULYSSES O, contain yourself.
 FTLN 3200 Your passion draws ears hither.

Enter Aeneas.

AENEAS, 'to Troilus'

FTLN 3201 I have been seeking you this hour, my lord.
 FTLN 3202 Hector, by this, is arming him in Troy.
 FTLN 3203 Ajax, your guard, stays to conduct you home. 215

TROILUS

FTLN 3204 Have with you, prince.—My courteous lord, adieu.—

FTLN 3205 Farewell, revolted fair!—And, Diomed,
 FTLN 3206 Stand fast, and wear a castle on thy head!
 FTLN 3207 ULYSSES I'll bring you to the gates.
 FTLN 3208 TROILUS Accept distracted thanks. 220
Troilus, Aeneas, and Ulysses exit.
 FTLN 3209 THERSITES Would I could meet that rogue Diomed! I
 FTLN 3210 would croak like a raven; I would bode, I would FTLN 3211 bode. Patroclus will give me anything for the intelligence
 FTLN 3212 of this whore. The parrot will not do more
 FTLN 3213 for an almond than he for a commodious drab. 225
 FTLN 3214 Lechery, lechery, still wars and lechery! Nothing
 FTLN 3215 else holds fashion. A burning devil take them!
He exits.

「Scene 3」

Enter Hector, 「armed,」 and Andromache.

ANDROMACHE

FTLN 3216 When was my lord so much ungently tempered
 FTLN 3217 To stop his ears against admonishment?
 FTLN 3218 Unarm, unarm, and do not fight today.

HECTOR

FTLN 3219 You train me to offend you. Get you in.
 FTLN 3220 By all the everlasting gods, I'll go! 5

ANDROMACHE

FTLN 3221 My dreams will sure prove ominous to the day.

HECTOR

FTLN 3222 No more, I say.

Enter Cassandra.

FTLN 3223 CASSANDRA Where is my brother Hector?

ANDROMACHE

FTLN 3224 Here, sister, armed and bloody in intent.
 FTLN 3225 Consort with me in loud and dear petition; 10
 FTLN 3226 Pursue we him on knees. For I have dreamt

FTLN 3227	Of bloody turbulence, and this whole night
FTLN 3228	Hath nothing been but shapes and forms of slaughter.
	CASSANDRA
FTLN 3229	O, 'tis true!
FTLN 3230	HECTOR, 「calling out」 Ho! Bid my trumpet sound!	15
	⟨CASSANDRA⟩
FTLN 3231	No notes of sally, for the heavens, sweet brother!
	HECTOR
FTLN 3232	Begone, I say. The gods have heard me swear.
	CASSANDRA
FTLN 3233	The gods are deaf to hot and peevish vows.
FTLN 3234	They are polluted off'rings more abhorred
FTLN 3235	Than spotted livers in the sacrifice.	20
	ANDROMACHE, 「to Hector」
FTLN 3236	O, be persuaded! Do not count it holy
FTLN 3237	⟨To hurt by being just. It is as lawful,
FTLN 3238	For we would give much, to 「use」 violent thefts
FTLN 3239	And rob in the behalf of charity.
	CASSANDRA⟩
FTLN 3240	It is the purpose that makes strong the vow,	25
FTLN 3241	But vows to every purpose must not hold.
FTLN 3242	Unarm, sweet Hector.
FTLN 3243	HECTOR Hold you still, I say.
FTLN 3244	Mine honor keeps the weather of my fate.
FTLN 3245	Life every man holds dear, but the dear man	30
FTLN 3246	Holds honor far more precious-dear than life.
	Enter Troilus, 「armed.」
FTLN 3247	How now, young man? Meanest thou to fight today?
	ANDROMACHE
FTLN 3248	Cassandra, call my father to persuade.
	Cassandra exits.
	HECTOR
FTLN 3249	No, faith, young Troilus, doff thy harness, youth.
FTLN 3250	I am today i' th' vein of chivalry.	35
FTLN 3251	Let grow thy sinews till their knots be strong,

FTLN 3252	And tempt not yet the brushes of the war.
FTLN 3253	Unarm thee, go, and doubt thou not, brave boy,
FTLN 3254	I'll stand today for thee and me and Troy.
	TROILUS
FTLN 3255	Brother, you have a vice of mercy in you	40
FTLN 3256	Which better fits a lion than a man.
	HECTOR
FTLN 3257	What vice is that? Good Troilus, chide me for it.
	TROILUS
FTLN 3258	When many times the captive Grecian falls,
FTLN 3259	Even in the fan and wind of your fair sword,
FTLN 3260	You bid them rise and live.	45
	HECTOR
FTLN 3261	O, 'tis fair play.
FTLN 3262	TROILUS Fool's play, by heaven. Hector.
	HECTOR
FTLN 3263	How now? How now?
FTLN 3264	TROILUS For th' love of all the gods,
FTLN 3265	Let's leave the hermit Pity with our mother,	50
FTLN 3266	And when we have our armors buckled on,
FTLN 3267	The venom'd Vengeance ride upon our swords,
FTLN 3268	Spur them to ruthless work, rein them from ruth.
	HECTOR
FTLN 3269	Fie, savage, fie!
FTLN 3270	TROILUS Hector, then 'tis wars.	55
	HECTOR
FTLN 3271	Troilus, I would not have you fight today.
FTLN 3272	TROILUS Who should withhold me?
FTLN 3273	Not fate, obedience, nor the hand of Mars,
FTLN 3274	Beck'ning with fiery truncheon my retire;
FTLN 3275	Not Priamus and Hecuba on knees,	60
FTLN 3276	Their eyes o'er-gall'd with recourse of tears;
FTLN 3277	Nor you, my brother, with your true sword drawn
FTLN 3278	Opposed to hinder me, should stop my way,
FTLN 3279	⟨But by my ruin.⟩

Enter Priam and Cassandra.

CASSANDRA, 「indicating Hector」

FTLN 3280 Lay hold upon him, Priam; hold him fast. 65
 FTLN 3281 He is thy crutch. Now if thou loose thy stay,
 FTLN 3282 Thou on him leaning, and all Troy on thee,
 FTLN 3283 Fall all together.

FTLN 3284 PRIAM Come, Hector, come. Go back.
 FTLN 3285 Thy wife hath dreamt, thy mother hath had visions, 70
 FTLN 3286 Cassandra doth foresee, and I myself
 FTLN 3287 Am like a prophet suddenly enrapt
 FTLN 3288 To tell thee that this day is ominous.
 FTLN 3289 Therefore, come back.

FTLN 3290 HECTOR Aeneas is afield, 75
 FTLN 3291 And I do stand engaged to many Greeks,
 FTLN 3292 Even in the faith of valor, to appear
 FTLN 3293 This morning to them.

FTLN 3294 PRIAM Ay, but thou shalt not go.

FTLN 3295 HECTOR I must not break my faith. 80
 FTLN 3296 You know me dutiful; therefore, dear sir,
 FTLN 3297 Let me not shame respect, but give me leave
 FTLN 3298 To take that course by your consent and voice
 FTLN 3299 Which you do here forbid me, royal Priam.

CASSANDRA

FTLN 3300 O Priam, yield not to him! 85

FTLN 3301 ANDROMACHE Do not, dear father

HECTOR

FTLN 3302 Andromache, I am offended with you.
 FTLN 3303 Upon the love you bear me, get you in.

Andromache exits.

TROILUS

FTLN 3304 This foolish, dreaming, superstitious girl
 FTLN 3305 Makes all these bodements. 90

FTLN 3306 CASSANDRA O farewell, dear Hector.

FTLN 3307 Look how thou diest! Look how thy eye turns pale!
 FTLN 3308 Look how thy wounds do bleed at many vents!

FTLN 3309	Hark, how Troy roars, how Hecuba cries out,
FTLN 3310	How poor Andromache shrills her ⟨dolor⟩ forth!	95
FTLN 3311	Behold, ⟨distraction,⟩ frenzy, and amazement,
FTLN 3312	Like witless antics, one another meet,
FTLN 3313	And all cry “Hector! Hector’s dead! O, Hector!”
FTLN 3314	TROILUS Away, away!
	CASSANDRA
FTLN 3315	Farewell.—Yet soft! Hector, I take my leave.	100
FTLN 3316	Thou dost thyself and all our Troy deceive. ⟨ She exits. ⟩
	HECTOR
FTLN 3317	You are amazed, my liege, at her exclaim.
FTLN 3318	Go in and cheer the town. We’ll forth and fight,
FTLN 3319	Do deeds worth praise, and tell you them at night.
	PRIAM
FTLN 3320	Farewell. The gods with safety stand about thee!	105
	⟨ Hector and Priam exit at separate doors. ⟩
	Alarum.
	TROILUS
FTLN 3321	They are at it, hark! Proud Diomed, believe,
FTLN 3322	I come to lose my arm or win my sleeve.
	Enter Pandarus, ⟨with a paper.⟩
FTLN 3323	PANDARUS Do you hear, my lord? Do you hear?
FTLN 3324	TROILUS What now?
FTLN 3325	PANDARUS Here’s a letter come from yond poor girl.	110
FTLN 3326	TROILUS Let me read. ⟨ He reads. ⟩
FTLN 3327	PANDARUS A whoreson phthisic, a whoreson rascally
FTLN 3328	phthisic so troubles me, and the foolish fortune of
FTLN 3329	this girl, and what one thing, what another, that I
FTLN 3330	shall leave you one o’ ⟨these⟩ days. And I have a	115
FTLN 3331	rheum in mine eyes too, and such an ache in my
FTLN 3332	bones that, unless a man were cursed, I cannot tell
FTLN 3333	what to think on ’t.—What says she there?
	TROILUS
FTLN 3334	Words, words, mere words, no matter from the heart.
FTLN 3335	Th’ effect doth operate another way.	120

FTLN 3336

Go, wind, to wind! There turn and change together.

「He tears up the paper and throws the pieces in the air.」

FTLN 3337

My love with words and errors still she feeds,

FTLN 3338

But edifies another with her deeds.

They exit.

「Scene 4」

〈Alarum.〉 Excursions. Enter Thersites.

FTLN 3339

THERSITES Now they are clapper-clawing one another.

FTLN 3340

I'll go look on. That dissembling abominable varlet,

FTLN 3341

Diomed, has got that same scurvy doting foolish

FTLN 3342

〈young〉 knave's sleeve of Troy there in his helm.

FTLN 3343

I would fain see them meet, that that same young

5

FTLN 3344

Trojan ass that loves the whore there might send

FTLN 3345

that Greekish whoremasterly villain with the sleeve

FTLN 3346

back to the dissembling luxurious drab, of a sleeveless

FTLN 3347

errand. O' th' t'other side, the policy of those

FTLN 3348

crafty swearing rascals—that stale old mouse-eaten

10

FTLN 3349

dry cheese, Nestor, and that same dog-fox,

FTLN 3350

Ulysses—is 「proved not」 worth a blackberry. They

FTLN 3351

set me up, in policy, that mongrel cur, Ajax, against

FTLN 3352

that dog of as bad a kind, Achilles. And now is the cur Ajax prouder than the cur Achilles, and will 15

FTLN 3353

FTLN 3354

not arm today, whereupon the Grecians 「begin」 to

FTLN 3355

proclaim barbarism, and policy grows into an ill

opinion.

〈Enter Diomedes, and Troilus 「pursuing him.」〉

FTLN 3357

Soft! Here comes sleeve and t' other.

「Thersites moves aside.」

TROILUS, 「to Diomedes」

FTLN 3358

Fly not, for shouldst thou take the river Styx

20

FTLN 3359

I would swim after.

FTLN 3360

DIOMEDES Thou dost miscall retire.

FTLN 3361 I do not fly, but advantageous care
 FTLN 3362 Withdrew me from the odds of multitude.
 FTLN 3363 Have at thee! 「They fight.」 25
 FTLN 3364 THERSITES Hold thy whore, Grecian! Now for thy FTLN 3365 whore, Trojan! Now the sleeve, now the sleeve!
「Diomedes and Troilus exit fighting.」

Enter Hector.

HECTOR

FTLN 3366 What art ⟨thou,⟩ Greek? Art thou for Hector's match?
 FTLN 3367 Art thou of blood and honor?
 FTLN 3368 THERSITES No, no, I am a rascal, a scurvy railing 30
 FTLN 3369 knave, a very filthy rogue.
 FTLN 3370 HECTOR I do believe thee. Live. 「He exits.」
 FTLN 3371 THERSITES God-a-mercy, that thou wilt believe me!
 FTLN 3372 But a plague break thy neck for frightening me!
 FTLN 3373 What's become of the wenching rogues? I think 35
 FTLN 3374 they have swallowed one another. I would laugh at FTLN 3375 that miracle—yet, in a sort, lechery eats itself. I'll FTLN 3376 seek them.

He exits.

「Scene 5」

Enter Diomedes and 「Servingman.」

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3377 Go, go, my servant, take thou Troilus' horse;
 FTLN 3378 Present the fair steed to my Lady Cressid.
 FTLN 3379 Fellow, commend my service to her beauty.
 FTLN 3380 Tell her I have chastised the amorous Trojan
 FTLN 3381 And am her knight by proof. 5
 FTLN 3382 MAN I go, my lord. 「He exits.」

Enter Agamemnon.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 3383 Renew, renew! The fierce Polydamas
 FTLN 3384 Hath beat down Menon; bastard Margareton
 FTLN 3385 Hath Doreus prisoner,
 FTLN 3386 And stands colossus-wise, waving his beam 10
 FTLN 3387 Upon the pashèd corsès of the kings
 FTLN 3388 Epistrophus and Cediùs. Polyxenes is slain,
 FTLN 3389 Amphemachus and Thoas deadly hurt,
 FTLN 3390 Patroclus ta'en or slain, and Palamedes
 FTLN 3391 Sore hurt and bruised. The dreadful Sagittary 15
 FTLN 3392 Appals our numbers. Haste we, Diomed,
 FTLN 3393 To reinforcement, or we perish all.

Enter Nestor, [with Soldiers bearing the body of Patroclus.]

NESTOR

FTLN 3394 Go, bear Patroclus' body to Achilles,
 FTLN 3395 And bid the snail-paced Ajax arm for shame.
[Soldiers exit with Patroclus's body.]
 FTLN 3396 There is a thousand Hectors in the field. 20
 FTLN 3397 Now here he fights on Galathe his horse,
 FTLN 3398 And [here] lacks work; anon he's there afoot
 FTLN 3399 And there they fly or die, like [scalèd] schools
 FTLN 3400 Before the belching whale; then is he yonder,
 FTLN 3401 And there the strawy Greeks, ripe for his edge, 25
 FTLN 3402 Fall down before him like a mower's swath.
 FTLN 3403 Here, there, and everywhere he leaves and takes,
 FTLN 3404 Dexterity so obeying appetite
 FTLN 3405 That what he will he does, and does so much
 FTLN 3406 That proof is called impossibility. 30

Enter Ulysses.

ULYSSES

FTLN 3407 O, courage, courage, princes! Great Achilles
 FTLN 3408 Is arming, weeping, cursing, vowing vengeance.
 FTLN 3409 Patroclus' wounds have roused his drowsy blood,
 FTLN 3410 Together with his mangled Myrmidons,

FTLN 3411	That noseless, handless, hacked and chipped, come	35
FTLN 3412	to him,
FTLN 3413	Crying on Hector. Ajax hath lost a friend
FTLN 3414	And foams at mouth, and he is armed and at it,
FTLN 3415	Roaring for Troilus, who hath done today
FTLN 3416	Mad and fantastic execution,	40
FTLN 3417	Engaging and redeeming of himself
FTLN 3418	With such a careless force and forceless care
FTLN 3419	As if that ⟨luck,⟩ in very spite of cunning,
FTLN 3420	Bade him win all.

Enter Ajax.

FTLN 3421	⟨AJAX⟩ Troilus, thou coward Troilus!	He exits.	45
FTLN 3422	DIOMEDES Ay, there, there!	He exits.
FTLN 3423	NESTOR So, so, we draw together.

Enter Achilles.

FTLN 3424	ACHILLES Where is this Hector?—
FTLN 3425	Come, come, thou boy-queller, show thy face!
FTLN 3426	Know what it is to meet Achilles angry.	50
FTLN 3427	Hector! Where's Hector? I will none but Hector.
	He exits, 「with the others.」

「Scene 6」

Enter Ajax.

FTLN 3428	⟨AJAX⟩ Troilus, thou coward Troilus, show thy head!
-----------	---

Enter Diomedes.

FTLN 3429	⟨DIOMEDES⟩ Troilus, I say! Where's Troilus?
FTLN 3430	AJAX What wouldst thou?
FTLN 3431	DIOMEDES I would correct him.
	AJAX
FTLN 3432	Were I the General, thou shouldst have my office	5
FTLN 3433	Ere that correction.—Troilus, I say! What, Troilus!

Enter Troilus.

TROILUS

FTLN 3434 O traitor Diomed! Turn thy false face, thou traitor,
FTLN 3435 And pay ^{the} life thou owest me for my horse!

FTLN 3436 DIOMEDES Ha! Art thou there?

AJAX

FTLN 3437 I'll fight with him alone. Stand, Diomed. 10

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3438 He is my prize. I will not look upon.

TROILUS

FTLN 3439 Come, both you cogging Greeks. Have at you both!

⟨Enter Hector.⟩

⟨Troilus exits, ^{the} fighting Diomedes and Ajax.⟩

HECTOR

FTLN 3440 Yea, Troilus? O, well fought, my youngest brother!

Enter Achilles.

⟨ACHILLES⟩

FTLN 3441 Now do I see thee. Ha! Have at thee, Hector!

^{the} They fight.

FTLN 3442 HECTOR Pause if thou wilt. 15

ACHILLES

FTLN 3443 I do disdain thy courtesy, proud Trojan.

FTLN 3444 Be happy that my arms are out of use.

FTLN 3445 My rest and negligence befriends thee now,

FTLN 3446 But thou anon shalt hear of me again;

FTLN 3447 Till when, go seek thy fortune.

He exits. 20

FTLN 3448 HECTOR Fare thee well.

FTLN 3449 I would have been much more a fresher man

FTLN 3450 Had I expected thee.

Enter Troilus.

FTLN 3451 How now, my brother?

TROILUS

FTLN 3452 Ajax hath ta'en Aeneas. Shall it be? 25
 FTLN 3453 No, by the flame of yonder glorious heaven,
 FTLN 3454 He shall not carry him. I'll be ta'en too
 FTLN 3455 Or bring him off. Fate, hear me what I say!
 FTLN 3456 I reckon not though I end my life today.

He exits.Enter one in 'Greek' armor.

HECTOR

FTLN 3457 Stand, stand, thou Greek! Thou art a goodly mark. 30
 FTLN 3458 No? Wilt thou not? I like thy armor well.
 FTLN 3459 I'll frush it and unlock the rivets all,
 FTLN 3460 But I'll be master of it. 'The Greek exits.'
 FTLN 3461 Wilt thou not, beast, abide?
 FTLN 3462 Why then, fly on. I'll hunt thee for thy hide. 35

He exits.'Scene 7'Enter Achilles, with Myrmidons.

《ACHILLES》

FTLN 3463 Come here about me, you my Myrmidons.
 FTLN 3464 Mark what I say. Attend me where I wheel.
 FTLN 3465 Strike not a stroke, but keep yourselves in breath,
 FTLN 3466 And, when I have the bloody Hector found,
 FTLN 3467 Empale him with your weapons round about. 5
 FTLN 3468 In fellest manner execute your arms.
 FTLN 3469 Follow me, sirs, and my proceedings eye.
 FTLN 3470 It is decreed Hector the great must die.

'They' exit.

「Scene 8」

Enter Thersites; 「then」 Menelaus 「fighting」 Paris.

FTLN 3471 THERSITES The cuckold and the cuckold-maker are at FTLN 3472 it. Now, bull! Now, dog! Loo, Paris, loo! Now, my FTLN 3473 「double-horned」 Spartan! Loo, Paris, loo! The bull
FTLN 3474 has the game. Ware horns, ho!

Paris and Menelaus exit, 「fighting.」

Enter Bastard.

FTLN 3475	BASTARD	Turn, slave, and fight.	5
FTLN 3476	THERSITES	What art thou?
FTLN 3477	BASTARD	A bastard son of Priam's.
FTLN 3478	THERSITES	I am a bastard too. I love bastards. I am
FTLN 3479		bastard begot, bastard instructed, bastard in mind,
FTLN 3480		bastard in valor, in everything illegitimate. One	10
FTLN 3481		bear will not bite another, and wherefore should
FTLN 3482		one bastard? Take heed: the quarrel's most ominous
FTLN 3483		to us. If the son of a whore fight for a whore,
FTLN 3484		he tempts judgment. Farewell, bastard. 「He exits.」
FTLN 3485	BASTARD	The devil take thee, coward!	15
		He exits.

「Scene 9」

Enter Hector, 「with the body of the Greek in armor.」

HECTOR

FTLN 3486 Most putrefied core, so fair without,
FTLN 3487 Thy goodly armor thus hath cost thy life.
FTLN 3488 Now is my day's work done. I'll take my breath.
FTLN 3489 Rest, sword; thou hast thy fill of blood and death.
「He begins to disarm.」

Enter Achilles and 〈his〉 Myrmidons.

ACHILLES

FTLN 3490 Look, Hector, how the sun begins to set, 5
 FTLN 3491 How ugly night comes breathing at his heels.
 FTLN 3492 Even with the vail and dark'ning of the sun
 FTLN 3493 To close the day up, Hector's life is done.

HECTOR

FTLN 3494 I am unarmed. Forgo this vantage, Greek.

ACHILLES

FTLN 3495 Strike, fellows, strike! This is the man I seek. 10
「The Myrmidons kill Hector.」
 FTLN 3496 So, Ilium, fall thou next! Come, Troy, sink down!
 FTLN 3497 Here lies thy heart, thy sinews, and thy bone.
 FTLN 3498 On, Myrmidons, and cry you all amain
 FTLN 3499 "Achilles hath the mighty Hector slain."

Retreat 「sounded from both armies.」

FTLN 3500 Hark! A retire upon our Grecian part. 15

「A MYRMIDON」

FTLN 3501 The «Trojan trumpets» sound the like, my lord.

ACHILLES

FTLN 3502 The dragon wing of night o'erspreads the Earth
 FTLN 3503 And, stickler-like, the armies separates.
 FTLN 3504 My half-supped sword, that frankly would have fed,
 FTLN 3505 Pleased with this dainty bait, thus goes to bed. 20

「He sheathes his sword.」

FTLN 3506 Come, tie his body to my horse's tail;

FTLN 3507 Along the field I will the Trojan trail.

They exit 「with the bodies.」

「Scene 10」

«Sound retreat.» Enter Agamemnon, Ajax, Menelaus, Nestor, Diomedes, and the rest, marching 「to the beat of drums.」 «Shout 「within.」»

FTLN 3508 AGAMEMNON Hark, hark, what «shout» is this?

FTLN 3509 NESTOR Peace, drums! 「The drums cease.」

SOLDIERS, within

FTLN 3510 Achilles! Achilles! Hector's slain! Achilles!

DIOMEDES

FTLN 3511 The bruit is Hector's slain, and by Achilles.

AJAX

FTLN 3512 If it be so, yet bragless let it be. 5

FTLN 3513 Great Hector was as good a man as he.

AGAMEMNON

FTLN 3514 March patiently along. Let one be sent

FTLN 3515 To pray Achilles see us at our tent.

FTLN 3516 If in his death the gods have us befriended,

FTLN 3517 Great Troy is ours, and our sharp wars are ended. 10

They exit, 「marching.」

「Scene 11」

Enter Aeneas, Paris, Antenor, Deiphobus, 「and Trojan soldiers.」

AENEAS

FTLN 3518 Stand, ho! Yet are we masters of the field.

FTLN 3519 Never go home; here starve we out the night.

Enter Troilus.

TROILUS

FTLN 3520 Hector is slain.

FTLN 3521 ALL Hector! The gods forbid!

TROILUS

FTLN 3522 He's dead, and at the murderer's horse's tail, 5

FTLN 3523 In beastly sort, dragged through the shameful field.

FTLN 3524 Frown on, you heavens; effect your rage with speed.

FTLN 3525 Sit, gods, upon your thrones, and 「smite」 at Troy!

FTLN 3526 I say at once: let your brief plagues be mercy,

FTLN 3527 And linger not our sure destructions on! 10

AENEAS

FTLN 3528 My lord, you do discomfort all the host.

TROILUS

FTLN 3529 You understand me not that tell me so.
 FTLN 3530 I do not speak of flight, of fear, of death,
 FTLN 3531 But dare all imminence that gods and men
 FTLN 3532 Address their dangers in. Hector is gone. 15
 FTLN 3533 Who shall tell Priam so, or Hecuba?
 FTLN 3534 Let him that will a screech-owl aye be called
 FTLN 3535 Go into Troy and say their Hector's dead.
 FTLN 3536 There is a word will Priam turn to stone,
 FTLN 3537 Make wells and Niobes of the maids and wives, 20
 FTLN 3538 Cold statues of the youth and, in a word,
 FTLN 3539 Scare Troy out of itself. (But march away.
 FTLN 3540 Hector is dead.) There is no more to say.
 FTLN 3541 Stay yet. You (vile) abominable tents,
 FTLN 3542 Thus proudly pitched upon our Phrygian plains, 25
 FTLN 3543 Let Titan rise as early as he dare,
 FTLN 3544 I'll through and through you! And, thou great-sized
 FTLN 3545 coward,
 FTLN 3546 No space of earth shall sunder our two hates.
 FTLN 3547 I'll haunt thee like a wicked conscience still, 30
 FTLN 3548 That moldeth goblins swift as frenzy's thoughts.
 FTLN 3549 Strike a free march to Troy! With comfort go.
 FTLN 3550 Hope of revenge shall hide our inward woe.

Enter Pandarus.

FTLN 3551 PANDARUS But hear you, hear you!

TROILUS

FTLN 3552 Hence, broker, lackey! (Ignomy and) shame 35
 FTLN 3553 Pursue thy life, and live aye with thy name!

All but Pandarus exit.

FTLN 3554 PANDARUS A goodly medicine for my aching bones! O
 FTLN 3555 world, world, (world)! Thus is the poor agent despised.
 FTLN 3556 O traitors and bawds, how earnestly are FTLN 3557 you set a-work, and how ill requited! Why should 40
 FTLN 3558 our endeavor be so loved and the performance so
 FTLN 3559 loathed? What verse for it? What instance for it?

FTLN 3560	Let me see:
FTLN 3561	Full merrily the humble-bee doth sing,
FTLN 3562	Till he hath lost his honey and his sting;	45
FTLN 3563	And being once subdued in armèd tail,
FTLN 3564	Sweet honey and sweet notes together fail.
FTLN 3565	Good traders in the flesh, set this in your painted
FTLN 3566	cloths:
FTLN 3567	As many as be here of panders' hall,	50
FTLN 3568	Your eyes, half out, weep out at Pandar's fall;
FTLN 3569	Or if you cannot weep, yet give some groans,
FTLN 3570	Though not for me, yet for ⟨your⟩ aching bones.
FTLN 3571	Brethren and sisters of the hold-door trade,
FTLN 3572	Some two months hence my will shall here be made.	55
FTLN 3573	It should be now, but that my fear is this:
FTLN 3574	Some gallèd goose of Winchester would hiss.
FTLN 3575	Till then I'll sweat and seek about for eases,
FTLN 3576	And at that time bequeath you my diseases.

He exits.
