Epilogue
It is hard to imagine a world without Shakespeare. Since their composition four hundred years ago, Shakespeare’s plays and poems have traveled the globe, inviting those who see and read his works to make them their own.

Readers of the New Folger Editions are part of this ongoing process of “taking up Shakespeare,” finding our own thoughts and feelings in language that strikes us as old or unusual and, for that very reason, new. We still struggle to keep up with a writer who could think a mile a minute, whose words paint pictures that shift like clouds. These expertly edited texts are presented to the public as a resource for study, artistic adaptation, and enjoyment. By making the classic texts of the New Folger Editions available in electronic form as Folger Digital Texts, we place a trusted resource in the hands of anyone who wants them.

The New Folger Editions of Shakespeare’s plays, which are the basis for the texts realized here in digital form, are special because of their origin. The Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, DC, is the single greatest documentary source of Shakespeare’s works. An unparalleled collection of early modern books, manuscripts, and artwork connected to Shakespeare, the Folger’s holdings have been consulted extensively in the preparation of these texts. The Editions also reflect the expertise gained through the regular performance of Shakespeare’s works in the Folger’s Elizabethan Theater.

I want to express my deep thanks to editors Barbara Mowat and Paul Werstine for creating these indispensable editions of Shakespeare’s works, which incorporate the best of textual scholarship with a richness of commentary that is both inspired and engaging. Readers who want to know more about Shakespeare and his plays can follow the paths these distinguished scholars have tread by visiting the Folger either in-person or online, where a range of physical and digital resources exists to supplement the material in these texts. I commend to you these words, and hope that they inspire.

Michael Witmore
Director, Folger Shakespeare Library
Until now, with the release of the Folger Digital Texts, readers in search of a free online text of Shakespeare’s plays had to be content primarily with using the Moby™ Text, which reproduces a late-nineteenth century version of the plays. What is the difference? Many ordinary readers assume that there is a single text for the plays: what Shakespeare wrote. But Shakespeare’s plays were not published the way modern novels or plays are published today: as a single, authoritative text. In some cases, the plays have come down to us in multiple published versions, represented by various Quartos (Qq) and by the great collection put together by his colleagues in 1623, called the First Folio (F). There are, for example, three very different versions of Hamlet, two of King Lear, Henry V, Romeo and Juliet, and others. Editors choose which version to use as their base text, and then amend that text with words, lines or speech prefixes from the other versions that, in their judgment, make for a better or more accurate text.

Other editorial decisions involve choices about whether an unfamiliar word could be understood in light of other writings of the period or whether it should be changed; decisions about words that made it into Shakespeare’s text by accident through four hundred years of printings and misprinting; and even decisions based on cultural preference and taste. When the Moby™ Text was created, for example, it was deemed “improper” and “indecent” for Miranda to chastise Caliban for having attempted to rape her. (See The Tempest, 1.2: “Abhorred slave,/Which any print of goodness wilt not take,/Being capable of all ill! I pitied thee…”). All Shakespeare editors at the time took the speech away from her and gave it to her father, Prospero.

The editors of the Moby™ Shakespeare produced their text long before scholars fully understood the proper grounds on which to make the thousands of decisions that Shakespeare editors face. The Folger Library Shakespeare Editions, on which the Folger Digital Texts depend, make this editorial process as nearly transparent as is possible, in contrast to older texts, like the Moby™, which hide editorial interventions. The reader of the Folger Shakespeare knows where the text has been altered because editorial interventions are signaled by square brackets (for example, from Othello: “[If she in chains of magic were not bound,”), half-square brackets (for example, from Henry V: “With †blood† and sword and fire to win your right,”), or angle brackets (for example, from Hamlet: “O farewell, honest (soldier.) Who hath relieved/you?”). At any point in the text, you can hover your cursor over a bracket for more information.

Because the Folger Digital Texts are edited in accord with twenty-first century knowledge about Shakespeare’s texts, the Folger here provides them to readers, scholars, teachers, actors, directors, and students, free of charge, confident of their quality as texts of the plays and pleased to be able to make this contribution to the study and enjoyment of Shakespeare.
Henry IV, Part 2, continues the story of Henry IV, Part I. Northumberland learns that his son Hotspur is dead, and he rejoins the remaining rebels. When Hotspur’s widow convinces Northumberland to withdraw, the rebels are then led by the archbishop of York and Lords Mowbray and Hastings, who muster at York to confront the king’s forces.

Sir John Falstaff, meanwhile, glories in the reputation he has gained by falsely claiming to have killed Hotspur, and he uses his wit and cunning to escape charges by the Lord Chief Justice. Prince Hal and his companion Poins disguise themselves to observe Falstaff, and they hear him insult them both. After they confront him, Prince Hal and Falstaff must return to the wars. The king’s army is again victorious, but more through deceit and false promises than through valor.

With the rebellion over, Prince Hal attends his dying father. Hal becomes Henry V, reassures the Lord Chief Justice, and turns away Falstaff, who had expected royal favor.

Enter Rumor, painted full of tongues.

[ RUMOR ]
Open your ears, for which of you will stop
The vent of hearing when loud Rumor speaks?
I, from the orient to the drooping west,
Making the wind my post-horse, still unfold
The acts commencèd on this ball of earth.
Upon my tongues continual slanders ride,
The which in every language I pronounce,
Stuffing the ears of men with false reports.
I speak of peace while covert enmity
Under the smile of safety wounds the world.
And who but Rumor, who but only I,
Make fearful musters and prepared defense
While the big year, swoll’n with some other grief,
Is thought with child by the stern tyrant war,
And no such matter? Rumor is a pipe
Blown by surmises, jealousies, conjectures,
And of so easy and so plain a stop
That the blunt monster with uncounted heads,
The still-discordant wav’ring multitude,
Can play upon it. But what need I thus
My well-known body to anatomize
Among my household? Why is Rumor here?
I run before King Harry’s victory,
Who in a bloody field by Shrewsbury
Hath beaten down young Hotspur and his troops,
Quenching the flame of bold rebellion
Even with the rebels’ blood. But what mean I
To speak so true at first? My office is
To noise abroad that Harry Monmouth fell
Under the wrath of noble Hotspur’s sword,
And that the King before the Douglas’ rage
Stood low as death.
This have I rumored through the peasant towns
Between that royal field of Shrewsbury
And this worm-eaten hold of ragged stone,
<Where> Hotspur’s father, old Northumberland, Lies crafty-sick. The posts come tiring on,
And not a man of them brings other news
Than they have learnt of me. From Rumor’s tongues
They bring smooth comforts false, worse than true wrongs.

Rumor exits.
Enter the Lord Bardolph at one door.

LORD BARDOLPH

Who keeps the gate here, ho?

'Enter the Porter.'

PORTER

Where is the Earl?

LORD BARDOLPH

What shall I say you are?

Tell thou the Earl

That the Lord Bardolph doth attend him here.

PORTER

His Lordship is walked forth into the orchard.

Please it your Honor knock but at the gate

And he himself will answer.

Enter the Earl Northumberland, 'his head wrapped in a kerchief and supporting himself with a crutch.'

LORD BARDOLPH

Here comes the Earl.

'Porter exits.'

NORTHUMBERLAND

What news, Lord Bardolph? Every minute now

Should be the father of some stratagem.

The times are wild. Contention, like a horse
Full of high feeding, madly hath broke loose
And bears down all before him.

Noble earl,
I bring you certain news from Shrewsbury.

Good, an God will!

As good as heart can wish.

The King is almost wounded to the death,
And, in the fortune of my lord your son,
Prince Harry slain outright; and both the Blunts Killed by the hand of Douglas; young Prince John
And Westmoreland and Stafford fled the field;
And Harry Monmouth’s brawn, the hulk Sir John,
Is prisoner to your son. O, such a day,
So fought, so followed, and so fairly won,
Came not till now to dignify the times
Since Caesar’s fortunes.

How is this derived?

Saw you the field? Came you from Shrewsbury?

I spake with one, my lord, that came from thence,
A gentleman well bred and of good name,
That freely rendered me these news for true.

Enter Travers.

Here comes my servant Travers, who I sent
On Tuesday last to listen after news.

My lord, I overrode him on the way,
And he is furnished with no certainties
More than he haply may retail from me.

Now, Travers, what good tidings comes with you?

My lord, Sir John Umfrevile turned me back
With joyful tidings and, being better horsed, Outrode me. After him came spurring hard
A gentleman, almost forspent with speed,
That stopped by me to breathe his bloodied horse.
He asked the way to Chester, and of him
I did demand what news from Shrewsbury.
He told me that rebellion had bad luck
And that young Harry Percy’s spur was cold.
With that he gave his able horse the head
And, bending forward, struck his armèd heels
Against the panting sides of his poor jade
Up to the rowel-head, and starting so
He seemed in running to devour the way,
Staying no longer question.

NORTHUMBERLAND Ha? Again:
Said he young Harry Percy’s spur was cold?
Of Hotspur, Coldspur? That rebellion
Had met ill luck?

LORD BARDOLPH My lord, I’ll tell you what:
If my young lord your son have not the day,
Upon mine honor, for a silken point
I’ll give my barony. Never talk of it.

Why should that gentleman that rode by Travers
Give then such instances of loss?

LORD BARDOLPH Who, he?
He was some hilding fellow that had stol’n
The horse he rode on and, upon my life,
Spoke at a venture.

Enter Morton.

Look, here comes more news.

Yea, this man’s brow, like to a title leaf,
Foretells the nature of a tragic volume.
So looks the strand whereon the imperious flood
Say, Morton, didst thou come from Shrewsbury?

MORTON
I ran from Shrewsbury, my noble lord,
Where hateful death put on his ugliest mask
To fright our party.

NORTHUMBERLAND How doth my son and brother?
Thou tremblest, and the whiteness in thy cheek
Is apter than thy tongue to tell thy errand.

Even such a man, so faint, so spiritless,
So dull, so dead in look, so woebegone,
Drew Priam’s curtain in the dead of night
And would have told him half his Troy was burnt;
But Priam found the fire ere he his tongue,
And I my Percy’s death ere thou report’st it.

This thou wouldst say: “Your son did thus and thus;
Your brother thus; so fought the noble Douglas”— Stopping my greedy ear with their bold deeds.

But in the end, to stop my ear indeed,
Thou hast a sigh to blow away this praise,
Ending with “Brother, son, and all are dead.”

MORTON
Douglas is living, and your brother yet,
But for my lord your son—

NORTHUMBERLAND Why, he is dead.
See what a ready tongue suspicion hath!
He that but fears the thing he would not know
Hath, by instinct, knowledge from others’ eyes
That what he feared is chancéd. Yet speak,

Morton.

Tell thou an earl his divination lies,
And I will take it as a sweet disgrace
And make thee rich for doing me such wrong.

MORTON
You are too great to be by me gainsaid,
Your spirit is too true, your fears too certain.
Yet, for all this, say not that Percy’s dead.
I see a strange confession in thine eye.
Thou shak’st thy head and hold’st it fear or sin
To speak a truth. If he be slain, (say so.)
The tongue offends not that reports his death;
And he doth sin that doth belie the dead,
Not he which says the dead is not alive.
Yet the first bringer of unwelcome news
Hath but a losing office, and his tongue
Sounds ever after as a sullen bell
Remembered tolling a departing friend.

I cannot think, my lord, your son is dead.

I am sorry I should force you to believe
That which I would to God I had not seen,
But these mine eyes saw him in bloody state,
Rend’ring faint quittance, wearied and outbreathed,
To Harry Monmouth, whose swift wrath beat down
The never-daunted Percy to the earth,
From whence with life he never more sprung up.
In few, his death, whose spirit lent a fire
Even to the dullest peasant in his camp,
Being bruited once, took fire and heat away
From the best-tempered courage in his troops;
For from his mettle was his party steeled,
Which, once in him abated, all the rest
Turned on themselves, like dull and heavy lead.
And as the thing that’s heavy in itself
Upon enforcement flies with greatest speed,
So did our men, heavy in Hotspur’s loss,
Lend to this weight such lightness with their fear
That arrows fled not swifter toward their aim
Than did our soldiers, aiming at their safety,
Fly from the field. Then was that noble Worcester
So soon ta’en prisoner; and that furious Scot,
The bloody Douglas, whose well-laboring sword
Had three times slain th’ appearance of the King,
Gan vail his stomach and did grace the shame
Of those that turned their backs and in his flight, Stumbling in fear, was took. The sum of all
Is that the King hath won and hath sent out
A speedy power to encounter you, my lord,
Under the conduct of young Lancaster
And Westmoreland. This is the news at full.

NORTHUMBERLAND

For this I shall have time enough to mourn.
In poison there is physic, and these news,
Having been well, that would have made me sick,
Being sick, have in some measure made me well.
And as the wretch whose fever-weakened joints,
Like strengthless hinges, buckle under life,
Impatient of his fit, breaks like a fire
Out of his keeper’s arms, even so my limbs, Weakened with grief, being now enraged with
Are thrice themselves. Hence therefore, thou nice crutch. "He throws down his crutch."
A scaly gauntlet now with joints of steel Must glove this hand. And hence, thou sickly coif. "He removes his kerchief."
Thou art a guard too wanton for the head
Which princes, fleshed with conquest, aim to hit.
Now bind my brows with iron, and approach
The ragged’st hour that time and spite dare bring
To frown upon th’ enraged Northumberland.
Let heaven kiss Earth! Now let not Nature’s hand
Keep the wild flood confined. Let order die,
And let this world no longer be a stage
To feed contention in a lingering act;
But let one spirit of the firstborn Cain
Reign in all bosoms, that, each heart being set
On bloody courses, the rude scene may end,
And darkness be the burier of the dead.

\textit{LORD BARDOLPH}\textsuperscript{\textdagger}

[This strainèd passion doth you wrong, my lord.]

\textit{MORTON}\textsuperscript{\textdagger}

Sweet earl, divorce not wisdom from your honor.
The lives of all your loving complices
\textit{(Lean) on (your) health, the which, if you give o’er
To stormy passion, must perforce decay.}
\textit{(You cast th’ event of war, my noble lord,
And summed the accompt of chance before you said
“Let us make head.”} It was your presurmise
That in the dole of blows your son might drop.
You knew he walked o’er perils on an edge,
More likely to fall in than to get o’er.
You were advised his flesh was capable
Of wounds and scars, and that his forward spirit
Would lift him where most trade of danger ranged.
Yet did you say “Go forth,” and none of this,
Though strongly apprehended, could restrain
The stiff-borne action. What hath then befall’n,
Or what \textit{did} this bold enterprise bring forth,
More than that being which was like to be?\}

\textit{LORD BARDOLPH}\textsuperscript{\textdagger}

We all that are engagèd to this loss
Knew that we ventured on such dangerous seas
That if we wrought out life, ’twas ten to one;
And yet we ventured, for the gain proposed Choked the respect of likely peril feared;
And since we are o’erset, venture again.
Come, we will all put forth, body and goods.
MORTON

’Tis more than time.—And, my most noble lord,
I hear for certain, and dare speak the truth:
(The gentle Archbishop of York is up
With well-appointed powers. He is a man
Who with a double surety binds his followers.
My lord your son had only but the corpse,
But shadows and the shows of men, to fight;
For that same word “rebellion” did divide
The action of their bodies from their souls,
And they did fight with queasiness, constrained,
As men drink potions, that their weapons only Seemed on our side. But, for their spirits and souls,
This word “rebellion,” it had froze them up
As fish are in a pond. But now the Bishop Turns insurrection to religion.
Supposed sincere and holy in his thoughts,
He’s followed both with body and with mind,
And doth enlarge his rising with the blood
Of fair King Richard, scraped from Pomfret stones;
Derives from heaven his quarrel and his cause;
Tell them he doth bestride a bleeding land,
Gasping for life under great Bolingbroke;
And more and less do flock to follow him.)

NORTHUMBERLAND

I knew of this before, but, to speak truth,
This present grief had wiped it from my mind.
Go in with me and counsel every man
The aptest way for safety and revenge.
Get posts and letters, and make friends with speed.
Never so few, and never yet more need.

They exit.

Sirrah, you giant, what says the doctor to my water?

He said, sir, the water itself was a good healthy water, but, for the party that owed it, he might have more diseases than he knew for.

Men of all sorts take a pride to gird at me.

The brain of this foolish-compounded clay, man, is not able to invent anything that intends to laughter more than I invent, or is invented on me. I am not only witty in myself, but the cause that wit is in other men. I do here walk before thee like a sow that hath overwhelmed all her litter but one. If the Prince put thee into my service for any other reason than to set me off, why then I have no judgment.

Thou whoreson mandrake, thou art fitter to be worn in my cap than to wait at my heels. I was never manned with an agate till now, but I will inset you neither in gold nor silver, but in vile apparel, and send you back again to your master for a jewel. The juvenal, the Prince your master, whose chin is not yet fledge—I will sooner have a beard grow in the palm of my hand than he shall get one off his cheek, and yet he will not stick to say his face is a face royal. God may finish it when He will. ’Tis not a hair amiss yet. He may keep it still at a face royal, for a barber shall never earn sixpence out of it, and yet he’ll be crowing as if he had writ man ever since his father was a bachelor. He may keep his own grace, but he’s almost out of mine, I can assure him. What said Master Dommelton about the satin for my short cloak and my slops?
He said, sir, you should procure him better assurance than Bardolph. He would not take his band and yours. He liked not the security.

FALSTAFF Let him be damned like the glutton! Pray God his tongue be hotter! A whoreson Achitophel, a rascally yea-forsooth knave, to bear a gentleman in hand and then stand upon security! The whoreson smoothy-pates do now wear nothing but high shoes and bunches of keys at their girdles; and if a man is through with them in honest taking up, then they must stand upon security. I had as lief they would put ratsbane in my mouth as offer to stop it with “security.” I looked he should have sent me two-and-twenty yards of satin, as I am a true knight, and he sends me “security.” Well, he may sleep in security, for he hath the horn of abundance, and the lightness of his wife shines through it, and yet cannot he see though he have his own lantern to light him. Where’s Bardolph?

He’s gone in Smithfield to buy your Worship a horse.

I bought him in Paul’s, and he’ll buy me a horse in Smithfield. An I could get me but a wife in the stews, I were manned, horsed, and wived.

Enter Lord Chief Justice (and Servant.)

Sir, here comes the nobleman that committed the Prince for striking him about Bardolph.

Wait close. I will not see him.

[They begin to exit.]

What’s he that goes there?

Falstaff, an ’t please your Lordship.

He that was in question for the robbery?

He, my lord; but he hath since done good service at Shrewsbury, and, as I hear, is now going with some charge to the Lord John of Lancaster.

CHIEF JUSTICE What, to York? Call him back again.

SERVANT Sir John Falstaff!

FALSTAFF Boy, tell him I am deaf.

PAGE You must speak louder. My master is deaf.

CHIEF JUSTICE I am sure he is, to the hearing of anything good.—Go pluck him by the elbow. I must speak with him.

SERVANT, ['plucking Falstaff's sleeve'] Sir John!

FALSTAFF What, a young knave and begging? Is there not wars? Is there not employment? Doth not the King lack subjects? Do not the rebels need soldiers?
Though it be a shame to be on any side but one, it is worse shame to beg than to be on the worst side, were it worse than the name of rebellion can tell how to make it.

SERVANT You mistake me, sir.

FALSTAFF Why sir, did I say you were an honest man?
Setting my knighthood and my soldiership aside, I had lied in my throat if I had said so.

SERVANT I pray you, sir, then set your knighthood and your soldiership aside, and give me leave to tell you, you lie in your throat if you say I am any other than an honest man.

FALSTAFF I give thee leave to tell me so? I lay aside that which grows to me? If thou gett'st any leave of me, hang me; if thou tak'st leave, thou wert better be hanged. You hunt counter. Hence! Avaunt!

SERVANT Sir, my lord would speak with you.

CHIEF JUSTICE Sir John Falstaff, a word with you.

FALSTAFF My good lord. God give your Lordship good time of (the) day. I am glad to see your Lordship abroad. I heard say your Lordship was sick. I hope your Lordship goes abroad by advice. Your Lordship, though not clean past your youth, have yet some smack of an ague in you, some relish of the saltness of time in you, and I most humbly beseech your Lordship to have a reverend care of your health.

CHIEF JUSTICE Sir John, I sent for you before your expedition to Shrewsbury.

FALSTAFF An ’t please your Lordship, I hear his Majesty is returned with some discomfort from Wales.

CHIEF JUSTICE I talk not of his Majesty. You would not come when I sent for you.

FALSTAFF And I hear, moreover, his Highness is fallen into this same whoreson apoplexy.

CHIEF JUSTICE Well, God mend him. I pray you let me speak with you.

FALSTAFF This apoplexy, as I take it, is a kind of lethargy, an ’t please your Lordship, a kind of sleeping in the blood, a whoreson tingling.

CHIEF JUSTICE What tell you me of it? Be it as it is.

FALSTAFF It hath it original from much grief, from study, and perturbation of the brain. I have read the cause of his effects in Galen. It is a kind of deafness.

CHIEF JUSTICE I think you are fallen into the disease,
for you hear not what I say to you.

FALSTAFF Very well, my lord, very well. Rather, an ’t please you, it is the disease of not listening, the malady of not marking, that I am troubled withal.

CHIEF JUSTICE To punish you by the heels would amend the attention of your ears, and I care not if I do become your physician.

FALSTAFF I am as poor as Job, my lord, but not so patient. Your Lordship may minister the potion of imprisonment to me in respect of poverty, but how I should be your patient to follow your prescriptions, the wise may make some dram of a scruple, or indeed a scruple itself.
FALSTAFF   As I was then advised by my learned counsel in the laws of this land-service, I did not come.

CHIEF JUSTICE   Well, the truth is, Sir John, you live in great infamy.

FALSTAFF   He that buckles himself in my belt cannot live in less.

CHIEF JUSTICE   Your means are very slender, and your waste is great.

FALSTAFF   I would it were otherwise. I would my means were greater and my waist slender.

CHIEF JUSTICE   You have misled the youthful prince.

FALSTAFF   The young prince hath misled me. I am the fellow with the great belly, and he my dog.

CHIEF JUSTICE   Well, I am loath to gall a new-healed wound. Your day’s service at Shrewsbury hath a little gilded over your night’s exploit on Gad’s Hill. You may thank th’ unquiet time for your quiet o’erposting that action.

FALSTAFF   My lord.

CHIEF JUSTICE   But since all is well, keep it so. Wake not a sleeping wolf.

FALSTAFF   To wake a wolf is as bad as (to) smell a fox.

CHIEF JUSTICE   What, you are as a candle, the better part burnt out.

FALSTAFF   A wassail candle, my lord, all tallow. If I did say of wax, my growth would approve the truth.

CHIEF JUSTICE   There is not a white hair in your face but should have his effect of gravity.

FALSTAFF   His effect of gravy, gravy, gravy.

CHIEF JUSTICE   You follow the young prince up and down like his ill angel.

FALSTAFF   Not so, my lord. Your ill angel is light, but I hope he that looks upon me will take me without weighing. And yet in some respects I grant I cannot go. I cannot tell. Virtue is of so little regard in these costermongers’ times that true valor is turned bearherd; pregnancy is made a tapster, and (hath) his quick wit wasted in giving reckonings. All the other gifts appurtenant to man, as the malice of (this) age shapes (them, are) not worth a gooseberry. You that are old consider not the capacities of us that are young. You do measure the heat of our livers with the bitterness of your galls, and we that are in the vaward of our youth, I must confess, are wags too. Do you set down your name in the scroll of youth, that are written down old with all the characters of age? Have you not a moist eye, a dry hand, a yellow cheek, a white beard, a decreasing leg, an increasing belly? Is not your voice broken, your wind short, your chin double, your wit single, and every part about you blasted with antiquity? And will you yet call yourself young? Fie, fie, fie, Sir John.

FALSTAFF My lord, I was born [about three of the clock in the afternoon,] with a white head and something a round belly. For my voice, I have lost it with halloing and singing of anthems. To approve my youth further, I will not. The truth is, I am only old in judgment and understanding. And he that will caper with me for a thousand marks, let him lend me the money, and have at him. For the box of the (ear) that the Prince gave you, he gave it like a rude prince, and you took it like a sensible lord. I have checked him for it, and the young lion repents. 「Aside.」 Marry, not in ashes and sackcloth, but in new silk and old sack.

CHIEF JUSTICE Well, God send the Prince a better companion.

FALSTAFF God send the companion a better prince. I cannot rid my hands of him.
CHIEF JUSTICE Well, the King hath severed you (and Prince Harry.) I hear you are going with Lord John of Lancaster against the Archbishop and the Earl of Northumberland.

FALSTAFF Yea, I thank your pretty sweet wit for it. But look you pray, all you that kiss my Lady Peace at home, that our armies join not in a hot day, for, by the Lord, I take but two shirts out with me, and I mean not to sweat extraordinarily. If it be a hot day and I brandish anything but a bottle, I would I might never spit white again. There is not a dangerous action can peep out his head but I am thrust upon it. Well, I cannot last ever. [But it was always yet the trick of our English nation, if they have a good thing, to make it too common. If you will needs say I am an old man, you should give me rest. I would to God my name were not so terrible to the enemy as it is. I were better to be eaten to death with a rust than to be scourged to nothing with perpetual motion.]

CHIEF JUSTICE Well, be honest, be honest, and God bless your expedition.

FALSTAFF Will your Lordship lend me a thousand pound to furnish me forth?

CHIEF JUSTICE Not a penny, not a penny. You are too impatient to bear crosses. Fare you well. Commend me to my cousin Westmoreland.

[Footnote: Lord Chief Justice and his Servant exit.]

FALSTAFF If I do, fillip me with a three-man beetle. A man can no more separate age and covetousness than he can part young limbs and lechery; but the gout galls the one, and the pox pinches the other, and so both the degrees prevent my curses.—Boy!

PAGE Sir.

FALSTAFF What money is in my purse?

PAGE Seven groats and two pence.
FALSTAFF I can get no remedy against this consumption of the purse. Borrowing only lingers and lingers it out, but the disease is incurable. 「Giving papers to the Page.」 Go bear this letter to my Lord of Lancaster, this to the Prince, this to the Earl of Westmoreland, and this to old Mistress Ursula, whom I have weekly sworn to marry since I perceived the first white hair of my chin. About it. You know where to find me. 「Page exits.」 A pox of this gout! Or a gout of this pox, for the one or the other plays the rogue with my great toe. ’Tis no matter if I do halt. I have the wars for my color, and my pension shall seem the more reasonable. A good wit will make use of anything. I will turn diseases to commodity.

「He exits.」

(Scene 3)

Enter th’ Archbishop of York, Thomas Mowbray (Earl Marshal), the Lord Hastings, and (Lord) Bardolph.

ARCHBISHOP Thus have you heard our cause and known our means,
And, my most noble friends, I pray you all
Speak plainly your opinions of our hopes.
And first, Lord Marshal, what say you to it?

MOWBRAY I well allow the occasion of our arms,
But gladly would be better satisfied
How in our means we should advance ourselves
To look with forehead bold and big enough
Upon the power and puissance of the King.

HASTINGS Our present musters grow upon the file
To five-and-twenty thousand men of choice,
And our supplies live largely in the hope
Of great Northumberland, whose bosom burns
With an incensèd fire of injuries.

LORD BARDOLPH
The question, then, Lord Hastings, standeth thus:
Whether our present five-and-twenty thousand
May hold up head without Northumberland.

HASTINGS
With him we may.

LORD BARDOLPH
Yea, marry, there’s the point.
But if without him we be thought too feeble,
My judgment is we should not step too far
’Till we had his assistance by the hand.
For in a theme so bloody-faced as this,
Conjecture, expectation, and surmise
Of aids incertain should not be admitted.

ARCHBISHOP
’Tis very true, Lord Bardolph, for indeed
It was young Hotspur’s cause at Shrewsbury.

LORD BARDOLPH
It was, my lord; who lined himself with hope,
Eating the air and promise of supply,
Flatt’ring himself in project of a power
Much smaller than the smallest of his thoughts,
And so, with great imagination
Proper to madmen, led his powers to death
And, winking, leapt into destruction.

HASTINGS
But, by your leave, it never yet did hurt
To lay down likelihoods and forms of hope.

LORD BARDOLPH
(Yes, if this present quality of war —
Indeed the instant action, a cause on foot—
Lives so in hope, as in an early spring
We see th’ appearing buds, which to prove fruit
Hope gives not so much warrant as despair
That frosts will bite them. When we mean to build,
We first survey the plot, then draw the model,
And when we see the figure of the house,
Then must we rate the cost of the erection,
Which if we find outweighs ability,
What do we then but draw anew the model
In fewer offices, or at least desist
To build at all? Much more in this great work,
Which is almost to pluck a kingdom down
And set another up, should we survey
The plot of situation and the model,
Consent upon a sure foundation,
Question surveyors, know our own estate,
How able such a work to undergo,
To weigh against his opposite. Or else
We fortify in paper and in figures,
Using the names of men instead of men,
Like one that draws the model of an house
Beyond his power to build it, who, half through,
Gives o’er and leaves his part-created cost
A naked subject to the weeping clouds
And waste for churlish winter’s tyranny.

Grant that our hopes, yet likely of fair birth,
Should be stillborn and that we now possessed
The utmost man of expectation,
I think we are (a) body strong enough,
Even as we are, to equal with the King.

What, is the King but five-and-twenty thousand?
To us no more, nay, not so much, Lord Bardolph,
For his divisions, as the times do brawl,
(Are) in three heads: one power against the French,
And one against Glendower; perforce a third
Must take up us. So is the unfirm king
In three divided, and his coffers sound
With hollow poverty and emptiness.

ARCHBISHOP
That he should draw his several strengths together
And come against us in full puissance
Need not to be dreaded.

HASTINGS
If he should do so,
(He leaves his back unarmed, the French and Welsh)
Baying him at the heels. Never fear that.

LORD BARDOLPH
Who is it like should lead his forces hither?

HASTINGS
The Duke of Lancaster and Westmoreland;
Against the Welsh, himself and Harry Monmouth;
But who is substituted against the French
I have no certain notice.

ARCHBISHOP
Let us on,
And publish the occasion of our arms.
The commonwealth is sick of their own choice.
Their over-greedy love hath surfeited.
An habitation giddy and unsure
Hath he that buildeth on the vulgar heart.
O thou fond many, with what loud applause
Didst thou beat heaven with blessing Bolingbroke
Before he was what thou wouldst have him be.
And being now trimmed in thine own desires,
Thou, beastly feeder, art so full of him
That thou provok’st thyself to cast him up.
So, so, thou common dog, didst thou disgorge
Thy glutton bosom of the royal Richard,
And now thou wouldst eat thy dead vomit up
And howl’st to find it. What trust is in these times?
They that, when Richard lived, would have him die
Are now become enamored on his grave.
Thou, that threw’st dust upon his goodly head
When through proud London he came sighing on After th’ admirèd heels of Bolingbroke,
Criest now “O earth, yield us that king again,
And take thou this!” O thoughts of men accursed!
Past and to come seems best; things present, worst.)

〈MOWBRAY〉
Shall we go draw our numbers and set on?

HASTINGS
We are time’s subjects, and time bids begone.

They exit.
Enter Hostess of the tavern with two Officers, Fang and Snare, who lags behind.

HOSTESS Master Fang, have you entered the action?
FANG It is entered.
HOSTESS Where’s your yeoman? Is ’t a lusty yeoman? Will he stand to ’t?
FANG, calling Sirrah! Where’s Snare?
HOSTESS O Lord, ay, good Master Snare.
SNARE, catching up to them Here, here.
FANG Snare, we must arrest Sir John Falstaff.
HOSTESS Yea, good Master Snare, I have entered him and all.
SNARE It may chance cost some of us our lives, for he will stab.
HOSTESS Alas the day, take heed of him. He stabbed me in mine own house, (and that) most beastly, in good faith. He cares not what mischief he does. If his weapon be out, he will foin like any devil. He will spare neither man, woman, nor child.
FANG If I can close with him, I care not for his thrust.
HOSTESS No, nor I neither. I’ll be at your elbow.
FANG An I but fist him once, an he come but within my view—HOSTESS I am undone by his going. I warrant you, he’s an infinitive thing upon my score. Good Master Fang, hold him sure. Good Master Snare, let him not 'scape. He comes (continuantly) to Pie Corner, saving your manhoods, to buy a saddle, and he is indited to dinner to the Lubber’s Head in Lumbert Street, to Master Smooth’s the silkman. I pray you, since my exion is entered, and my case so openly known to the world, let him be brought in to his answer. A hundred mark is a long one for a poor lone woman to bear, and I have borne, and borne, and borne, and have been fubbed off, and fubbed off, and fubbed off from this day to that day, that it is a shame to be thought on. There is no honesty in such dealing, unless a woman should be made an ass and a beast to bear every knave’s wrong. Yonder he comes, and that arrant malmsey-nose knave, Bardolph, with him. Do your offices, do your offices, Master Fang and Master Snare, do me, do me, do me your offices.

Enter Sir John [Falstaff] and Bardolph, and the [Page.]

FALSTAFF How now, whose mare’s dead? What’s the matter?

FANG (Sir John,) I arrest you at the suit of Mistress Quickly.

FALSTAFF Away, varlets!—Draw, Bardolph. Cut me off the villain’s head. Throw the quean in the channel. [They draw.]

HOSTESS Throw me in the channel? I’ll throw thee in the channel. Wilt thou, wilt thou, thou bastardly rogue?—Murder, murder!—Ah, thou honeysuckle villain, wilt thou kill God’s officers and the King’s? Ah, thou honeyseed rogue, thou art a honeyseed, a man-queller, and a woman-queller.

FALSTAFF Keep them off, Bardolph.
57  Henry IV, Part 2  ACT 2. SC. 1

OFFICERS  A rescue, a rescue!
HOSTESS  Good people, bring a rescue or two.—Thou wot, wot thou? Thou wot, wot ta? Do, do, thou rogue. Do, thou hempseed.

PAGE  Away, you scullion, you rampallian, you fustilarian! I’ll tickle your catastrophe.

Enter Lord Chief Justice and his Men.

CHIEF JUSTICE
What is the matter? Keep the peace here, ho!

HOSTESS  Good my lord, be good to me. I beseech you stand to me.

CHIEF JUSTICE
How now, Sir John? What, are you brawling here? Doth this become your place, your time, and business?

You should have been well on your way to York.—Stand from him, fellow. Wherefore hang’st thou upon him?

HOSTESS  O my most worshipful lord, an ’t please your Grace, I am a poor widow of Eastcheap, and he is arrested at my suit.

CHIEF JUSTICE  For what sum?

HOSTESS  It is more than for some, my lord; it is for all I have. He hath eaten me out of house and home. He hath put all my substance into that fat belly of his. «To Falstaff.» But I will have some of it out again, or I will ride thee o’ nights like the mare.

FALSTAFF  I think I am as like to ride the mare if I have any vantage of ground to get up.

CHIEF JUSTICE  How comes this, Sir John? (Fie,) what man of good temper would endure this tempest of exclamation? Are you not ashamed to enforce a poor widow to so rough a course to come by her own?
Henry IV, Part 2

ACT 2. SC. 1

FALSTAFF  What is the gross sum that I owe thee?

HOSTESS  Marry, if thou wert an honest man, thyself and the money too. Thou didst swear to me upon a parcel-gilt goblet, sitting in my Dolphin chamber at the round table by a sea-coal fire, upon Wednesday in Wheeson week, when the Prince broke thy head for liking his father to a singing-man of Windsor, thou didst swear to me then, as I was washing thy wound, to marry me and make me my lady thy wife.
Canst thou deny it? Did not Goodwife Keech, the butcher’s wife, come in then and call me Gossip Quickly, coming in to borrow a mess of vinegar, telling us she had a good dish of prawns, whereby thou didst desire to eat some, whereby I told thee they were ill for a green wound? And didst thou not, when she was gone downstairs, desire me to be no more so familiarity with such poor people, saying that ere long they should call me madam? And didst thou not kiss me and bid me fetch thee thirty shillings? I put thee now to thy book-oath. Deny it if thou canst.

FALSTAFF  My lord, this is a poor mad soul, and she says up and down the town that her eldest son is like you. She hath been in good case, and the truth is, poverty hath distracted her. But, for these foolish officers, I beseech you I may have redress against them.

CHIEF JUSTICE  Sir John, Sir John, I am well acquainted with your manner of wrenching the true cause the false way. It is not a confident brow, nor the throng of words that come with such more than impudent sauciness from you, can thrust me from a level consideration. You have, as it appears to me, practiced upon the easy-yielding spirit of this woman, [and made her serve your uses both in purse and in person.]
HOSTESS    Yea, in truth, my lord.

CHIEF JUSTICE   Pray thee, peace.—Pay her the debt you owe her, and unpay the villainy you have done with her. The one you may do with sterling money, and the other with current repentance.

FALSTAFF    My lord, I will not undergo this sneap without reply. You call honorable boldness “impudent sauciness.” If a man will make curtsy and say nothing, he is virtuous. No, my lord, my humble duty remembered, I will not be your suitor. I say to you, I do desire deliverance from these officers, being upon hasty employment in the King’s affairs.

CHIEF JUSTICE   You speak as having power to do wrong; but answer in th’ effect of your reputation, and satisfy the poor woman.

FALSTAFF    Come hither, hostess.

    [He speaks aside to the Hostess.]

Enter a Messenger, (Master Gower.)

CHIEF JUSTICE   Now, Master Gower, what news?

GOWER    The King, my lord, and Harry Prince of Wales
  Are near at hand. The rest the paper tells.

    [He gives the Chief Justice a paper to read.]

FALSTAFF,    [to the Hostess]    As I am a gentleman!

HOSTESS    Faith, you said so before.

FALSTAFF    As I am a gentleman. Come. No more words of it.

HOSTESS    By this heavenly ground I tread on, I must be fain to pawn both my plate and the tapestry of my dining chambers.

FALSTAFF    Glasses, glasses, is the only drinking. And for thy walls, a pretty slight drollery, or the story of the Prodigal or the German hunting in waterwork is worth a thousand of these bed-hangers and these fly-bitten (tapestries.) Let it be ten pound, if thou canst. Come, an ’twere not for thy humors, there’s not a better wench in England. Go wash thy face, and draw the action. Come, thou must not be in this humor with me. Dost not know me? Come, come. I know thou wast set on to this.

HOSTESS  Pray thee, Sir John, let it be but twenty nobles. I’ faith, I am loath to pawn my plate, so God save me, la.

FALSTAFF  Let it alone. I’ll make other shift. You’ll be a fool still.

HOSTESS  Well, you shall have it, though I pawn my gown. I hope you’ll come to supper. You’ll pay me all together?

HOSTESS  Will you have Doll Tearsheet meet you at supper?

FALSTAFF  No more words. Let’s have her.

       Hostess, [Fang, Snare, Bardolph, Page, and others] exit.

CHIEF JUSTICE, [to Gower] I have heard better news.

FALSTAFF, [to Chief Justice] What’s the news, my (good) lord?

CHIEF JUSTICE, [to Gower] Where lay the King tonight?

GOWER  At (Basingstoke,) my lord.

FALSTAFF, [to Chief Justice] I hope, my lord, all’s well. What is the news, my lord?

CHIEF JUSTICE, [to Gower] Come all his forces back?

GOWER  No. Fifteen hundred foot, five hundred horse

       Are marched up to my Lord of Lancaster Against Northumberland and the Archbishop.
FALSTAFF, to Chief Justice

Comes the King back from Wales, my noble lord?

CHIEF JUSTICE, to Gower

You shall have letters of me presently.

Come. Go along with me, good Master Gower.

CHIEF JUSTICE What's the matter?

FALSTAFF Master Gower, shall I entreat you with me to dinner?

GOWER I must wait upon my good lord here. I thank you, good Sir John.

CHIEF JUSTICE Sir John, you loiter here too long, being you are to take soldiers up in counties as you go.

FALSTAFF Will you sup with me, Master Gower?

CHIEF JUSTICE What foolish master taught you these manners, Sir John?

FALSTAFF Master Gower, if they become me not, he was a fool that taught them me.—This is the right fencing grace, my lord: tap for tap, and so part fair.

CHIEF JUSTICE Now the Lord lighten thee. Thou art a great fool.

They separate and exit.

(Scene 2)

Enter the Prince and Poins.

PRINCE Before God, I am exceeding weary.

POINS Is 't come to that? I had thought weariness durst not have attached one of so high blood.

PRINCE Faith, it does me, though it discolors the complexion of my greatness to acknowledge it. Doth it not show vilely in me to desire small beer?

POINS Why, a prince should not be so loosely studied as to remember so weak a composition.
Belike then my appetite was not princely got, for, by my troth, I do now remember the poor creature small beer. But indeed these humble considerations make me out of love with my greatness. What a disgrace is it to me to remember thy name, or to know thy face tomorrow, or to take note how many pair of silk stockings thou hast—with these, and those that were thy peach-colored ones—or to bear the inventory of thy shirts, as, one for superfluity and another for use. But that the tennis-court keeper knows better than I, for it is a low ebb of linen with thee when thou keepest not racket there, as thou hast not done a great while, because the rest of the low countries have made a shift to eat up thy holland; [and God knows whether those that bawl out the ruins of thy linen shall inherit His kingdom; but the midwives say the children are not in the fault, whereupon the world increases and kindreds are mightily strengthened.]

How ill it follows, after you have labored so hard, you should talk so idly! Tell me, how many good young princes would do so, their fathers being so sick as yours at this time is?

Shall I tell thee one thing, Poins?

Yes, faith, and let it be an excellent good thing.

It shall serve among wits of no higher breeding than thine.

Go to. I stand the push of your one thing that you will tell.

Marry, I tell thee it is not meet that I should be sad, now my father is sick—albeit I could tell to thee, as to one it pleases me, for fault of a better, to call my friend, I could be sad, and sad indeed too.

Very hardly, upon such a subject.
Henry IV, Part 2

PRINCE  By this hand, thou thinkest me as far in the devil’s book as thou and Falstaff for obduracy and persistency. Let the end try the man. But I tell thee, my heart bleeds inwardly that my father is so sick; and keeping such vile company as thou art hath in reason taken from me all ostentation of sorrow.

POINS  The reason?

PRINCE  What wouldst thou think of me if I should weep?

POINS  I would think thee a most princely hypocrite.

PRINCE  It would be every man’s thought, and thou art a blessed fellow to think as every man thinks. Never a man’s thought in the world keeps the roadway better than thine. Every man would think me an hypocrite indeed. And what accites your most worshipful thought to think so?

POINS  Why, because you have been so lewd and so much engraffed to Falstaff.

PRINCE  And to thee.

POINS  By this light, I am well spoke on. I can hear it with mine own ears. The worst that they can say of me is that I am a second brother, and that I am a proper fellow of my hands; and those two things, I confess, I cannot help. By the Mass, here comes Bardolph.

Enter Bardolph and Page.

PRINCE  And the boy that I gave Falstaff. He had him from me Christian, and look if the fat villain have not transformed him ape.

BARDOLPH  God save your Grace.

PRINCE  And yours, most noble Bardolph.

POINS, (to Bardolph)  Come, you virtuous ass, you bashful fool, must you be blushing? Wherefore blush you now? What a maidenly man-at-arms are you become! Is 't such a matter to get a pottle-pot's maidenhead?

PAGE He calls me 'e'en now, my lord, through a red lattice, and I could discern no part of his face from the window. At last I spied his eyes, and methought he had made two holes in the ale-wife's (new) petticoat and so peeped through.

PRINCE Has not the boy profited?

PRINCE Instruct us, boy. What dream, boy?

PAGE Marry, my lord, Althea dreamt she was delivered of a firebrand, and therefore I call him her dream.

PRINCE A crown's worth of good interpretation. There 'tis, boy. [He gives the Page money.]

POINS O, that this (good) blossom could be kept from cankers! Well, there is sixpence to preserve thee. [He gives the Page money.]

BARDOLPH An you do not make him (be) hanged among you, the gallows shall have wrong.

PRINCE And how doth thy master, Bardolph?

BARDOLPH Well, my (good) lord. He heard of your Grace's coming to town. There's a letter for you. [He gives the Prince a paper.]

POINS Delivered with good respect. And how doth the Martlemas your master?

BARDOLPH In bodily health, sir.

POINS Marry, the immortal part needs a physician, but that moves not him. Though that be sick, it dies not.

PRINCE I do allow this wen to be as familiar with me as my dog, and he holds his place, for look you how he writes. [He shows the letter to Poins.]

POINS [reads the superscription] John Falstaff, knight. Every man must know that as oft as he has occasion to name himself, even like those that are kin to the King, for they never prick their finger but they say “There’s some of the King’s blood spilt.” “How comes that?” says he that takes upon him not to conceive. The answer is as ready as a borrower’s cap: “I am the King’s poor cousin, sir.”

PRINCE  Nay, they will be kin to us, or they will fetch it from Japheth. But (to) the letter: 「Reads.」Sir John Falstaff, knight, to the son of the King nearest his father, Harry Prince of Wales, greeting.

POINS  Why, this is a certificate.

PRINCE  Peace!

「Reads.」I will imitate the honorable Romans in brevity.

POINS  He sure means brevity in breath, short-winded.

「PRINCE reads」I commend me to thee, I commend thee, and I leave thee. Be not too familiar with Poins, for he misuses thy favors so much that he swears thou art to marry his sister Nell. Repent at idle times as thou mayst, and so farewell.

Thine by yea and no, which is as much as to say, as thou usest him,

Jack Falstaff with my (familiars,)

John with my brothers and sisters, and

Sir John with all Europe.

POINS  My lord, I’ll steep this letter in sack and make him eat it.

PRINCE  That’s to make him eat twenty of his words. But do you use me thus, Ned? Must I marry your sister?

POINS  God send the wench no worse fortune! But I never said so.

PRINCE  Well, thus we play the fools with the time, and the spirits of the wise sit in the clouds and mock us. 「To Bardolph.」Is your master here in London?

BARDOLPH  Yea, my lord.
PRINCE    Where sups he? Doth the old boar feed in the old frank?
BARDOLPH  At the old place, my lord, in Eastcheap.
PRINCE    What company?
PAGE     Ephesians, my lord, of the old church.
PRINCE    Sup any women with him?
PAGE     None, my lord, but old Mistress Quickly and Mistress Doll Tearsheet.
PRINCE    What pagan may that be?
PAGE     A proper gentlewoman, sir, and a kinswoman of my master’s.
PRINCE    Even such kin as the parish heifers are to the town bull.—Shall we steal upon them, Ned, at supper?
POINS    I am your shadow, my lord. I’ll follow you.
PRINCE    Sirrah—you, boy—and Bardolph, no word to your master that I am yet come to town. There’s for your silence.  He gives money.
BARDOLPH  I have no tongue, sir.
PAGE     And for mine, sir, I will govern it.
PRINCE    Fare you well. Go.  Bardolph and Page exit.
        This Doll Tearsheet should be some road.
POINS    I warrant you, as common as the way between Saint Albans and London.
PRINCE    How might we see Falstaff bestow himself tonight in his true colors, and not ourselves be seen?
POINS    Put on two leathern jerkins and aprons, and wait upon him at his table as drawers.
PRINCE    From a god to a bull: a heavy descension. It was Jove’s case. From a (prince) to a ’prentice: a low transformation that shall be mine, for in everything the purpose must weigh with the folly. Follow me, Ned.

They exit.
{Scene 3}

Enter Northumberland, his wife, and the wife to Harry Percy.

NORTHUMBERLAND

I pray thee, loving wife and gentle daughter,
Give even way unto my rough affairs.
Put not you on the visage of the times
And be, like them, to Percy troublesome.

LADY NORTHUMBERLAND

I have given over. I will speak no more.
Do what you will; your wisdom be your guide.

NORTHUMBERLAND

Alas, sweet wife, my honor is at pawn,
And, but my going, nothing can redeem it.

LADY PERCY

O yet, for God’s sake, go not to these wars.
The time was, father, that you broke your word
When you were more {endeared} to it than now,
When your own Percy, when my heart’s dear Harry,
Threw many a northward look to see his father
Bring up his powers; but he did long in vain.
Who then persuaded you to stay at home?
There were two honors lost, yours and your son’s.
For yours, the God of heaven brighten it.
For his, it stuck upon him as the sun
In the gray vault of heaven, and by his light
Did all the chivalry of England move
To do brave acts. He was indeed the glass
Wherein the noble youth did dress themselves.
{He had no legs that practiced not his gait;}
And speaking thick, which nature made his blemish,
Became the accents of the valiant;
For those that could speak low and tardily
Would turn their own perfection to abuse
To seem like him. So that in speech, in gait,
In diet, in affections of delight,
In military rules, humors of blood,
He was the mark and glass, copy and book,
That fashioned others. And him—O wondrous him!
O miracle of men!—him did you leave,
Second to none, unseconded by you,
To look upon the hideous god of war
In disadvantage, to abide a field
Where nothing but the sound of Hotspur’s name
Did seem defensible. So you left him.
Never, O never, do his ghost the wrong
To hold your honor more precise and nice
With others than with him. Let them alone.
The Marshal and the Archbishop are strong.
Had my sweet Harry had but half their numbers,
Today might I, hanging on Hotspur’s neck,
Have talked of Monmouth’s grave.

NORTHUMBERLAND

Beshrew your heart,
Fair daughter, you do draw my spirits from me
With new lamenting ancient oversights.
But I must go and meet with danger there,
Or it will seek me in another place
And find me worse provided.

LADY NORTHUMBERLAND

O, fly to Scotland
Till that the nobles and the armèd commons
Have of their puissance made a little taste.

LADY PERCY

If they get ground and vantage of the King,
Then join you with them like a rib of steel
To make strength stronger; but, for all our loves,
First let them try themselves. So did your son;
He was so suffered. So came I a widow,
And never shall have length of life enough
To rain upon remembrance with mine eyes
That it may grow and sprout as high as heaven
For recordation to my noble husband.

NORTHUMBERLAND

Come, come, go in with me. 'Tis with my mind
As with the tide swelled up unto his height,
That makes a still-stand, running neither way.
Fain would I go to meet the Archbishop,
But many thousand reasons hold me back.
I will resolve for Scotland. There am I
Till time and vantage crave my company.

They exit.

(Scene 4)

Enter [Francis and another\ Drawer.

FRANCIS What the devil hast thou brought there—applejohns? Thou knowest Sir John cannot endure an applejohn.

SECOND DRAWER  Mass, thou sayst true. The Prince once set a dish of applejohns before him and told him there were five more Sir Johns and, putting off his hat, said “I will now take my leave of these six dry, round, old, withered knights.” It angered him to the heart. But he hath forgot that.

FRANCIS Why then, cover and set them down, and see if thou canst find out Sneak’s noise. Mistress Tearsheet would fain hear some music. [Dispatch. The room where they supped is too hot. They’ll come in straight.

Enter Will.

WILL Sirrah, here will be the Prince and Master
Poins anon, and they will put on two of our jerkins and aprons, and Sir John must not know of it.

Bardolph hath brought word.

SECOND DRAWER    By the Mass, here will be old utis. It will be an excellent stratagem.

FRANCIS    I’ll see if I can find out Sneak.

_He exits with the Second Drawer._

_Enter Hostess and Doll Tearsheet._

HOSTESS    I’ faith, sweetheart, methinks now you are in an excellent good temperality. Your pulsidge beats as extraordinarily as heart would desire, and your color, I warrant you, is as red as any rose, in good truth, la. But, i’ faith, you have drunk too much canaries, and that’s a marvellous searching wine, and it perfumes the blood ere one can say “What’s this?” How do you now?

DOLL    Better than I was. Hem.

HOSTESS    Why, that’s well said. A good heart’s worth gold. Lo, here comes Sir John.

_Enter Sir John (Falstaff)._

FALSTAFF, _singing_

_When Arthur first in court_—

_To Will._ Empty the jordan. _Will exits._

_And was a worthy king_—

How now, Mistress Doll?

HOSTESS    Sick of a calm, yea, good faith.

FALSTAFF    So is all her sect. An they be once in a calm, they are sick.

DOLL    A pox damn you, you muddy rascal. Is that all the comfort you give me?

FALSTAFF    You make fat rascals, Mistress Doll.

DOLL    I make them? Gluttony and diseases make (them);

I make them not.
FALSTAFF    If the cook help to make the gluttony, you help to make the diseases, Doll. We catch of you, Doll, we catch of you. Grant that, my poor virtue, grant that.

DOLL       Yea, joy, our chains and our jewels.

FALSTAFF    Your brooches, pearls, and ouches—for to serve bravely is to come halting off, you know; to come off the breach with his pike bent bravely, and to surgery bravely, to venture upon the charged chambers bravely—

[DOLL       Hang yourself, you muddy conger, hang yourself!]

HOSTESS    By my troth, this is the old fashion. You two never meet but you fall to some discord. You are both, i’ good truth, as rheumatic as two dry toasts.
        You cannot one bear with another’s confirmities.
        What the good-year! One must bear, and [to Doll] that must be you. You are the weaker vessel, as they say, the emptier vessel.

DOLL       Can a weak empty vessel bear such a huge full hogshead? There’s a whole merchant’s venture of Bordeaux stuff in him. You have not seen a hulk better stuffed in the hold.—Come, I’ll be friends with thee, Jack. Thou art going to the wars, and whether I shall ever see thee again or no, there is nobody cares.

Enter Drawer.

DRAWER    Sir, Ancient Pistol’s below and would speak with you.

DOLL       Hang him, swaggering rascal! Let him not come hither. It is the foul-mouthed’st rogue in England.

HOSTESS    If he swagger, let him not come here. No, by my faith, I must live among my neighbors. I’ll no swaggerers. I am in good name and fame with the very best. Shut the door. There comes no swaggerers here. I have not lived all this while to have swaggering now. Shut the door, I pray you.

FALSTAFF Dost thou hear, hostess?

HOSTESS Pray you pacify yourself, Sir John. There comes no swaggerers here.

FALSTAFF Dost thou hear? It is mine ancient.

HOSTESS Tilly-vally, Sir John, ne’er tell me. And your ancient swaggerer comes not in my doors. I was before Master Tisick the deputy t’other day, and, as he said to me—’twas no longer ago than Wednesday last, i’ good faith—“Neighbor Quickly,” says he—Master Dumb, our minister, was by then—“Neighbor Quickly,” says he, “receive those that are civil, for,” said he, “you are in an ill name.” Now he said so, I can tell whereupon. “For,” says he, “you are an honest woman, and well thought on. Therefore take heed what guests you receive. Receive,” says he, “no swaggering companions.” There comes none here. You would bless you to hear what he said. No, I’ll no swaggerers.

FALSTAFF He’s no swaggerer, hostess, a tame cheater, i’ faith. You may stroke him as gently as a puppy greyhound. He’ll not swagger with a Barbary hen if her feathers turn back in any show of resistance.—

Call him up, drawer.

[Drawer exits.]

HOSTESS “Cheater” call you him? I will bar no honest man my house, nor no cheater, but I do not love swaggering. By my troth, I am the worse when one says “swagger.” Feel, masters, how I shake; look you, I warrant you.

DOLL So you do, hostess.

HOSTESS Do I? Yea, in very truth, do I, an ’twere an aspen leaf. I cannot abide swaggerers.
Enter Ancient Pistol, (Bardolph, and) Page.

PISTOL  God save you, Sir John.

FALSTAFF  Welcome, Ancient Pistol. Here, Pistol, I charge you with a cup of sack. Do you discharge upon mine hostess.

PISTOL  I will discharge upon her, Sir John, with two bullets.

FALSTAFF  She is pistol-proof. Sir, you shall not hardly offend her.

HOSTESS  Come, I’ll drink no proofs nor no bullets. I’ll drink no more than will do me good, for no man’s pleasure, I.

PISTOL  Then, to you, Mistress Dorothy! I will charge you.

DOLL  Charge me? I scorn you, scurvy companion.

What, you poor, base, rascally, cheating lack-linen mate! Away, you mouldy rogue, away! I am meat for your master.

PISTOL  I know you, Mistress Dorothy.

DOLL  Away, you cutpurse rascal, you filthy bung, away!

By this wine, I’ll thrust my knife in your mouldy chaps an you play the saucy cuttle with me. Away, you bottle-ale rascal, you basket-hilt stale juggler, you. Since when, I pray you, sir? God’s light, with two points on your shoulder? Much!

PISTOL  God let me not live but I will murder your ruff for this.

[FALSTAFF  No more, Pistol. I would not have you go off here. Discharge yourself of our company, Pistol.]

HOSTESS  No, good Captain Pistol, not here, sweet captain!

DOLL  Captain? Thou abominable damned cheater, art thou not ashamed to be called captain? An captains were of my mind, they would truncheon you out for taking their names upon you before you have earned them. You a captain? You slave, for what? 145
For tearing a poor whore’s ruff in a bawdy house?
He a captain! Hang him, rogue. He lives upon mouldy stewed prunes and dried cakes. A captain?
God’s light, these villains will make the word as odious [as the word “occupy,” which was an excellent good word before it was ill sorted.] Therefore captains had need look to ’t.

BARDOLPH, {to Pistol\} Pray thee go down, good ancient.

FALSTAFF Hark thee hither, Mistress Doll.

Pistol, {to Bardolph\} Not I. I tell thee what, Corporal
Bardolph, I could tear her. I’ll be revenged of her.

PISTOL I’ll see her damned first to Pluto’s damned lake, by this hand, to th’ infernal deep with Erebus and tortures vile also. Hold hook and line, say I. 160 Down, down, dogs! Down, {Fates!} Have we not Hiren here? [He draws his sword.]

HOSTESS Good Captain Peesell, be quiet. ’Tis very late,
i’ faith. I beseech you now, aggravate your choler.

PISTOL These be good humors indeed. Shall pack-horses and hollow pampered jades of Asia, which cannot go but thirty mile a day, compare with Caesars and with cannibals and Troyant Greeks?
Nay, rather damn them with King Cerberus, and let the welkin roar. Shall we fall foul for toys? 170

HOSTESS By my troth, captain, these are very bitter words.

BARDOLPH Begone, good ancient. This will grow to a brawl anon.

PISTOL {Die} men like dogs! Give crowns like pins! Have we not Hiren here?
HOSTESS  O’ my word, captain, there’s none such here.
What the good-year, do you think I would deny her?
For God’s sake, be quiet.

PISTOL  Then feed and be fat, my fair Calipolis. Come, give’s some sack. Si fortune me tormente, sperato me contento. Fear we broadsides? No, let the fiend give fire. Give me some sack, and, sweetheart, lie thou there. Laying down his sword. Come we to full points here? And are etceteras nothings?

FALSTAFF  Pistol, I would be quiet.

PISTOL  Sweet knight, I kiss thy neaf. What, we have seen the seven stars.

DOLL  For God’s sake, thrust him downstairs. I cannot endure such a fustian rascal.

PISTOL  “Thrust him downstairs”? Know we not Galloway nags?

FALSTAFF  Quoit him down, Bardolph, like a shove-groat shilling. Nay, an he do nothing but speak nothing, he shall be nothing here.

BARDOLPH  Come, get you downstairs.

PISTOL, taking up his sword
What, shall we have incision? Shall we imbrue? Then death rock me asleep, abridge my doleful days. Why then, let grievous, ghastly, gaping wounds untwind the Sisters
Three. Come, Atropos, I say.

HOSTESS  Here’s goodly stuff toward!

FALSTAFF  Give me my rapier, boy.

DOLL  I pray thee, Jack, I pray thee do not draw.

FALSTAFF, to Pistol
Get you downstairs. They fight.

HOSTESS  Here’s a goodly tumult. I’ll forswear keeping house afore I’ll be in these tirrits and frights. So, murder, I warrant now. Alas, alas, put up your naked weapons, put up your naked weapons.

Bardolph and Pistol exit.

DOLL  I pray thee, Jack, be quiet. The rascal’s gone. Ah, you whoreson little valiant villain, you.
HOSTESS, \textit{to Falstaff} Are you not hurt i’ th’ groin? Methought he made a shrewd thrust at your belly.

\textit{Enter Bardolph.}

FALSTAFF Have you turned him out o’ doors?

BARDOLPH Yea, sir. The rascal’s drunk. You have hurt him, sir, i’ th’ shoulder.

FALSTAFF A rascal to brave me!

DOLL Ah, you sweet little rogue, you. Alas, poor ape, how thou sweat’st! Come, let me wipe thy face. Come on, you whoreson chops. Ah, rogue, i’ faith, I love thee. Thou art as valorous as Hector of Troy, worth five of Agamemnon, and ten times better than the Nine Worthies. Ah, villain!

FALSTAFF Ah, rascally slave! I will toss the rogue in a blanket.

DOLL Do, an thou darest for thy heart. An thou dost, I’ll canvass thee between a pair of sheets.

\textit{Enter [Musicians and Francis.}]

FALSTAFF Let them play.—Play, sirs.—Sit on my knee, Doll. A rascal bragging slave! The rogue fled from me like quicksilver.

DOLL I’ faith, and thou followed’st him like a church. Thou whoreson little tidy Bartholomew boar-pig, when wilt thou leave fighting a-days and foining a-nights and begin to patch up thine old body for heaven?

\textit{Enter [behind them} Prince and Poins (disguised.}]

FALSTAFF Peace, good Doll. Do not speak like a death’s-head; do not bid me remember mine end.

DOLL Sirrah, what humor’s the Prince of?

FALSTAFF A good shallow young fellow, he would have made a good pantler; he would 'a chipped bread well.

DOLL They say Poins has a good wit.

FALSTAFF He a good wit? Hang him, baboon. His wit’s as thick as Tewkesbury mustard. There’s no more conceit in him than is in a mallet.

DOLL Why does the Prince love him so then?

FALSTAFF Because their legs are both of a bigness, and he plays at quoits well, and eats conger and fennel, and drinks off candles’ ends for flap-dragons, and rides the wild mare with the boys, and jumps upon joint stools, and swears with a good grace, and wears his boots very smooth like unto the sign of the Leg, and breeds no bate with telling of discreet stories, and such other gambol faculties he has that show a weak mind and an able body, for the which the Prince admits him; for the Prince himself is such another. The weight of a hair will turn scales between their avoirdupois.

PRINCE, \textit{aside to Poins}\textsuperscript{1} Would not this nave of a wheel have his ears cut off?

POINS Let’s beat him before his whore.

PRINCE Look whe’er the withered elder hath not his poll clawed like a parrot.

POINS Is it not strange that desire should so many years outlive performance?

FALSTAFF Kiss me, Doll.

PRINCE, \textit{aside to Poins}\textsuperscript{1} Saturn and Venus this year in conjunction! What says th’ almanac to that?

POINS And look whether the fiery trigon, his man, be not lisping to his (master’s) old tables, his notebook, his counsel keeper.

FALSTAFF, \textit{to Doll}\textsuperscript{1} Thou dost give me flattering busses.

DOLL By my troth, I kiss thee with a most constant heart.

FALSTAFF I am old, I am old.
DOLL  I love thee better than I love e’er a scurvy young boy of them all.

FALSTAFF  What stuff wilt (thou) have a kirtle of? I shall receive money o’ Thursday; (thou) shalt have a cap tomorrow. A merry song! Come, it grows late. We’ll to bed. Thou ’lt forget me when I am gone.

DOLL  By my troth, thou ’lt set me a-weeping an thou sayst so. Prove that ever I dress myself handsome till thy return. Well, harken a’ th’ end.

FALSTAFF  Some sack, Francis.

PRINCE, POINS, [coming forward]  Anon, anon, sir.

FALSTAFF  Ha? A bastard son of the King’s?—And art not thou Poins his brother?

PRINCE  Why, thou globe of sinful continents, what a life dost thou lead?

FALSTAFF  A better than thou. I am a gentleman. Thou art a drawer.

PRINCE  Very true, sir, and I come to draw you out by the ears.

HOSTESS  O, the Lord preserve thy (good) Grace! By my troth, welcome to London. Now the Lord bless that sweet face of thine. O Jesu, are you come from Wales?

FALSTAFF, [to Prince]  Thou whoreson mad compound of majesty, by this light flesh and corrupt blood, thou art welcome.

DOLL  How? You fat fool, I scorn you.

POINS  My lord, he will drive you out of your revenge and turn all to a merriment if you take not the heat.

PRINCE, [to Falstaff]  You whoreson candle-mine, you, how vilely did you speak of me (even) now before this honest, virtuous, civil gentlewoman!

HOSTESS  God’s blessing of your good heart, and so she is, by my troth.

FALSTAFF, [to Prince]  Didst thou hear me?
Henry IV, Part 2

ACT 2. SC. 4

PRINCE  Yea, and you knew me as you did when you ran away by Gad’s Hill. You knew I was at your back, and spoke it on purpose to try my patience.

FALSTAFF  No, no, no, not so. I did not think thou wast within hearing.

PRINCE  I shall drive you, then, to confess the wilfull abuse, and then I know how to handle you.

FALSTAFF  No abuse, Hal, o’ mine honor, no abuse.

PRINCE  Not to dispraise me and call me pantler and bread-chipper and I know not what?

FALSTAFF  No abuse, Hal.

POINS  No abuse?

FALSTAFF  No abuse, Ned, i’ th’ world, honest Ned, none. I dispraised him before the wicked, (to Prince\(^1\)) that the wicked might not fall in love with thee; in which doing, I have done the part of a careful friend and a true subject, and thy father is to give me thanks for it. No abuse, Hal.—None, Ned, none. No, faith, boys, none.

PRINCE  See now whether pure fear and entire cowardice do not make thee wrong this virtuous gentlewoman to close with us. Is she of the wicked, is thine hostess here of the wicked, or is thy boy of the wicked, or honest Bardolph, whose zeal burns in his nose, of the wicked?

POINS  Answer, thou dead elm, answer.

FALSTAFF  The fiend hath pricked down Bardolph irrecoverable, and his face is Lucifer’s privy kitchen, where he doth nothing but roast malt-worms. For the boy, there is a good angel about him, but the devil blinds him too.

PRINCE  For the women?

FALSTAFF  For one of them, she’s in hell already and burns poor souls. For th’ other, I owe her money, and whether she be damned for that I know not.
HOSTESS No, I warrant you.

FALSTAFF No, I think thou art not. I think thou art quit for that. Marry, there is another indictment upon thee for suffering flesh to be eaten in thy house contrary to the law, for the which I think thou wilt howl.

HOSTESS All vitlars do so. What’s a joint of mutton or two in a whole Lent?

PRINCE, [to Doll] You, gentlewoman.

DOLL What says your Grace?

FALSTAFF His grace says that which his flesh rebels against.

Peto knocks at door.

HOSTESS Who knocks so loud at door? Look to th’ door there, Francis. [Francis exits.]

〈Enter Peto.〉

PRINCE Peto, how now, what news?

PETO The King your father is at Westminster,
And there are twenty weak and wearied posts
Come from the north, and as I came along
I met and overtook a dozen captains,
Bareheaded, sweating, knocking at the taverns
And asking everyone for Sir John Falstaff.

PRINCE By heaven, Poins, I feel me much to blame
So idly to profane the precious time
When tempest of commotion, like the south
Borne with black vapor, doth begin to melt
And drop upon our bare unarmèd heads.—
Give me my sword and cloak.—Falstaff, good night. [*Prince, [Peto,] and Poins exit.*]

FALSTAFF Now comes in the sweetest morsel of the night, and we must hence and leave it unpicked.
(ʻKnocking. Bardolph exits.ʻ) More knocking at the door? (ʻBardolph returns.ʻ) How now, what’s the matter?

BARDOLPH

You must away to court, sir, presently.

A dozen captains stay at door for you.

FALSTAFF, ʻto Pageʻ Pay the musicians, sirrah.—

Farewell, hostess.—Farewell, Doll. You see, my good wenches, how men of merit are sought after.

The undeserver may sleep when the man of action is called on. Farewell, good wenches. If I be not sent away post, I will see you again ere I go.

DOLL I cannot speak. If my heart be not ready to burst—well, sweet Jack, have a care of thyself.

FALSTAFF Farewell, farewell.

ʻHe exits with Bardolph, Page, and Musicians.ʻ

HOSTESS Well, fare thee well. I have known thee these twenty-nine years, come peasecod time, but an honester and truer-hearted man—well, fare thee well.

BARDOLPH, ʻwithinʻ Mistress Tearsheet!

HOSTESS What’s the matter?

BARDOLPH, ʻwithinʻ Bid Mistress Tearsheet come to my master.

HOSTESS O, run, Doll, run, run, good Doll. [Come.—She comes blubbered.—Yea! Will you come, Doll?] ʻThey exit.ʻ
Enter the King in his nightgown with a Page.

Go call the Earls of Surrey and of Warwick; But, ere they come, bid them o’erread these letters And well consider of them. Make good speed.

How many thousand of my poorest subjects Are at this hour asleep! O sleep, O gentle sleep, Nature’s soft nurse, how have I frightened thee, That thou no more wilt weigh my eyelids down And steep my senses in forgetfulness? Why rather, sleep, liest thou in smoky cribs, Upon uneasy pallets stretching thee, And hushed with buzzing night-flies to thy slumber, Than in the perfumed chambers of the great, Under the canopies of costly state, And lulled with sound of sweetest melody? O thou dull god, why liest thou with the vile In loathsome beds and leavest the kingly couch A watch-case or a common ’larum bell? Wilt thou upon the high and giddy (mast) Seal up the shipboy’s eyes and rock his brains In cradle of the rude imperious surge And in the visitation of the winds,
Who take the ruffian (billows) by the top,
Curling their monstrous heads and hanging them
With deasing clamor in the slippery clouds
That with the hurly death itself awakes?
Canst thou, O partial sleep, give (thy) repose
To the wet (sea-boy) in an hour so rude,
And, in the calmest and most stillest night,
With all appliances and means to boot,
Deny it to a king? Then, happy low, lie down.
Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.

Enter Warwick, Surrey and Sir John Blunt.

WARWICK
  Many good morrows to your Majesty.
KING    Is it good morrow, lords?
WARWICK  'Tis one o’clock, and past.
KING
  Why then, good morrow to you all, my lords.
  Have you read o’er the letter that I sent you?
WARWICK  We have, my liege.
KING
  Then you perceive the body of our kingdom
  How foul it is, what rank diseases grow,
  And with what danger near the heart of it.
WARWICK
  It is but as a body yet distempered,
  Which to his former strength may be restored
  With good advice and little medicine.
  My Lord Northumberland will soon be cooled.
KING
  O God, that one might read the book of fate
  And see the revolution of the times
  Make mountains level, and the continent,
  Weary of solid firmness, melt itself
  Into the sea, and other times to see
The beachy girdle of the ocean
Too wide for Neptune’s hips; how chance’s mocks
And changes fill the cup of alteration
With divers liquors! [O, if this were seen,
The happiest youth, viewing his progress through,
What perils past, what crosses to ensue,
Would shut the book and sit him down and die.]
’Tis not ten years gone
Since Richard and Northumberland, great friends,
Did feast together, and in two years after
Were they at wars. It is but eight years since
This Percy was the man nearest my soul,
Who like a brother toiled in my affairs
And laid his love and life under my foot,
Yea, for my sake, even to the eyes of Richard Gave him defiance. But which of you was by—
[To Warwick.] You, cousin Nevil, as I may remember—
When Richard, with his eye brimful of tears,
Then checked and rated by Northumberland,
Did speak these words, now proved a prophecy?
“Northumberland, thou ladder by the which My cousin Bolingbroke ascends my throne”—
Though then, God knows, I had no such intent,
But that necessity so bowed the state
That I and greatness were compelled to kiss—
“The time shall come,” thus did he follow it,
“The time will come that foul sin, gathering head, Shall break into corruption”—so went on,
Foretelling this same time’s condition
And the division of our amity.

WARWICK
There is a history in all men’s lives
Figuring the natures of the times deceased,
The which observed, a man may prophesy,
With a near aim, of the main chance of things
As yet not come to life, who in their seeds
And weak beginning lie intreasurèd.
Such things become the hatch and brood of time,
And by the necessary form of this,
King Richard might create a perfect guess
That great Northumberland, then false to him,
Would of that seed grow to a greater falseness,
Which should not find a ground to root upon
Unless on you.

Are these things then necessities?
Then let us meet them like necessities.
And that same word even now cries out on us.
They say the Bishop and Northumberland
Are fifty thousand strong.

It cannot be, my lord.
Rumor doth double, like the voice and echo,
The numbers of the feared. Please it your Grace
To go to bed. Upon my soul, my lord,
The powers that you already have sent forth
Shall bring this prize in very easily.

To comfort you the more, I have received
A certain instance that Glendower is dead.
Your Majesty hath been this fortnight ill,
And these unseasoned hours perforce must add
Unto your sickness.

I will take your counsel.

And were these inward wars once out of hand,
We would, dear lords, unto the Holy Land.

They exit.
Enter Justice Shallow and Justice Silence.

SHALLOW Come on, come on, come on. Give me your hand, sir, give me your hand, sir. An early stirrer, by the rood. And how doth my good cousin Silence?

SILENCE Good morrow, good cousin Shallow.

SHALLOW And how doth my cousin your bedfellow? And your fairest daughter and mine, my goddaughter Ellen?

SILENCE Alas, a black ousel, cousin Shallow.

SHALLOW By yea and no, sir. I dare say my cousin William is become a good scholar. He is at Oxford still, is he not?

SILENCE Indeed, sir, to my cost.

SHALLOW He must then to the Inns o’ Court shortly. I was once of Clement’s Inn, where I think they will talk of mad Shallow yet.

SILENCE You were called “Lusty Shallow” then, cousin.

SHALLOW By the Mass, I was called anything, and I would have done anything indeed too, and roundly too. There was I, and little John Doit of Staffordshire, and black George Barnes, and Francis Pickbone, and Will Squele, a Cotswold man. You had not four such swinge-bucklers in all the Inns o’ Court again. And I may say to you, we knew where the bona robas were and had the best of them all at commandment. Then was Jack Falstaff, now Sir John, a boy, and page to Thomas Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk.

SILENCE This Sir John, cousin, that comes hither anon about soldiers?

SHALLOW The same Sir John, the very same. I see him break Scoggin’s head at the court gate, when he was a crack not thus high; and the very same day did
I fight with one Sampson Stockfish, a fruiterer, behind Grey’s Inn. Jesu, Jesu, the mad days that I have spent! And to see how many of my old acquaintance are dead.

SILENCE We shall all follow, cousin.

SHALLOW Certain, ’tis certain, very sure, very sure. Death, as the Psalmist saith, is certain to all. All shall die. How a good yoke of bullocks at (Stamford) Fair?

SILENCE By my troth, (cousin,) I was not there.

SHALLOW Death is certain. Is old Dooble of your town living yet?

SILENCE Dead, sir.

SHALLOW Jesu, Jesu, dead! He drew a good bow, and dead? He shot a fine shoot. John o’ Gaunt loved him well, and betted much money on his head. Dead! He would have clapped i’ th’ clout at twelve score, and carried you a forehand shaft a fourteen and fourteen and a half, that it would have done a man’s heart good to see. How a score of ewes now?

SILENCE Thereafter as they be, a score of good ewes may be worth ten pounds.

SHALLOW And is old Dooble dead?

SILENCE Here come two of Sir John Falstaff’s men, as I think.

Enter Bardolph and one with him.

SHALLOW Good morrow, honest gentlemen.

BARDOLPH I beseech you, which is Justice Shallow?

SHALLOW I am Robert Shallow, sir, a poor esquire of this county and one of the King’s justices of the peace. What is your good pleasure with me?

BARDOLPH My captain, sir, commends him to you, my captain, Sir John Falstaff, a tall gentleman, by heaven, and a most gallant leader.
SHALLOW He greets me well, sir. I knew him a good backsword man. How doth the good knight? May I ask how my lady his wife doth?

BARDOLPH Sir, pardon. A soldier is better (accommodated) than with a wife.

SHALLOW It is well said, in faith, sir, and it is well said indeed too. “Better accommodated.” It is good, yea, indeed is it. Good phrases are surely, and ever were, very commendable. “Accommodated.” It comes of accommodate. Very good, a good phrase.

BARDOLPH Pardon, sir, I have heard the word—“phrase” call you it? By this day, I know not the phrase, but I will maintain the word with my sword to be a soldierlike word, and a word of exceeding good command, by heaven. “Accommodated,” that is when a man is, as they say, accommodated, or when a man is being whereby he may be thought to be accommodated, which is an excellent thing.

Enter Falstaff.

SHALLOW It is very just. Look, here comes good Sir John.—Give me your good hand, give me your Worship’s good hand. By my troth, you like well and bear your years very well. Welcome, good Sir John.

FALSTAFF I am glad to see you well, good Master Robert Shallow.—Master (Sure-card,) as I think?

SHALLOW No, Sir John. It is my cousin Silence, in commission with me.

FALSTAFF Good Master Silence, it well befits you should be of the peace.

SILENCE Your good Worship is welcome.

FALSTAFF Fie, this is hot weather, gentlemen. Have you provided me here half a dozen sufficient men?

SHALLOW Marry, have we, sir. Will you sit?

'They sit at a table.'
SHALLOW

FALSTAFF  Let me see them, I beseech you.

SHALLOW  Where’s the roll? Where’s the roll? Where’s the roll? Let me see, let me see, let me see. So, so, so, so, so. So, so. Yea, marry, sir.—Rafe Mouldy!—Let them appear as I call, let them do so, let them do so.

[FALSTAFF  Prick him.]

[Enter Mouldy, followed by Shadow, Wart, Feeble, and Bullcalf.]

Let me see, where is Mouldy?

MOULDY, [coming forward]  Here, an it please you.

SHALLOW  What think you, Sir John? A good-limbed fellow, young, strong, and of good friends.

FALSTAFF  Is thy name Mouldy?

MOULDY  Yea, an ’t please you.

FALSTAFF  ’Tis the more time thou wert used.

SHALLOW  Ha, ha, ha, most excellent, i’ faith! Things that are mouldy lack use. Very singular good, in faith. Well said, Sir John, very well said.

[FALSTAFF  Prick him.]

[Shallow marks the scroll.]

MOULDY  I was pricked well enough before, an you could have let me alone. My old dame will be undone now for one to do her husbandry and her drudgery. You need not to have pricked me. There are other men fitter to go out than I.

FALSTAFF  Go to. Peace, Mouldy. You shall go. Mouldy, it is time you were spent.

MOULDY  Spent?

SHALLOW  Peace, fellow, peace. Stand aside. Know you where you are?—For th’ other, Sir John. Let me see.—Simon Shadow!

FALSTAFF  Yea, marry, let me have him to sit under. He’s like to be a cold soldier.

SHALLOW  Where’s Shadow?
SHADOW,  coming forward  Here, sir.
FALSTAFF  Shadow, whose son art thou?
SHADOW  My mother’s son, sir.
FALSTAFF  Thy mother’s son! Like enough, and thy father’s shadow. So the son of the female is the shadow of the male. It is often so, indeed, but much of the father’s substance.
SHALLOW  Do you like him, Sir John?
FALSTAFF  Shadow will serve for summer. Prick him, for we have a number of shadows {to} fill up the muster book.
SHALLOW  Thomas Wart!
FALSTAFF  Where’s he?
WART,  coming forward  Here, sir.
FALSTAFF  Is thy name Wart?
WART  Yea, sir.
FALSTAFF  Thou art a very ragged wart.
SHALLOW  Shall I prick him {down.} Sir John?
FALSTAFF  It were superfluous, for {his} apparel is built upon his back, and the whole frame stands upon pins. Prick him no more.
SHALLOW  Ha, ha, ha. You can do it, sir, you can do it. I commend you well.—Francis Feeble!
FEEBLE,  coming forward  Here, sir.
SHALLOW  What trade art thou, Feeble?
FEEBLE  A woman’s tailor, sir.
SHALLOW  Shall I prick him, sir?
FALSTAFF  You may, but if he had been a man’s tailor, he’d ha’ pricked you.—Wilt thou make as many holes in an enemy’s battle as thou hast done in a woman’s petticoat?
FEEBLE  I will do my good will, sir. You can have no more.
FALSTAFF  Well said, good woman’s tailor, well said, courageous Feeble. Thou wilt be as valiant as the wrathful dove or most magnanimous mouse.—
Prick the woman’s tailor well, Master Shallow, deep, Master Shallow.

FEEBLE I would Wart might have gone, sir.

FALSTAFF I would thou wert a man’s tailor, that thou mightst mend him and make him fit to go. I cannot put him to a private soldier that is the leader of so many thousands. Let that suffice, most forcible Feeble.

FEEBLE It shall suffice, sir.

FALSTAFF I am bound to thee, reverend Feeble.—Who is (the) next?

SHALLOW Peter Bullcalf o’ th’ green.

FALSTAFF Yea, marry, let’s see Bullcalf.

BULLCALF, [coming forward] Here, sir.

FALSTAFF Fore God, a likely fellow. Come, prick (me)
Bullcalf till he roar again.

FALSTAFF O Lord, good my lord captain—
What, dost thou roar before thou art pricked?

BULLCALF O Lord, sir, I am a diseased man.

FALSTAFF What disease hast thou?

BULLCALF A whoreson cold, sir, a cough, sir, which I caught with ringing in the King’s affairs upon his coronation day, sir.

FALSTAFF Come, thou shalt go to the wars in a gown.
We will have away thy cold, and I will take such order that thy friends shall ring for thee.—Is here all?

SHALLOW Here is two more called than your number.
You must have but four here, sir, and so I pray you go in with me to dinner.

FALSTAFF Come, I will go drink with you, but I cannot tarry dinner. I am glad to see you, by my troth, Master Shallow.
SHALLOW O, Sir John, do you remember since we lay all night in the windmill in Saint George’s Field?

FALSTAFF No more of that, (good) Master Shallow, (no more of that.)

SHALLOW Ha, ’twas a merry night. And is Jane Nightwork alive?

FALSTAFF She lives, Master Shallow.

SHALLOW She never could away with me.

FALSTAFF Never, never. She would always say she could not abide Master Shallow.

SHALLOW By the Mass, I could anger her to th’ heart. She was then a bona roba. Doth she hold her own well?

FALSTAFF Old, old, Master Shallow.

SHALLOW Nay, she must be old. She cannot choose but be old. Certain, she’s old, and had Robin Nightwork by old Nightwork before I came to Clement’s Inn.

SILENCE That’s fifty-five year ago.

SHALLOW Ha, cousin Silence, that thou hadst seen that that this knight and I have seen!—Ha, Sir John, said I well?

FALSTAFF We have heard the chimes at midnight, Master Shallow.

SHALLOW That we have, that we have, that we have. In faith, Sir John, we have. Our watchword was “Hem, boys.” Come, let’s to dinner, come, let’s to dinner. Jesus, the days that we have seen! Come, come.

[Falstaff and Shallow rise and exit.

BULLCALF Good Master Corporate Bardolph, stand my friend, and here’s four Harry ten-shillings in French crowns for you. [He gives Bardolph money.] In very truth, sir, I had as lief be hanged, sir, as go. And yet, for mine own part, sir, I do not care, but rather because I am unwilling, and, for mine own part, have a desire to stay with my friends. Else, sir, I did not care, for mine own part, so much.
MOULDY And, good Master Corporal Captain, for my old dame’s sake, stand my friend. She has nobody to do anything about her when I am gone, and she is old and cannot help herself. You shall have forty, sir.

He gives money.

BARDOLPH Go to. Stand aside.

FEEBLE By my troth, I care not. A man can die but once. We owe God a death. I’ll ne’er bear a base mind. An ’t be my destiny, so; an ’t be not, so. No man’s too good to serve ’s prince, and let it go which way it will, he that dies this year is quit for the next.

BARDOLPH Well said. Th’ art a good fellow.

FEEBLE Faith, I’ll bear no base mind.

Enter Falstaff and the Justices.

FALSTAFF Come, sir, which men shall I have?

SHALLOW Four of which you please.

BARDOLPH, aside to Falstaff Sir, a word with you. I have three pound to free Mouldy and Bullcalf.

FALSTAFF Go to, well.

SHALLOW Come, Sir John, which four will you have?

FALSTAFF Do you choose for me.

SHALLOW Marry, then, Mouldy, Bullcalf, Feeble, and Shadow.

FALSTAFF Mouldy and Bullcalf! For you, Mouldy, stay at home till you are past service.—And for your part, Bullcalf, grow till you come unto it. I will none of you.

Mouldy and Bullcalf exit.

SHALLOW Sir John, Sir John, do not yourself wrong. They are your likeliest men, and I would have you served with the best.

FALSTAFF Will you tell me, Master Shallow, how to choose a man? Care I for the limb, the thews, the stature, bulk and big assemblance of a man? Give me the spirit, Master Shallow. Here’s Wart. You see what a ragged appearance it is. He shall charge you and discharge you with the motion of a pewterer’s hammer, come off and on swifter than he that gibbets on the brewer’s bucket. And this same half-faced fellow, Shadow, give me this man. He presents no mark to the enemy. The foeman may with as great aim level at the edge of a penknife. And for a retreat, how swiftly will this Feeble, the woman’s tailor, run off! O, give me the spare men, and spare me the great ones.—Put me a caliver into Wart’s hand, Bardolph.

BARDOLPH, [giving Wart a musket] Hold, Wart. Traverse. Thas, thas, thas.

FALSTAFF, [to Wart] Come, manage me your caliver: so, very well, go to, very good, exceeding good. O, give me always a little, lean, old, chopped, bald shot. Well said, i’ faith, Wart. Th’ art a good scab. Hold, there’s a tester for thee. [He gives Wart money.]

SHALLOW He is not his craft’s master. He doth not do it right. I remember at Mile End Green, when I lay at Clement’s Inn—I was then Sir Dagonet in Arthur’s show—there was a little quiver fellow, and he would manage you his piece thus. [Shallow performs with the musket.] And he would about and about, and come you in, and come you in. “Rah, tah, tah,” would he say. “Bounce,” would he say, and away again would he go, and again would he come. I shall ne’er see such a fellow.

FALSTAFF These fellows will do well, Master Shallow. —God keep you, Master Silence. I will not use many words with you. Fare you well, gentlemen both. I thank you. I must a dozen mile tonight.—Bardolph, give the soldiers coats.
SHALLOW     Sir John, the Lord bless you. God prosper your affairs. God send us peace. At your return, visit our house. Let our old acquaintance be renewed.
Peradventure I will with you to the court.

FALSTAFF    Fore God, would you would, (Master Shallow.)

SHALLOW     Go to. I have spoke at a word. God keep you.

FALSTAFF    Fare you well, gentle gentlemen.

[Shallow and Silence] exit.

On, Bardolph. Lead the men away.

[All but Falstaff exit.]

As I return, I will fetch off these justices. I do see the bottom of Justice Shallow. Lord, Lord, how subject we old men are to this vice of lying. This same starved justice hath done nothing but prate to me of the wildness of his youth and the feats he hath done about Turnbull Street, and every third word a lie, duer paid to the hearer than the Turk's tribute. I do remember him at Clement's Inn, like a man made after supper of a cheese paring. When he was naked, he was, for all the world, like a forked radish with a head fantastically carved upon it with a knife. He was so forlorn that his dimensions to any thick sight were invincible. He was the very genius of famine, [yet lecherous as a monkey, and the whores called him "mandrake." ] He came ( ever ) in the rearward of the fashion, [and sung those tunes to the overscutched huswifes that he heard the carmen whistle, and swore they were his fancies or his good-nights.] And now is this Vice's dagger become a squire, and talks as familiarly of John o' Gaunt as if he had been sworn brother to him, and I'll be sworn he ne'er saw him but once in the tilt-yard, and then he burst his head for crowding among the Marshal's men. I saw it and told John o' Gaunt he beat his own name, for you might have thrust him and all his apparel into an eel-skin; the case of a treble hautboy was a mansion for him, a court. And now has he land and beefs. Well, I’ll be acquainted with him if I return, and ’t shall go hard but I’ll make him a philosopher’s two stones to me. If the young dace be a bait for the old pike, I see no reason in the law of nature but I may snap at him. Let time shape, and there an end.

‘He exits.’
ACT 4

(Scene 1)

Enter the Archbishop of York, Mowbray, Lord Bardolph, Hastings, and their officers within the Forest of Gaultree.

ARCHBISHOP What is this forest called?

HASTINGS ’Tis Gaultree Forest, an ’t shall please your Grace.

ARCHBISHOP Here stand, my lords, and send discoverers forth

To know the numbers of our enemies.

HASTINGS We have sent forth already.

ARCHBISHOP ’Tis well done.

My friends and brethren in these great affairs,

I must acquaint you that I have received

New-dated letters from Northumberland,

Their cold intent, tenor, and substance, thus:

Here doth he wish his person, with such powers

As might hold sortance with his quality,

The which he could not levy; whereupon

He is retired, to ripe his growing fortunes,

To Scotland, and concludes in hearty prayers

That your attempts may overlive the hazard

And fearful meeting of their opposite.

MOWBRAY Thus do the hopes we have in him touch ground

And dash themselves to pieces.

Enter Messenger.

HASTINGS

Now, what news?

MESSENGER

West of this forest, scarcely off a mile,
In goodly form comes on the enemy,
And, by the ground they hide, I judge their number
Upon or near the rate of thirty thousand.

MOWBRAY

The just proportion that we gave them out.
Let us sway on and face them in the field.

Enter Westmoreland.

ARCHBISHOP

What well-appointed leader fronts us here?

MOWBRAY

I think it is my Lord of Westmoreland.

WESTMORELAND

Health and fair greeting from our general,
The Prince Lord John and Duke of Lancaster.

ARCHBISHOP

Say on, my Lord of Westmoreland, in peace,
What doth concern your coming.

WESTMORELAND

Then, my lord,

Unto your Grace do I in chief address
The substance of my speech. If that rebellion
Came like itself, in base and abject routs,
Led on by bloody youth, guarded with rage,
And countenanced by boys and beggary—
I say, if damned commotion so appeared
In his true, native, and most proper shape,
You, reverend father, and these noble lords
Had not been here to dress the ugly form
Of base and bloody insurrection
With your fair honors. You, Lord Archbishop,
Archbishop

Whose see is by a civil peace maintained,
Whose beard the silver hand of peace hath touched,
Whose learning and good letters peace hath tutored,
Whose white investments figure innocence,
The dove and very blessèd spirit of peace,
Wherefore do you so ill translate yourself
Out of the speech of peace, that bears such grace,
Into the harsh and boist’rous tongue of war,
Turning your books to graves, your ink to blood,
Your pens to lances, and your tongue divine
To a loud trumpet and a point of war?

Wherefore do I this? So the question stands.
Briefly, to this end: we are all diseased
{And with our surfeiting and wanton hours
Have brought ourselves into a burning fever,
And we must bleed for it; of which disease
Our late King Richard, being infected, died.
But, my most noble Lord of Westmoreland,
I take not on me here as a physician,
Nor do I as an enemy to peace
Troop in the throngs of military men,
But rather show awhile like fearful war
To diet rank minds sick of happiness
And purge th’ obstructions which begin to stop
Our very veins of life. Hear me more plainly.
I have in equal balance justly weighed
What wrongs our arms may do, what wrongs we suffer,
And find our griefs heavier than our offenses.
We see which way the stream of time doth run
And are enforced from our most quiet there
By the rough torrent of occasion,
And have the summary of all our griefs,
When time shall serve, to show in articles;
Which long ere this we offered to the King
And might by no suit gain our audience.
When we are wronged and would unfold our griefs,
We are denied access unto his person
Even by those men that most have done us wrong.

The dangers of the days but newly gone,
Whose memory is written on the earth
With yet-appearing blood, and the examples
Of every minute’s instance, present now,
Hath put us in these ill-beseeming arms,
Not to break peace or any branch of it,
But to establish here a peace indeed,
Concurring both in name and quality.

WESTMORELAND

Whenever yet was your appeal denied?
Wherein have you been gallèd by the King?
What peer hath been suborned to grate on you,
That you should seal this lawless bloody book
Of forged rebellion with a seal divine
[And consecrate commotion’s bitter edge?]

ARCHBISHOP

My brother general, the commonwealth,
[To brother born an household cruelty,]
I make my quarrel in particular.

WESTMORELAND

There is no need of any such redress,
Or if there were, it not belongs to you.

MOWBRAY

Why not to him in part, and to us all
That feel the bruises of the days before
And suffer the condition of these times
To lay a heavy and unequal hand
Upon our honors?

WESTMORELAND

〈O, my good Lord Mowbray,
Construe the times to their necessities,
And you shall say indeed it is the time,
And not the King, that doth you injuries.
Yet for your part, it not appears to me
Either from the King or in the present time
That you should have an inch of any ground
To build a grief on. Were you not restored
To all the Duke of Norfolk’s seigniories,
Your noble and right well remembered father’s?

MOWBRAY

What thing, in honor, had my father lost
That need to be revived and breathed in me?
The King that loved him, as the state stood then,
Was ‘force’ perforce compelled to banish him,
And then that Henry Bolingbroke and he,
Being mounted and both rousèd in their seats,
Their neighing coursers daring of the spur,
Their armèd staves in charge, their beavers down,
Their eyes of fire sparkling through sights of steel,
And the loud trumpet blowing them together,
Then, then, when there was nothing could have stayed
My father from the breast of Bolingbroke,
O, when the King did throw his warder down—
His own life hung upon the staff he threw—
Then threw he down himself and all their lives
That by indictment and by dint of sword
Have since miscarried under Bolingbroke.

WESTMORELAND

You speak, Lord Mowbray, now you know not what.
The Earl of Hereford was reputed then
In England the most valiant gentleman.
Who knows on whom fortune would then have smiled?
But if your father had been victor there,
He ne’er had borne it out of Coventry;
For all the country in a general voice
Cried hate upon him; and all their prayers and love
Were set on Hereford, whom they doted on
And blessed and graced, [indeed] more than the
King.}
But this is mere digression from my purpose.
Here come I from our princely general
To know your griefs, to tell you from his Grace
That he will give you audience; and wherein
It shall appear that your demands are just,
You shall enjoy them, everything set off
That might so much as think you enemies.

MOWBRAY
But he hath forced us to compel this offer,
And it proceeds from policy, not love.

WESTMORELAND
Mowbray, you overween to take it so.
This offer comes from mercy, not from fear.
For, lo, within a ken our army lies,
Upon mine honor, all too confident
To give admittance to a thought of fear.
Our battle is more full of names than yours,
Our men more perfect in the use of arms,
Our armor all as strong, our cause the best.
Then reason will our hearts should be as good.
Say you not then our offer is compelled.

MOWBRAY
Well, by my will, we shall admit no parley.

WESTMORELAND
That argues but the shame of your offense.
A rotten case abides no handling.

HASTINGS
Hath the Prince John a full commission,
In very ample virtue of his father,
WESTMORELAND

To hear and absolutely to determine
Of what conditions we shall stand upon?

ARCHBISHOP, giving Westmoreland a paper

That is intended in the General’s name.
I muse you make so slight a question.

Then take, my Lord of Westmoreland, this schedule,
For this contains our general grievances.
Each several article herein redressed,
All members of our cause, both here and hence
That are insinewed to this action,
Acquitted by a true substantial form
And present execution of our wills
To us and our purposes confined,
We come within our awful banks again
And knit our powers to the arm of peace.

WESTMORELAND

This will I show the General. Please you, lords,
In sight of both our battles we may meet,
Either end in peace, which God so frame,
Or to the place of difference call the swords
Which must decide it.

My lord, we will do so.

Westmoreland exits.

MOWBRAY

There is a thing within my bosom tells me
That no conditions of our peace can stand.

HASTINGS

Fear you not that. If we can make our peace
Upon such large terms and so absolute
As our conditions shall consist upon,
Our peace shall stand as firm as rocky mountains.

MOWBRAY

Yea, but our valuation shall be such
That every slight and false-derivèd cause,
Yea, every idle, nice, and wanton reason,
Shall to the King taste of this action,
That, were our royal faiths martyrs in love,
We shall be winnowed with so rough a wind
That even our corn shall seem as light as chaff,
And good from bad find no partition.

ARCHBISHOP

No, no, my lord. Note this: the King is weary
Of dainty and such picking grievances,
For he hath found to end one doubt by death
Revives two greater in the heirs of life;
And therefore will he wipe his tables clean
And keep no telltale to his memory
That may repeat and history his loss
To new remembrance. For full well he knows
He cannot so precisely weed this land
As his misdoubts present occasion;
His foes are so enrooted with his friends
That, plucking to unfix an enemy,
He doth unfasten so and shake a friend;
So that this land, like an offensive wife
That hath enraged him on to offer strokes,
As he is striking holds his infant up
And hangs resolved correction in the arm
That was upreared to execution.

HASTINGS

Besides, the King hath wasted all his rods
On late offenders, that he now doth lack
The very instruments of chastisement,
So that his power, like to a fangless lion,
May offer but not hold.

ARCHBISHOP

’Tis very true,
And therefore be assured, my good Lord Marshal,
If we do now make our atonement well,
Our peace will, like a broken limb united,
Grow stronger for the breaking.
MOWBRAY

Here is returned my Lord of Westmoreland.

Enter Westmoreland.

WESTMORELAND, to the Archbishop

The Prince is here at hand. Pleaseth your Lordship
To meet his Grace just distance ’tween our armies.

Enter Prince John and his army.

MOWBRAY, to the Archbishop

Your Grace of York, in God’s name then set forward.

ARCHBISHOP

Before, and greet his Grace.—My lord, we come.

All move forward.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

You are well encountered here, my cousin
Mowbray.—

Good day to you, gentle Lord Archbishop,—
And so to you, Lord Hastings, and to all.—

My Lord of York, it better showed with you
When that your flock, assembled by the bell,
Encircled you to hear with reverence
Your exposition on the holy text
(Than) now to see you here, an iron man talking,
Cheering a rout of rebels with your drum,
Turning the word to sword, and life to death.
That man that sits within a monarch’s heart
And ripens in the sunshine of his favor,
Would he abuse the countenance of the King,
Alack, what mischief might he set abroach
In shadow of such greatness! With you, Lord Bishop,

It is even so. Who hath not heard it spoken
How deep you were within the books of God,
To us the speaker in His parliament,
To us th’ imagined voice of God Himself,
The very opener and intelligencer
Between the grace, the sanctities, of heaven,
And our dull workings? O, who shall believe
But you misuse the reverence of your place,
(Employ) the countenance and grace of heaven
As a false favorite doth his prince’s name,
In deeds dishonorable? You have ta’en up,
Under the counterfeited zeal of God,
The subjects of His substitute, my father,
And both against the peace of heaven and him
Have here up-swarmed them.

ARCHBISHOP

Good my Lord of Lancaster,

I am not here against your father’s peace,
But, as I told my Lord of Westmoreland,
The time misordered doth, in common sense,
Crowd us and crush us to this monstrous form
To hold our safety up. I sent your Grace
The parcels and particulars of our grief,
The which hath been with scorn shoved from the court,
Whereon this Hydra son of war is born,
Whose dangerous eyes may well be charmed asleep
With grant of our most just and right desires,
And true obedience, of this madness cured,
Stoop tamely to the foot of majesty.

MOWBRAY

If not, we ready are to try our fortunes
To the last man.

HASTINGS

And though we here fall down,
We have supplies to second our attempt;
If they miscarry, theirs shall second them,
And so success of mischief shall be born,
And heir from heir shall hold his quarrel up
While England shall have generation.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

You are too shallow, Hastings, much too shallow
To sound the bottom of the after-times.

WESTMORELAND

Pleaseth your Grace to answer them directly
How far forth you do like their articles.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

I like them all, and do allow them well,
And swear here by the honor of my blood
My father's purposes have been mistook,
And some about him have too lavishly
Wrested his meaning and authority.

To the Archbishop. My lord, these griefs shall be with speed redressed;
Upon my soul, they shall. If this may please you,
Discharge your powers unto their several counties,
As we will ours, and here, between the armies,
Let's drink together friendly and embrace,
That all their eyes may bear those tokens home
Of our restoréd love and amity.

ARCHBISHOP

I take your princely word for these redresses.

〈JOHN OF LANCASTER〉

I give it you, and will maintain my word,
And thereupon I drink unto your Grace.

〈The Leaders of both armies begin to drink together.〉

〈HASTINGS, to an Officer〉

Go, captain, and deliver to the army
This news of peace. Let them have pay, and part.
I know it will well please them. Hie thee, captain.

〈Officer〉〈exits.〉

ARCHBISHOP, toasting Westmoreland

To you, my noble Lord of Westmoreland.

WESTMORELAND, returning the toast
I pledge your Grace, and if you knew what pains
I have bestowed to breed this present peace,
You would drink freely. But my love to you Shall show itself more openly hereafter.

ARCHBISHOP
I do not doubt you.

WESTMORELAND  I am glad of it.—
Health to my lord and gentle cousin, Mowbray.

MOWBRAY
You wish me health in very happy season,
For I am on the sudden something ill.

ARCHBISHOP
Against ill chances men are ever merry,
But heaviness foreruns the good event.

WESTMORELAND
Therefore be merry, coz, since sudden sorrow Serves to say thus: “Some good thing comes tomorrow.”

ARCHBISHOP
Believe me, I am passing light in spirit.

MOWBRAY
So much the worse if your own rule be true.

JOHN OF LANCASTER
The word of peace is rendered. Hark how they shout.

MOWBRAY
This had been cheerful after victory.

ARCHBISHOP
A peace is of the nature of a conquest,
For then both parties nobly are subdued,
And neither party loser.

JOHN OF LANCASTER, to Westmoreland
Go, my lord,
And let our army be dischargèd too.

Westmoreland (exits.)
To the Archbishop.1 And, good my lord, so please you, let our trains March by us, that we may peruse the men We should have coped withal.

ARCHBISHOP

Go, good Lord Hastings,
And ere they be dismissed, let them march by.

Hastings (exits.)

JOHN OF LANCASTER

I trust, lords, we shall lie tonight together.

Enter Westmoreland.

Now, cousin, wherefore stands our army still?

WESTMORELAND

The leaders, having charge from you to stand,
Will not go off until they hear you speak.

JOHN OF LANCASTER They know their duties.

Enter Hastings.

HASTINGS, To the Archbishop

My lord, our army is dispersed already.
Like youthful steers unyoked, they take their courses
East, west, north, south, or, like a school broke up,
Each hurries toward his home and sporting-place.

WESTMORELAND

Good tidings, my Lord Hastings, for the which I do arrest thee, traitor, of high treason.—
And you, Lord Archbishop, and you, Lord Mowbray,
Of capital treason I attach you both.

MOWBRAY

Is this proceeding just and honorable?

WESTMORELAND Is your assembly so?

ARCHBISHOP

Will you thus break your faith?
JOHN OF LANCASTER

I pawned thee none.

I promised you redress of these same grievances
Whereof you did complain, which, by mine honor,
I will perform with a most Christian care.

But for you rebels, look to taste the due
Meet for rebellion (and such acts as yours.)
Most shallowly did you these arms commence,
Fondly brought here, and foolishly sent hence.—
Strike up our drums; pursue the scattered stray.

God, and not we, hath safely fought today.—

Some guard (these traitors) to the block of death,
Treason’s true bed and yielder-up of breath.

(They exit.)

Scene 2

Alarum. Excursions. Enter Falstaff (and Colevile.)

FALSTAFF What’s your name, sir? Of what condition are you, and of what place, (I pray)?

COLEVILE I am a knight, sir, and my name is Colevile of the Dale.

FALSTAFF Well then, Colevile is your name, a knight is your degree, and your place the Dale. Colevile shall be still your name, a traitor your degree, and the dungeon your place, a place deep enough so shall you be still Colevile of the Dale.

COLEVILE Are not you Sir John Falstaff?

FALSTAFF As good a man as he, sir, whoe’er I am. Do you yield, sir, or shall I sweat for you? If I do sweat, they are the drops of thy lovers and they weep for thy death. Therefore rouse up fear and trembling, and do observance to my mercy.

COLEVILE I think you are Sir John Falstaff, and in that thought yield me.
FALSTAFF I have a whole school of tongues in this belly of mine, and not a tongue of them all speaks any other word but my name. An I had but a belly of any indifferency, I were simply the most active fellow in Europe. My womb, my womb, my womb undoes me. Here comes our general.

Enter John, Westmoreland, and the rest.

JOHN OF LANCASTER
The heat is past. Follow no further now. Call in the powers, good cousin Westmoreland.

Westmoreland exits. Retreat is sounded.

Now, Falstaff, where have you been all this while? When everything is ended, then you come. These tardy tricks of yours will, on my life, One time or other break some gallows' back.

FALSTAFF I would be sorry, my lord, but it should be thus. I never knew yet but rebuke and check was the reward of valor. Do you think me a swallow, an arrow, or a bullet? Have I in my poor and old motion the expedition of thought? I have speeded hither with the very extremest inch of possibility. I have foundered ninescore and odd posts, and here, travel-tainted as I am, have in my pure and immaculate valor taken Sir John Colevile of the Dale, a most furious knight and valorous enemy. But what of that? He saw me and yielded, that I may justly say, with the hook-nosed fellow of Rome, “There, cousin, I came, saw, and overcame.”

JOHN OF LANCASTER It was more of his courtesy than your deserving.

FALSTAFF I know not. Here he is, and here I yield him. And I beseech your Grace let it be booked with the rest of this day’s deeds, or, by the Lord, I will have it in a particular ballad else, with mine own picture on the top on ’t, Colevile kissing my foot; to the which course if I be enforced, if you do not all show like gilt twopences to me, and I in the clear sky of fame o’ershine you as much as the full moon doth the cinders of the element (which show like pins’ heads to her), believe not the word of the noble.
Therefore let me have right, and let desert mount.

JOHN OF LANCASTER Thine’s too heavy to mount.
FALSTAFF Let it shine, then.
JOHN OF LANCASTER Thine’s too thick to shine.
FALSTAFF Let it do something, my good lord, that may do me good, and call it what you will.
JOHN OF LANCASTER Is thy name Colevile?
COLEVILE It is, my lord.
JOHN OF LANCASTER A famous rebel art thou, Colecive.
FALSTAFF And a famous true subject took him.
COLEVILE
I am, my lord, but as my betters are
That led me hither. Had they been ruled by me,
You should have won them dearer than you have.
FALSTAFF I know not how they sold themselves, but thou, like a kind fellow, gavest thyself away gratis, and I thank thee for thee.

Enter Westmoreland.

JOHN OF LANCASTER Now, have you left pursuit?
WESTMORELAND Retreat is made and execution stayed.
JOHN OF LANCASTER Send Colevile with his confederates
To York, to present execution.—
Blunt, lead him hence, and see you guard him sure.

[Blunt] (exits with Colevile.)

And now dispatch we toward the court, my lords.
I hear the King my father is sore sick.
Our news shall go before us to his Majesty,

`To Westmoreland.' Which, cousin, you shall bear to comfort him,

And we with sober speed will follow you.

FALSTAFF  My lord, I beseech you give me leave to go through Gloucestershire, and, when you come to court, stand my good lord, ⟨pray,⟩ in your good report.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

Fare you well, Falstaff. I, in my condition,

Shall better speak of you than you deserve.

`All but Falstaff' ⟨exit.⟩

FALSTAFF  I would you had ⟨but⟩ the wit; 'twere better than your dukedom. Good faith, this same young sober-blooded boy doth not love me, nor a man cannot make him laugh. But that's no marvel; he drinks no wine. There's never none of these demure boys come to any proof, for thin drink doth so overcool their blood, and making many fish meals, that they fall into a kind of male green-sickness, and then, when they marry, they get wenches. They are generally fools and cowards, which some of us should be too, but for inflammation. A good sherris sack hath a two-fold operation in it. It ascends me into the brain, dries me there all the foolish and dull and crudy vapors which environ it, makes it apprehensive, quick, forgetive, full of nimble, fiery, and delectable shapes, which, delivered o’er to the voice, the tongue, which is the birth, becomes excellent wit. The second property of your excellent sherris is the warming of the blood, which,
before cold and settled, left the liver white and pale,
which is the badge of pusillanimity and cowardice.
But the sherris warms it and makes it course from the inwards to the parts’ extremes. It illumineth the face, which as a beacon gives warning to all the rest of this little kingdom, man, to arm; and then the vital commoners and inland petty spirits muster me all to their captain, the heart, who, great and puffed up with this retinue, doth any deed of courage, and this valor comes of sherris. So that skill in the weapon is nothing without sack, for that sets it a-work; and learning a mere hoard of gold kept by a devil till sack commences it and sets it in act and use. Hereof comes it that Prince Harry is valiant, for the cold blood he did naturally inherit of his father he hath, like lean, sterile, and bare land, manured, husbanded, and tilled with excellent endeavor of drinking good and good store of fertile sherris, that he is become very hot and valiant.

If I had a thousand sons, the first human principle I would teach them should be to forswear thin potations and to addict themselves to sack.

Enter Bardolph.

How now, Bardolph?

BARDOLPH The army is discharged all and gone.

FALSTAFF Let them go. I’ll through Gloucestershire, and there will I visit Master Robert Shallow, Esquire. I have him already temp’ring between my finger and my thumb, and shortly will I seal with him. Come away.

(cls exit.)
〈Scene 3〉

Enter the King in a chair, Warwick, Thomas Duke of Clarence, Humphrey Duke of Gloucester, and Attendants.

KING

Now, lords, if God doth give successful end
To this debate that bleedeth at our doors,
We will our youth lead on to higher fields
And draw no swords but what are sanctified.

Our navy is addressed, our power collected,
Our substitutes in absence well invested,
And everything lies level to our wish.

Only we want a little personal strength;
And pause us till these rebels now afoot
Come underneath the yoke of government.

WARWICK

Both which we doubt not but your Majesty
Shall soon enjoy.

KING

Humphrey, my son of Gloucester, where is the Prince your brother?

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER

I think he’s gone to hunt, my lord, at Windsor.

KING

And how accompanied?

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER

I do not know, my lord.

KING

Is not his brother Thomas of Clarence with him?

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER

No, my good lord, he is in presence here.

THOMAS OF CLARENCE, coming forward

What would my lord and father?

KING

Nothing but well to thee, Thomas of Clarence.
How chance thou art not with the Prince thy brother?
He loves thee, and thou dost neglect him, Thomas.  25
Thou hast a better place in his affection
Than all thy brothers. Cherish it, my boy,
And noble offices thou mayst effect
Of mediation, after I am dead,
Between his greatness and thy other brethren.  30
Therefore omit him not, blunt not his love,
Nor lose the good advantage of his grace
By seeming cold or careless of his will.
For he is gracious if he be observed;
He hath a tear for pity, and a hand  35
Open as day for {melting} charity;
Yet notwithstanding, being incensed he is flint,
As humorous as winter, and as sudden
As flaws congealed in the spring of day.
His temper therefore must be well observed.  40
Chide him for faults, and do it reverently,
When you perceive his blood inclined to mirth;
But, being moody, give him time and scope
Till that his passions, like a whale on ground, Confounded themselves with working. Learn this,  45
Thomas,
And thou shalt prove a shelter to thy friends,
A hoop of gold to bind thy brothers in,
That the united vessel of their blood,
Mingled with venom of suggestion  50
(As, force perforce, the age will pour it in),
Shall never leak, though it do work as strong
As aconitum or rash gunpowder.

THOMAS OF CLARENCE

I shall observe him with all care and love.

KING

Why art thou not at Windsor with him, Thomas?  55
THOMAS OF CLARENCE

He is not there today; he dines in London.

KING

And how accompanied? (Canst thou tell that?)

THOMAS OF CLARENCE

With Poins and other his continual followers.

KING

Most subject is the fattest soil to weeds,
And he, the noble image of my youth,
Is overspread with them; therefore my grief
Stretches itself beyond the hour of death.
The blood weeps from my heart when I do shape,
In forms imaginary, th’ unguided days
And rotten times that you shall look upon
When I am sleeping with my ancestors.
For when his headstrong riot hath no curb,
When rage and hot blood are his counsellors,
When means and lavish manners meet together,
O, with what wings shall his affections fly
Towards fronting peril and opposed decay!

WARWICK

My gracious lord, you look beyond him quite.
The Prince but studies his companions
Like a strange tongue, wherein, to gain the language,
'Tis needful that the most immodest word
Be looked upon and learned; which, once attained,
Your Highness knows, comes to no further use
But to be known and hated. So, like gross terms,
The Prince will, in the perfectness of time,
Cast off his followers, and their memory
Shall as a pattern or a measure live,
By which his Grace must mete the lives of others,
Turning past evils to advantages.
KING

’Tis seldom when the bee doth leave her comb
In the dead carrion.

Enter Westmoreland.

WESTMORELAND

Who’s here? Westmoreland?

Health to my sovereign, and new happiness
Added to that I am to deliver.

Prince John your son doth kiss your Grace’s hand.

Mowbray, the Bishop Scroop, Hastings, and all

Are brought to the correction of your law.

There is not now a rebel’s sword unsheathed,

But peace puts forth her olive everywhere.

The manner how this action hath been borne

Here at more leisure may your Highness read

With every course in his particular.

[He gives the King a paper.]

KING

O Westmoreland, thou art a summer bird,

Which ever in the haunch of winter sings

The lifting up of day.

Enter Harcourt.

Look, here’s more news.

HARCOURT

From enemies heavens keep your Majesty,

And when they stand against you, may they fall

As those that I am come to tell you of.

The Earl Northumberland and the Lord Bardolph,

With a great power of English and of Scots,

Are by the shrieve of Yorkshire overthrown.

The manner and true order of the fight

This packet, please it you, contains at large.

[He gives the King papers.]
And wherefore should these good news make me sick? Will Fortune never come with both hands full, But write her fair words still in foulest letters? She either gives a stomach and no food— Such are the poor, in health—or else a feast And takes away the stomach—such are the rich, That have abundance and enjoy it not. I should rejoice now at this happy news, And now my sight fails, and my brain is giddy. O, me! Come near me, now I am much ill.

Comfort, your Majesty.

O, my royal father!

My sovereign lord, cheer up yourself, look up.

Be patient, princes. You do know these fits Are with his Highness very ordinary. Stand from him, give him air. He’ll straight be well.

No, no, he cannot long hold out these pangs. Th’ incessant care and labor of his mind Hath wrought the mure that should confine it in So thin that life looks through (and will break out.)

The people fear me, for they do observe Unfathered heirs and loathly births of nature. The seasons change their manners, as the year Had found some months asleep and leapt them over.

The river hath thrice flowed, no ebb between, And the old folk, time’s doting chronicles,
Say it did so a little time before
That our great-grandsire, Edward, sicked and died.

WARWICK
Speak lower, princes, for the King recovers.

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER
This apoplexy will certain be his end.

KING
I pray you take me up and bear me hence
Into some other chamber. (Softly, pray.)

"The King is carried to a bed on another part of the stage."¹

Let there be no noise made, my gentle friends,
Unless some dull and favorable hand
Will whisper music to my weary spirit.

WARWICK, "to an Attendant"¹
Call for the music in the other room.

KING
Set me the crown upon my pillow here.

"The crown is placed on the bed."¹

THOMAS OF CLARENCE, "aside to the others"¹
His eye is hollow, and he changes much.

WARWICK
Less noise, less noise.

Enter (Prince) Harry.

PRINCE
Who saw the Duke of Clarence?

THOMAS OF CLARENCE, "weeping"¹
I am here, brother, full of heaviness.

PRINCE
How now, rain within doors, and none abroad?

PRINCE
How doth the King?

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER
Exceeding ill.

PRINCE
Heard he the good news yet? Tell it him.

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER
He altered much upon the hearing it.
PRINCE    If he be sick with joy, he’ll recover without physic.

WARWICK

Not so much noise, my lords.—Sweet prince, speak low.

The King your father is disposed to sleep.

THOMAS OF CLARENCE

Let us withdraw into the other room.

WARWICK

Will ’t please your Grace to go along with us?

PRINCE

No, I will sit and watch here by the King.

"All but Prince and King exit."

Why doth the crown lie there upon his pillow,
Being so troublesome a bedfellow?
O polished perturbation, golden care,
That keep’st the ports of slumber open wide
To many a watchful night! Sleep with it now;
Yet not so sound and half so deeply sweet
As he whose brow with homely biggen bound Snores out the watch of night. O majesty,
When thou dost pinch thy bearer, thou dost sit
Like a rich armor worn in heat of day,
That scald’st with safety. By his gates of breath
There lies a downy feather which stirs not;
Did he suspire, that light and weightless down
Perforce must move. My gracious lord, my father,
This sleep is sound indeed. This is a sleep
That from this golden rigol hath divorced
So many English kings. Thy due from me
Is tears and heavy sorrows of the blood,
Which nature, love, and filial tenderness
Shall, O dear father, pay thee plenteously.
My due from thee is this imperial crown,
Which, as immediate from thy place and blood,
Derives itself to me. "He puts on the crown." Lo,
    where it sits,
Which God shall guard. And, put the world’s whole strength
Into one giant arm, it shall not force
This lineal honor from me. This from thee
Will I to mine leave, as ’tis left to me.

_He exits with the crown._

KING, rising up in his bed
Warwick! Gloucester! Clarence!

Enter Warwick, Gloucester, Clarence, and others.

THOMAS OF CLARENCE
Doth the King call?

WARWICK
What would your Majesty? (How fares your Grace?)

KING
Why did you leave me here alone, my lords?

THOMAS OF CLARENCE
We left the Prince my brother here, my liege,
Who undertook to sit and watch by you.

KING
The Prince of Wales? Where is he? Let me see him.

[He is not here.]

WARWICK
This door is open. He is gone this way.

HUMPHREY OF GLOUCESTER
He came not through the chamber where we stayed.

KING
Where is the crown? Who took it from my pillow?

WARWICK
When we withdrew, my liege, we left it here.

KING
The Prince hath ta’en it hence. Go seek him out.

Is he so hasty that he doth suppose my sleep my death?

Find him, my Lord of Warwick. Chide him hither.

* Warwick exits.*

This part of his conjoins with my disease
And helps to end me. See, sons, what things you are,
How quickly nature falls into revolt
When gold becomes her object!
For this the foolish overcareful fathers
Have broke their sleep with thoughts,
Their brains with care, their bones with industry.
For this they have engrossèd and (piled) up
The cankered heaps of strange-achievèd gold.
For this they have been thoughtful to invest
Their sons with arts and martial exercises—
When, like the bee, tolling from every flower
(The virtuous sweets,)
Our (thighs) packed with wax, our mouths with honey,
We bring it to the hive and, like the bees,
Are murdered for our pains. This bitter taste
Yields his engrossments to the ending father.

Enter Warwick.

Now where is he that will not stay so long
Till his friend sickness (hath) determined me?

WARWICK

My lord, I found the Prince in the next room,
Washing with kindly tears his gentle cheeks,
With such a deep demeanor in great sorrow
That tyranny, which never quaffed but blood,
Would, by beholding him, have washed his knife
With gentle eyedrops. He is coming hither.

KING

But wherefore did he take away the crown?

Enter (Prince) Harry 'with the crown.'

Lo where he comes.—Come hither to me, Harry.—
Depart the chamber. Leave us here alone.

'Gloucester, Clarence, Warwick, and others' exit.
PRINCE

I never thought to hear you speak again.

KING

Thy wish was father, Harry, to that thought.
I stay too long by thee; I weary thee.
Dost thou so hunger for mine empty chair
That thou wilt needs invest thee with my honors
Before thy hour be ripe? O foolish youth,
Thou seek’st the greatness that will overwhelm thee.

Stay but a little, for my cloud of dignity
Is held from falling with so weak a wind
That it will quickly drop. My day is dim.

Thou hast stol’n that which after some few hours
Were thine without offense, and at my death
Thou hast sealed up my expectation.
Thy life did manifest thou loved’st me not,
And thou wilt have me die assured of it.
Thou hid’st a thousand daggers in thy thoughts,
Whom thou hast whetted on thy stony heart
To stab at half an hour of my life.

What, canst thou not forbear me half an hour?
Then get thee gone, and dig my grave thyself,
And bid the merry bells ring to thine ear
That thou art crownèd, not that I am dead.

Let all the tears that should bedew my hearse
Be drops of balm to sanctify thy head;
Only compound me with forgotten dust.
Give that which gave thee life unto the worms.
Pluck down my officers, break my decrees,
For now a time is come to mock at form.

Harry the Fifth is crowned. Up, vanity,
Down, royal state, all you sage councillors,
   hence,
And to the English court assemble now,
From every region, apes of idleness.
Now, neighbor confines, purge you of your scum.

Have you a ruffian that will swear, drink, dance,
Revel the night, rob, murder, and commit
The oldest sins the newest kind of ways?
Be happy, he will trouble you no more.

England shall double gild his treble guilt.
England shall give him office, honor, might,
For the fifth Harry from curbed license plucks
The muzzle of restraint, and the wild dog
Shall flesh his tooth on every innocent.

O my poor kingdom, sick with civil blows!
When that my care could not withhold thy riots,
What wilt thou do when riot is thy care?
O, thou wilt be a wilderness again,
Peopled with wolves, thy old inhabitants.

PRINCE, [placing the crown on the pillow]

O pardon me, my liege! But for my tears,
The moist impediments unto my speech,
I had forestalled this dear and deep rebuke
Ere you with grief had spoke and I had heard
The course of it so far. There is your crown,
And He that wears the crown immortally
Long guard it yours. [He kneels.] If I affect it more Than as your honor and as your renown,
Let me no more from this obedience rise,
Which my most inward true and duteous spirit
Teacheth this prostrate and exterior bending.
God witness with me, when I here came in
And found no course of breath within your Majesty,
How cold it struck my heart! If I do feign,
O, let me in my present wildness die
And never live to show th’ incredulous world
The noble change that I have purposèd.

Coming to look on you, thinking you dead,
And dead almost, my liege, to think you were,
KING

The Prince rises from his knees and sits near the bed.

I spake unto this crown as having sense,
And thus upbraided it: “The care on thee depending Hath fed upon the body of my father;
Therefore thou best of gold art (worst of) gold.
Other, less fine in carat, (is) more precious,
Preserving life in med’cine potable;
But thou, most fine, most honored, most renowned,
Hast eat thy bearer up.” Thus, my most royal liege,
Accusing it, I put it on my head
To try it, as with an enemy
That had before my face murdered my father,
The quarrel of a true inheritor.
But if it did infect my blood with joy
Or swell my thoughts to any strain of pride,
If any rebel or vain spirit of mine
Did with the least affection of a welcome
Give entertainment to the might of it,
Let God forever keep it from my head
And make me as the poorest vassal is
That doth with awe and terror kneel to it.

O my son,
God put (it) in thy mind to take it hence
That thou mightst win the more thy father’s love,
Pleading so wisely in excuse of it.
Come hither, Harry, sit thou by my bed
And hear, I think, the very latest counsel
That ever I shall breathe.

[The Prince rises from his knees and sits near the bed.]

God knows, my son,
By what bypaths and indirect crook’d ways
I met this crown, and I myself know well
How troublesome it sat upon my head.
To thee it shall descend with better quiet,
Better opinion, better confirmation,
For all the soil of the achievement goes
With me into the earth. It seemed in me
But as an honor snatched with boist’rous hand,
And I had many living to upbraid
My gain of it by their assistances,
Which daily grew to quarrel and to bloodshed,
Wounding supposèd peace. All these bold fears
Thou seest with peril I have answerèd,
For all my reign hath been but as a scene
Acting that argument. And now my death
Changes the mood, for what in me was purchased
Falls upon thee in a more fairer sort.
So thou the garland wear’st successively.
Yet though thou stand’st more sure than I could do,
Thou art not firm enough, since griefs are green,
And all my friends, which thou must make thy
Have but their stings and teeth newly ta’en out,
By whose fell working I was first advanced
And by whose power I well might lodge a fear
To be again displaced; which to avoid,
I cut them off and had a purpose now
To lead out many to the Holy Land,
Lest rest and lying still might make them look Too near unto my state. Therefore, my Harry,
Be it thy course to busy giddy minds
With foreign quarrels, that action, hence borne out,
May waste the memory of the former days.
More would I, but my lungs are wasted so
That strength of speech is utterly denied me.
How I came by the crown, O God forgive,
And grant it may with thee in true peace live.

PRINCE  (My gracious liege,)
You won it, wore it, kept it, gave it me.
Then plain and right must my possession be,
Which I with more than with a common pain
'Gainst all the world will rightfully maintain.

Enter (John of) Lancaster \[and others.\]

KING

Look, look, here comes my John of Lancaster.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

Health, peace, and happiness to my royal father.

KING

Thou bring'st me happiness and peace, son John,
But health, alack, with youthful wings is flown
From this bare withered trunk. Upon thy sight
My worldly business makes a period.

Where is my Lord of Warwick?

PRINCE

My Lord of Warwick.

\[Enter\] (Warwick.)

KING

Doth any name particular belong
Unto the lodging where I first did swoon?

WARWICK

'Tis called Jerusalem, my noble lord.

KING

Laud be to God! Even there my life must end.
It hath been prophesied to me many years,
I should not die but in Jerusalem,
Which vainly I supposed the Holy Land.
But bear me to that chamber; there I’ll lie.
In that Jerusalem shall Harry die.

\(They\ exit.\)
Enter Shallow, Falstaff, Page, and Bardolph.

SHALLOW By cock and pie, sir, you shall not away tonight.—What, Davy, I say!

FALSTAFF You must excuse me, Master Robert Shallow.

SHALLOW I will not excuse you. You shall not be excused. Excuses shall not be admitted. There is no excuse shall serve. You shall not be excused.—Why, Davy!

Enter Davy.

DAVY Here, sir.

SHALLOW Davy, Davy, Davy, Davy, let me see, Davy, let me see, Davy, let me see. Yea, marry, William cook, bid him come hither.—Sir John, you shall not be excused.

DAVY Marry, sir, thus: those precepts cannot be served. And again, sir: shall we sow the hade land with wheat?

SHALLOW With red wheat, Davy. But for William cook, are there no young pigeons?

DAVY Yes, sir. Here is now the smith’s note for shoeing and plow irons. He gives Shallow a paper. He gives Shallow a paper.

SHALLOW Let it be cast and paid.—Sir John, you shall not be excused.

DAVY Now, sir, a new link to the bucket must needs be 207 had. And, sir, do you mean to stop any of William’s wages about the sack he lost (the other day) at (Hinckley) Fair?

SHALLOW He shall answer it. Some pigeons, Davy, a couple of short-legged hens, a joint of mutton, and any pretty little tiny kickshaws, tell William cook.

‘Shallow and Davy walk aside.’

DAVY Doth the man of war stay all night, sir?

SHALLOW Yea, Davy, I will use him well. A friend i’ th’ court is better than a penny in purse. Use his men well, Davy, for they are arrant knaves and will backbite.

DAVY No worse than they are back-bitten, sir, for they have marvelous foul linen.

SHALLOW Well-conceited, Davy. About thy business, Davy.

DAVY I beseech you, sir, to countenance William Visor of Woncot against Clement Perkes o’ th’ hill.

SHALLOW There is many complaints, Davy, against that Visor. That Visor is an arrant knave, on my knowledge.

DAVY I grant your Worship that he is a knave, sir, but yet, God forbid, sir, but a knave should have some countenance at his friend’s request. An honest man, sir, is able to speak for himself when a knave is not. I have served your Worship truly, sir, this eight years; an I cannot once or twice in a quarter bear out a knave against an honest man, I have (but a very) little credit with your Worship. The knave is mine honest friend, sir; therefore I beseech you let him be countenanced.

SHALLOW Go to, I say, he shall have no wrong. Look about, Davy. ‘Davy exits.’ Where are you, Sir John? Come, come, come, off with your boots.—Give me your hand, Master Bardolph.
BARDOLPH I am glad to see your Worship.

SHALLOW I thank thee with (all) my heart, kind Master Bardolph, (to Page) and welcome, my tall fellow.—Come, Sir John.

FALSTAFF I’ll follow you, good Master Robert Shallow.

[Shallow exits.] Bardolph, look to our horses. [Bardolph and Page exit.] If I were sawed into quantities, I should make four dozen of such bearded hermits’ staves as Master Shallow. It is a wonderful thing to see the semblable coherence of his men’s spirits and his. They, by observing (of) him, do bear themselves like foolish justices; he, by conversing with them, is turned into a justice-like servingman. Their spirits are so married in conjunction with the participation of society that they flock together in consent like so many wild geese. If I had a suit to Master Shallow, I would humor his men with the imputation of being near their master; if to his men, I would curry with Master Shallow that no man could better command his servants. It is certain that either wise bearing or ignorant carriage is caught, as men take diseases, one of another. Therefore let men take heed of their company. I will devise matter enough out of this Shallow to keep Prince Harry in continual laughter the wearing out of six fashions, which is four terms, or two actions, and he shall laugh without intervallums. O, it is much that a lie with a slight oath and a jest with a sad brow will do with a fellow that never had the ache in his shoulders. O, you shall see him laugh till his face be like a wet cloak ill laid up.

SHALLOW, [within] Sir John.

FALSTAFF I come, Master Shallow, I come, Master Shallow.

[He exits.]
WARWICK

How now, my Lord Chief Justice, whither away?

CHIEF JUSTICE How doth the King?

WARWICK Exceeding well. His cares are now all ended.

CHIEF JUSTICE I hope, not dead.

WARWICK He’s walked the way of nature, and to our purposes he lives no more.

CHIEF JUSTICE I would his Majesty had called me with him. The service that I truly did his life Hath left me open to all injuries.

WARWICK Indeed, I think the young king loves you not.

CHIEF JUSTICE I know he doth not, and do arm myself To welcome the condition of the time, Which cannot look more hideously upon me Than I have drawn it in my fantasy.

Enter John, Thomas, and Humphrey.

WARWICK Here come the heavy issue of dead Harry. O, that the living Harry had the temper Of he the worst of these three gentlemen! How many nobles then should hold their places That must strike sail to spirits of vile sort!

CHIEF JUSTICE O God, I fear all will be overturned.

JOHN OF LANCASTER Good morrow, cousin Warwick, good morrow.
Humphrey of Gloucester, Thomas of Clarence
Good morrow, cousin.

John of Lancaster

We meet like men that had forgot to speak.

Warwick

We do remember, but our argument
Is all too heavy to admit much talk.

John of Lancaster

Well, peace be with him that hath made us heavy.

Chief Justice

Peace be with us, lest we be heavier.

Humphrey of Gloucester

O, good my lord, you have lost a friend indeed,
And I dare swear you borrow not that face
Of seeming sorrow; it is sure your own.

John of Lancaster, to the Chief Justice

Though no man be assured what grace to find,
You stand in coldest expectation.

I am the sorrier; would 'twere otherwise.

Thomas of Clarence

Well, you must now speak Sir John Falstaff fair,
Which swims against your stream of quality.

Chief Justice

Sweet princes, what I did I did in honor,
Led by th' impartial conduct of my soul;
And never shall you see that I will beg
A ragged and forestalled remission.

If truth and upright innocency fail me,
I'll to the king my master that is dead
And tell him who hath sent me after him.

Enter the Prince, as Henry V, and Blunt.

Warwick Here comes the Prince.

Chief Justice

Good morrow, and God save your Majesty.
PRINCE

This new and gorgeous garment majesty
Sits not so easy on me as you think.—
Brothers, you (mix) your sadness with some fear.
This is the English, not the Turkish court;
Not Amurath an Amurath succeeds,
But Harry Harry. Yet be sad, good brothers,
For, by my faith, it very well becomes you.
Sorrow so royally in you appears
That I will deeply put the fashion on
And wear it in my heart. Why then, be sad.
But entertain no more of it, good brothers,
Than a joint burden laid upon us all.
For me, by heaven, I bid you be assured,
I'll be your father and your brother too.
Let me but bear your love, I'll bear your cares.
Yet weep that Harry's dead, and so will I,
But Harry lives that shall convert those tears
By number into hours of happiness.

BROTHERS

We hope no otherwise from your Majesty.

PRINCE

You all look strangely on me. ['To the Chief Justice.']
And you most.
You are, I think, assured I love you not.

CHIEF JUSTICE

I am assured, if I be measured rightly,
Your Majesty hath no just cause to hate me.

PRINCE

No? How might a prince of my great hopes forget
So great indignities you laid upon me?
What, rate, rebuke, and roughly send to prison
Th' immediate heir of England? Was this easy?
May this be washed in Lethe and forgotten?

CHIEF JUSTICE

I then did use the person of your father;
The image of his power lay then in me.
And in th’ administration of his law,
While I was busy for the commonwealth,
Your Highness pleasèd to forget my place,
The majesty and power of law and justice,
The image of the King whom I presented,
And struck me in my very seat of judgment,
Whereon, as an offender to your father,
I gave bold way to my authority
And did commit you. If the deed were ill,
Be you contented, wearing now the garland,
To have a son set your decrees at nought?
To pluck down justice from your awful bench?
To trip the course of law and blunt the sword
That guards the peace and safety of your person?
Nay more, to spurn at your most royal image
And mock your workings in a second body?
Question your royal thoughts, make the case yours;
Be now the father and propose a son,
Hear your own dignity so much profaned,
See your most dreadful laws so loosely slighted,
Behold yourself so by a son disdained,
And then imagine me taking your part
And in your power soft silencing your son.
After this cold considerance, sentence me,
And, as you are a king, speak in your state
What I have done that misbecame my place,
My person, or my liege’s sovereignty.

PRINCE

You are right, justice, and you weigh this well.
Therefore still bear the balance and the sword.
And I do wish your honors may increase
Till you do live to see a son of mine
Offend you and obey you as I did.
So shall I live to speak my father’s words:
“Happy am I that have a man so bold
That dares do justice on my proper son;
And not less happy, having such a son
That would deliver up his greatness so
Into the hands of justice.” You did commit me,
For which I do commit into your hand
Th’ unstainèd sword that you have used to bear,
With this remembrance: that you use the same
With the like bold, just, and impartial spirit
As you have done ’gainst me. There is my hand.

They clasp hands.

You shall be as a father to my youth,
My voice shall sound as you do prompt mine ear,
And I will stoop and humble my intents
To your well-practiced wise directions.—
And, princes all, believe me, I beseech you:
My father is gone wild into his grave,
For in his tomb lie my affections,
And with his spirits sadly I survive
To mock the expectation of the world,
To frustrate prophecies, and to raze out
Rotten opinion, who hath writ me down
After my seeming. The tide of blood in me
Hath proudly flowed in vanity till now.
Now doth it turn and ebb back to the sea,
Where it shall mingle with the state of floods
And flow henceforth in formal majesty.
Now call we our high court of parliament,
And let us choose such limbs of noble counsel
That the great body of our state may go
In equal rank with the best-governed nation;
That war, or peace, or both at once, may be
As things acquainted and familiar to us,

To the Chief Justice. In which you, father, shall have foremost hand.
Our coronation done, we will accite,
As I before remembered, all our state.
And, God consigning to my good intents,
No prince nor peer shall have just cause to say
God shorten Harry’s happy life one day.

\textsc{Falstaff}\quad \text{There’s a merry heart!—Good Master Silence,} \text{I’ll give you a health for that anon.}
SHALLOW    Give Master Bardolph some wine, Davy.

DAVY, «to the guests»    Sweet sir, sit. I’ll be with you anon. Most sweet sir, sit. Master page, good master page, sit. Proface. What you want in meat, we’ll have in drink, but you must bear. The heart’s all.
                          [He exits.]

SHALLOW    Be merry, Master Bardolph.—And, my little soldier there, be merry.
SILENCE   «sings»

Be merry, be merry, my wife has all,
For women are shrews, both short and tall.
’Tis merry in hall when beards wags all,
And welcome merry Shrovetide.
Be merry, be merry.

FALSTAFF    I did not think Master Silence had been a man of this mettle.
SILENCE    Who, I? I have been merry twice and once ere now.

Enter Davy.

DAVY, «to the guests»    There’s a dish of leather-coats for you.
SHALLOW    Davy!
DAVY    Your Worship, I’ll be with you straight.—A cup of wine, sir.
SILENCE   «sings»

A cup of wine that’s brisk and fine,
And drink unto thee, leman mine,
And a merry heart lives long-a.

FALSTAFF    Well said, Master Silence.
SILENCE    And we shall be merry; now comes in the sweet o’ th’ night.
FALSTAFF    Health and long life to you, Master Silence.
SILENCE    «sings»

Fill the cup, and let it come,
I’ll pledge you a mile to th’ bottom.
Honest Bardolph, welcome. If thou want’st anything and wilt not call, beshrew thy heart.— Welcome, my little tiny thief, and welcome indeed too. I’ll drink to Master Bardolph, and to all the cabileros about London.

I hope to see London once ere I die. An I might see you there, Davy!

By the Mass, you’ll crack a quart together, ha, will you not, Master Bardolph?

Yea, sir, in a pottle-pot.

By God’s liggens, I thank thee. The knave will stick by thee, I can assure thee that. He will not out, he. ’Tis true bred!

And I’ll stick by him, sir.

Why, there spoke a king. Lack nothing, be merry. (One knocks at door.) Look who’s at door there, ho. Who knocks? ’Davy exits.

Why, now you have done me right.

Do me right, And dub me knight, Samingo.

Is ’t not so?

’Tis so.

Is ’t so? Why then, say an old man can do somewhat.

Enter Davy.

An ’t please your Worship, there’s one Pistol come from the court with news.

From the court? Let him come in.

Enter Pistol.

Sir John, God save you.
PISTOL  What wind blew you hither, Pistol?

FALSTAFF  Not the ill wind which blows no man to good.
          Sweet knight, thou art now one of the greatest men in this realm.

SILENCE  By 'r Lady, I think he be, but Goodman Puff of Barson.

PISTOL  Puff?

FALSTAFF  Puff (in) thy teeth, most recreant coward base! —
          Sir John, I am thy Pistol and thy friend,
          And helter-skelter have I rode to thee,
          And tidings do I bring, and lucky joys,
          And golden times, and happy news of price.

FALSTAFF  I pray thee now, deliver them like a man of this world.

PISTOL  A foutre for the world and worldlings base!

FALSTAFF  I speak of Africa and golden joys.

FALSTAFF  O base Assyrian knight, what is thy news?

SILENCE  And Robin Hood, Scarlet, and John.

PISTOL  Shall dunghill curs confront the Helicons,
          And shall good news be baffled?

SHALLOW  Honest gentleman, I know not your breeding.

PISTOL  Why then, lament therefor.

SHALLOW  Give me pardon, sir. If, sir, you come with news from the court, I take it there’s but two ways, either to utter them, or (to) conceal them. I am, sir, under the King in some authority.

PISTOL  Under which king, besonian? Speak or die.
SHALLOW

Under King Harry.

PISTOL

Harry the Fourth, or Fifth?

SHALLOW

Harry the Fourth.

PISTOL

A foute for thine office!—Sir John, thy tender lambkin now is king.

FALSTAFF

Harry the Fifth’s the man. I speak the truth.

When Pistol lies, do this and fig me, like

The bragging Spaniard. 「Pistol makes a fig.」

FALSTAFF

What, is the old king dead?

PISTOL

As nail in door. The things I speak are just.

FALSTAFF

Away, Bardolph.—Saddle my horse.—Master Robert Shallow, choose what office thou wilt in the land, ’tis thine.—Pistol, I will double-charge thee with dignities.

BARDOLPH

O joyful day! I would not take a knight-hood for my fortune.

PISTOL

What, I do bring good news!

FALSTAFF

Carry Master Silence to bed.—Master Shallow, my Lord Shallow, be what thou wilt. I am Fortune’s steward. Get on thy boots. We’ll ride all night.—O sweet Pistol!—Away, Bardolph!—Come,

PISTOL

Pistol, utter more to me, and withal devise something to do thyself good.—Boot, boot, Master Shallow.

I know the young king is sick for me. Let us take any man’s horses. The laws of England are at my commandment. Blessed are they that have been my friends, and woe to my Lord Chief Justice!

PISTOL

Let vultures vile seize on his lungs also!

“Where is the life that late I led?” say they.

Why, here it is. Welcome these pleasant days.

〈They exit.〉
ACT 5. SC. 4

<Scene 4>

<Enter Hostess Quickly, Doll Tearsheet, and Beadles.>

HOSTESS No, thou arrant knave. I would to God that I might die, that I might have thee hanged. Thou hast drawn my shoulder out of joint.

BEADLE The Constables have delivered her over to me, and she shall have whipping cheer (enough,) I warrant her. There hath been a man or two (lately) killed about her.

DOLL Nut-hook, nut-hook, you lie! Come on, I’ll tell thee what, thou damned tripe-visaged rascal: an the child I (now) go with do miscarry, thou wert better thou hadst struck thy mother, thou paper-faced villain.

HOSTESS O the Lord, that Sir John were come! I would make this a bloody day to somebody. But I pray God the fruit of her womb (might) miscarry.

BEADLE If it do, you shall have a dozen of cushions again; you have but eleven now. Come, I charge you both go with me, for the man is dead that you and Pistol beat amongst you.

DOLL I’ll tell you what, you thin man in a censer, I will have you as soundly swinged for this, you bluebottle rogue, you filthy famished correctioner. If you be not swinged, I’ll forswear half-kirtles.

BEADLE Come, come, you she-knight-errant, come.

HOSTESS O God, that right should thus overcome might! Well, of sufferance comes ease.

DOLL Come, you rogue, come, bring me to a justice.

HOSTESS Ay, come, you starved bloodhound.

DOLL Goodman Death, Goodman Bones!

HOSTESS Thou atomy, thou!

DOLL Come, you thin thing, come, you rascal.

BEADLE Very well.

<They exit.>
Scene 5

(Enter two Grooms.)

FIRST GROOM More rushes, more rushes.
SECOND GROOM The trumpets have sounded twice.

FIRST GROOM 'Twill be two o'clock ere they come from the coronation. Dispatch, dispatch.

Grooms exit.

Trumpets sound, and the King and his train pass over the stage. After them enter Falstaff, Shallow, Pistol, Bardolph, and the (Page.)

FALSTAFF Stand here by me, Master (Robert) Shallow. I will make the King do you grace. I will leer upon him as he comes by, and do but mark the countenance that he will give me.

PISTOL God bless thy lungs, good knight!

FALSTAFF Come here, Pistol, stand behind me.—O, if I had had time to have made new liveries, I would have bestowed the thousand pound I borrowed of you. But 'tis no matter. This poor show doth better.
    This doth infer the zeal I had to see him.
    This doth infer the zeal I had to see him.

SHALLOW It doth so.

FALSTAFF It shows my earnestness of affection—

SHALLOW It doth so.

FALSTAFF My devotion—

SHALLOW It doth, it doth, it doth.

FALSTAFF As it were, to ride day and night, and not to deliberate, not to remember, not to have patience to shift me—

SHALLOW It is best, certain.

FALSTAFF But to stand stained with travel and sweating with desire to see him, thinking of nothing else, putting all affairs else in oblivion, as if there were nothing else to be done but to see him.
PISTOL  'Tis semper idem, for obsque hoc nihil est; 'tis
       (all) in every part.

SHALLOW  'Tis so indeed.

PISTOL  My knight, I will inflame thy noble liver, and make thee rage. Thy Doll and Helen of thy noble thoughts is in base durance and contagious prison, haled thither by most mechanical and dirty hand.
       Rouse up revenge from ebon den with fell Alecto’s snake, for Doll is in. Pistol speaks nought but truth.

FALSTAFF  I will deliver her.

[Shouts within. (The trumpets sound.)]

PISTOL  There roared the sea, and trumpet-clangor sounds.

Enter the King and his train.

FALSTAFF

God save thy Grace, King Hal, my royal Hal.

PISTOL

The heavens thee guard and keep, most royal imp of fame!

FALSTAFF  God save thee, my sweet boy!

KING

My Lord Chief Justice, speak to that vain man.

CHIEF JUSTICE, [to Falstaff]

Have you your wits? Know you what 'tis you speak?

FALSTAFF, [to the King]

My king, my Jove, I speak to thee, my heart!

KING

I know thee not, old man. Fall to thy prayers.
       How ill white hairs becomes a fool and jester.
       I have long dreamt of such a kind of man,
       So surfeit-swelled, so old, and so profane;
       But being awaked, I do despise my dream.
       Make less thy body hence, and more thy grace;
Leave gormandizing. Know the grave doth gape
For thee thrice wider than for other men.
Reply not to me with a fool-born jest.
Presume not that I am the thing I was,
For God doth know—so shall the world perceive—
That I have turned away my former self.
So will I those that kept me company.
When thou dost hear I am as I have been,
Approach me, and thou shalt be as thou wast,
The tutor and the feeder of my riots.
Till then I banish thee, on pain of death,
As I have done the rest of my misleaders,
Not to come near our person by ten mile.
For competence of life I will allow you,
That lack of means enforce you not to evils.
And, as we hear you do reform yourselves,
We will, according to your strengths and qualities,
Give you advancement. «To the Lord Chief Justice.»

Be it your charge, my lord,
To see performed the tenor of my word.—
Set on.

Master Shallow, I owe you a thousand pound.
Yea, marry, Sir John, which I beseech you to let me have home with me.
That can hardly be, Master Shallow. Do not you grieve at this. I shall be sent for in private to him. Look you, he must seem thus to the world.
Fear not your advancements. I will be the man yet that shall make you great.
I cannot perceive how, unless you 〈should〉 give me your doublet and stuff me out with straw. I beseech you, good Sir John, let me have five hundred of my thousand.
Sir, I will be as good as my word. This that you heard was but a color.
SHALLOW A color that I fear you will die in, Sir John.

FALSTAFF Fear no colors. Go with me to dinner.—

Come, lieutenant Pistol.—Come, Bardolph.—I shall be sent for soon at night.

Enter [the Lord Chief] Justice and Prince John, [with Officers.]

CHIEF JUSTICE

Go, carry Sir John Falstaff to the Fleet.

Take all his company along with him.

FALSTAFF My lord, my lord —

CHIEF JUSTICE

I cannot now speak. I will hear you soon.—

Take them away.

PISTOL

Si fortuna me tormenta, spero [me] contenta.

[All but John of] [Lancaster and Chief Justice] exit.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

I like this fair proceeding of the King’s.

He hath intent his wonted followers

Shall all be very well provided for,

But all are banished till their conversations

Appear more wise and modest to the world.

CHIEF JUSTICE And so they are.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

The King hath called his parliament, my lord.

CHIEF JUSTICE He hath.

JOHN OF LANCASTER

I will lay odds that, ere this year expire,

We bear our civil swords and native fire

As far as France. I heard a bird so sing,

Whose music, to my thinking, pleased the King.

Come, will you hence?

(They exit.)
First my fear, then my curtsy, last my speech. My fear is your displeasure, my curtsy my duty, and my speech, to beg your pardons. If you look for a good speech now, you undo me, for what I have to say is of mine own making, and what indeed I should say will, I doubt, prove mine own marring.

But to the purpose, and so to the venture. Be it known to you, as it is very well, I was lately here in the end of a displeasing play to pray your patience for it and to promise you a better. I meant indeed to pay you with this, which, if like an ill venture it come unluckily home, I break, and you, my gentle creditors, lose. Here I promised you I would be, and here I commit my body to your mercies. Bate me some, and I will pay you some, and, as most debtors do, promise you infinitely. And so I kneel down before you, but, indeed, to pray for the Queen.

If my tongue cannot entreat you to acquit me, will you command me to use my legs? And yet that were but light payment, to dance out of your debt. But a good conscience will make any possible satisfaction, and so would I. All the gentlewomen here have forgiven me; if the gentlemen will not, then the gentlemen do not agree with the gentlewomen, which was never seen (before) in such an assembly.

One word more, I beseech you: if you be not too much cloyed with fat meat, our humble author will continue the story, with Sir John in it, and make you merry with fair Katherine of France, where, for anything I know, Falstaff shall die of a sweat, unless already he be killed with your hard opinions; for Oldcastle died (a) martyr, and this is not the man. My tongue is weary; when my legs are too, I will bid you good night.
